Motorhome Killing Puzzle In Novato

Suspect Arrested At Mental Center

An unidentified woman was found shot to death in a motor home in Novato today, and a 39-year-old Redwood City man held on suspicion of murder following a bizarre chain of events that led from the Novato Creek overpass to the Marin Community Mental Health Center.

Police arrested Donald Eugene Wagner after he turned himself into the center's crisis unit at 8 a.m.

Found in the van, apparently oabandoned by Wagner on the shoulder of Highway 101 near Novato Creek was the bullet-riddled body of a woman in her 20s, according to Novato Police Lt. L. T. Stout.

She had been dead more than 14 hours and was shot in the head and the stomach, he said. The body, lying on its side on the floor, was partially covered with a blanket.

Police said they found a handbag and a .45 caliber handgun lying nearby, but had no clue as to the woman's identity. An autopsy was to be performed today.

Stout said the woman appeared not to have been sexually molested, and theorized she had been a hitchhiker.

Police made the grisly discovery about 8 a.m. today following word from the San Francisco General Hospital crisis center that a man had just called from the Berkeley Farms Restaurant in Novato, saying he had killed someone and was overdosing on drugs.

Lewis Marving, admitting officer of the hospital, said the crisis center routinely informed Novato police of the call, and said he had "no more information at all" on the matter.

Helen Howard, a waitress at the restaurant at 7110 Redwood Highway, said Wagner appeared about 7 a.m. today and had a breakfast of bacon and eggs. She said Wagner looked "strange," acted "kind of goofy" and said "weird and obscene" things to her.

After breakfast, he left, used the pay phone in front of the restaurant and departed in a yellow cab at about 7:55 a.m., she said.

Cab driver Paul Miller, longtime employee of the San Rafael Yellow Cab Co., picked up Wagner and took him to Marin General Hospital as requested. Miller said Wagner seemed normal and the trip to the hospital

Nixon Won't Release Tapes To Committee

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon has no intention of letting Senate Watergate investigators listen to tape recordings of his White House conversations concerning the Watergate scandal, officials said today.

The President will complete a letter during the weekend to Chairman Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., of the Senate Watergate Committee advising him of his rejection of the panel's request for the tapes, White House officials said.

The result may be a constitutional confrontation. Ervin and other committee members have insisted they should be given access to the tapes to resolve conflicts in testimony by some witnesses over Nixon's knowledge of the Watergate cover-up.

Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga., predicted today that the President's refusal might result in a unanimous vote of the committee's seven members — four Democrats and three Republicans — to subpoena the tapes.

Nixon presumably would continue to refuse to surrender them — on grounds of presidential prerogatives, with the possibility then arising of a battle in the Supreme Court between the executive and legislative branches.

The White House appeared to indicate earlier in the week that Nixon would not grant the committee's request, saying the tapes — existence of which were first disclosed on Monday by a former White House aide — fell in the category of private presidential documents.

Nixon two weeks ago rejected a previous Ervin request for access to presidential papers that might bear on Watergate, as well as refusing to appear personally before the committee.

"I want to strongly emphasize that my decision in both cases is based on my constitutional obligation to preserve intact the powers and prerogatives of the presidency and not on any desire to withhold information relevant to your inquiry," Nixon wrote Ervin July 7.

In his new letter this weekend, Nixon is expected to suggest a date for a meeting — delayed by Nixon's illness this week — with Ervin to discuss the situation.

In an interview on the CBS Morning News, Talmadge said of the President's action, "I think he'd make a great mistake if he doesn't make public those tapes."

As for whether the conflict in testimony could be resolved, without the tapes, or whether Nixon had knowledge of Watergate cover-up attempts, Talmadge said:

"Oh, I presume it can (but) this conflict may never be resolved, as a matter of fact.

"The American public is the jury to determine the facts in this matter ... They will make their own decision. Our committee is not a court, it is not a jury. It is a fact-finding legislative body. The American people will be the jury in this matter in the final analysis."

Assistant Senate Republican Leader Robert P. Griffin of Michigan said he thinks Nixon later may make public the tapes — and that he believes he should.

Klemme Raps Brown, Gives His Version

By THERON A. NEWELL

Novato Police Chief Allen V. Klemme, speaking out for the first time on the mysterious circumstances surrounding his resignation, yesterday accused City Mgr. Charles A. Brown of being the cause of all the police discontent that led to the resignation.

Klemme who is still receiving police chief pay but serving only as a disaster officer, told his side of the story to 24 of Novato's businessmen gathered at the Novato Realty office.

Time and again in the two hour discussion, Klemme said that it was Brown's incapability as a manager that led to the present situation in which none of the facts of the case have been clarified and no public confrontation of the chief and accusing officers has taken place.

He thanked Mayor F. Ruegg for securing an audit which cleared the chief's name of insinuations of embezzlement and taking city property. This, Klemme said, had cost him at least three possible jobs.

Klemme told the businessment that on April 30 he signed an agreement with Brown "not to make statements which might be considered to be derogatory of the city or members of the city staff." The city manager, he said, was to reciprocate in like manner. That has kept Klemme quiet until now, less than two weeks from his leaving the city on July 31.

When asked why he signed the agreement, Klemme answered that, like those in Watergate, he trusted those above him.

"Brown assured me that when it was all over, we would have a drink together and laugh at the charges of the police department," Klemme answered.

He said that he had worked for many city managers and could not conceive of such "mismanagement" in such a situation.

"He should have brought the accusing police officers before him and found out the truth of their accusations then fired them or the police chief," he said.

"It was his lack of managership that cause a pimple on the arm to grow to the proportions that it was terminal cancer," Klemme said.

Klemme produced a date by date file on how the breach came about.

The actual breach started last Oct. 12, after Klemme reprimanded a lieutenant for good cause, he said. The lieutenant went to Brown.

At a staff meeting Klemme said that the police department needed replacement of police cars because they were breaking down. "Brown said that the cars would go 100,000 miles whether Klemme liked it or not," the chief said.

On Dec. 21, he was accused of taking city plastic pipe for his swim pool, taking a gratuity from a supplier of the police department, having his wife help with his homework in study and stealing 100 police patches, he said. He denied these to the businessmen but said he was not allowed to answer to Brown.

The next day, Dec. 22, he was called before Brown and told to write down what he thought he did wrong. He would not comply, he said.

By PAT ANGLE

Marin shoppers were already finding some meats cost up to 30 per cent more today than they did on Tuesday as the effects of the President's Phase IV economic program began to filter down to local supermarkets.

Most county grocers said the retail costs of dairy products, fruits and vegetables were still unchanged, since stores have not yet had to pay higher wholesale costs to replace items already in stock when the price freeze was lifted.

But several market officials predicted that consumers can probably expect eye-popping increases in most foods in the next week or two. Others, caught in the confusion of a new program and new rules, said they simply do not know what will happen.

Grocers reported no real shortage of any food items, but there were indications that some products — particularly meats — may be in short supply in the weeks to come until producers, who have been holding back, waiting for the freeze to lift, get their products to market.

United Markets usually buys 10 cases of pork loins on Fridays, according to Vice President Fred Saccone. Today the firm's wholesalers could only produce one case for the stores and the wholesale price was up 26 cents a pound.

Ray's Meats in Mill Valley and the Mill Valley Market reported similar cost hikes. "On Tuesday pork loin cost me 93 cents a pound and I sold it for $1.59," said Ray Offenbach, owner of the meat market. "Yesterday, it was up to $1.09 a pound and I'm going to have to tack on at least a dime to my price. And, My God, it already costs enough."

At Mill Valley Market, the wholesale price of pork had risen 30 per cent, meaning that customers who bought a pound

BACK WITH BURTON — Elizabeth Taylor, under heavy security protection, swept by passengers and photographers in Los Angeles last night to board a TWA flight to London on the first leg of a trip that reunited her in Rome with her husband, Richard Burton, from whom she separated July 3. (UPI Telephoto)

Egyptians Stand Aside For Huge Libyan Unity March On Cairo

MERSA MATRUH, Egypt (UPI) — Hundreds of vehicles in a motorized march of 40,000 Libyans defied Egyptian authorities today and drove through this Mediterranean resort toward Cairo to further their dream of uniting Egypt and Libya on Sept. 1.

In an apparent effort to avoid violence, the Egyptian customs post at Salloum was evacuated by officials to permit free passage of the marchers supporting Libyan leader Col. Moammar Khadafy's demand for complete unity with Egypt by that date.

But in a symbolic "smashing of barriers to unity" promised by the Libyan marchers, a bulldozer emerged from the column of vehicles and crumbled four wooden customs sheds into the desert sand. The bulldozer also demolished a small brick house used by the Egyptian Ministry of Tourism.

On the orders of President Anwar Sadat, strong Egyptian political contingents tried to stop the 1,500-mile "unity march" at Mersa Matruh, 120 miles inside Egypt. But hundreds of cars, taxis and buses just kept going along the coastal road.

Others in the 2,000-vehicle motorcade halted at the tents arranged by the Egyptians to accomodate them. The Egytians had assembled 50 Bedouin children to present flowers and 1,500 pigeons for release as a welcoming gesture. They also slaughtered 150 sheep for a traditional Arab welcome.

"We thank you for the reception," one of the Libyans told the Egyptian greeters, "but we are heading for Cairo."

Contacted by telephone in Tripoli, an official of the Libyan news agency said, "Our position is that we will push on to Cairo for the unity demonstration." He estimated the number of marchers who crossed the frontier into Egypt this morning at 40,000.

There were no members of Libya's ruling Revolutionary Command Council among the marchers. Technically it was a spontaneous mass gesture, organized by the "People's Committees" Khadafy formed to carry out the cultural revolution he launched April 16.

Some of the Libyans who halted at Mersa Matruh mingled with Egyptian greeters in the 10,000-capacity tent where the Egyptians had planned to stage a three-day "dialogue" on unity plans. Some made speeches and Cairo Radio announced: "The popular dialogue has started in Mersa Matruh." But the Libyans said they planned to go on to Cairo.

According to the original schedule, they planned to assemble at the pyramids 12 miles from downtown Cairo. From there they planned to march to the Abdin Palace offices of President Sadat and present a petition, written in blood, demanding unity by Sept. 1.

They also planned to stage a sit-down strike in the square "until the unity agreement is signed."

In appealing to Khadafy to call off the march on Wednesday, the day it started, Sadat warned of the "dangers" which a mass demonstration in Cairo could create.

Rogers Tells Concern On Korea Suppression

SEOUL (UPI) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers told South Korean Foreign Minister Kim Yong-Sik during his three-day visit that the United States is concerned about reports of political suppression in Korea, informed sources reported today.

Rogers' statements were firm but mild and were not designed to provoke a debate with the Koreans on the matter, the sources said.

Rogers' visit, designed as a gesture of continuing U.S. support for South Korea, ended today with his departure for Washington via Hawaii.

During his stay in Seoul he publicly promised there would be no early reduction of the 42,000 man American military litary garrison in South Korea and announced full support for President Park Chung-hee's June 23 proposal for joint admission of North and South Korea to the United Nations.

It was Rogers' first visit to Seoul since Park's suspension of the Korean constitution in October, 1972, and its replacement with a new basic law increasing the president's powers and downgrading the role of Korea's Parliament.

Since then there has been a steady flow of reports from Seoul of dismissals of journalists critical of the government, arrests of some others, and arrests of opposition members of Parliament.

Nervous Liz Reunited With Burton In Rome

ROME (UPI) — A nervous and trembling Elizabeth Taylor was reunited today with an equally nervous Richard Burton in this eternal city where their flaming romance that scandalized Italy was ignited 11 years ago during the filming of the movie "Cleopatra."

There was a hug and a kiss and the two drove into Rome in a Rolls-Royce without a formal statement.

The Burtons parted July 3 when Miss Taylor walked out of their New York hotel suite with a statement that she had separated but hoped with all her heart to return to the man she loved.

Miss Taylor, accompanied by two dogs and a cat, arrived in Rome aboard a private jet today to patch up the marriage. She had been in Los Angeles visiting her ailing mother and Burton had been in Moscow attending a film festival.

Miss Taylor stayed aboard her jet for more than 20 minutes before disembarking to meet Burton, who had been waiting more than an hour in a green Rolls-Royce outside the airport.

Miss Taylor wore blue jeans, a matching jean jacket and sun glasses as she strode through the lounge toward the waiting car. Burton, wearing a red sports jacket and a white polo shirt, did not leave the car to greet his wife and nervously tapped his fingers on the leather upholstery, glancing out the rear window looking for her.

A crowd of about 100 newsmen surrounded Miss Taylor as she walked toward the car. She arrived with two large trunks and her three pets.

She appeared nervous and was trembling as she reached the car. As she slid in the back seat, Burton put his arm around his wife's shoulders and kissed her.

The car sped away without either making a statement.

The 41-year-old actress landed earlier today at London's Heathrow Airport on a Trans World Airline (TWA) flight from Los Angeles and boarded a red and silver private Mystere jet for the flight to Rome.

The Taylor-Burton romance which began during the filming of "Cleopatra" brought world headlines, scandalized much of Italy and brought indirect criticism from the Vatican.

They were married on March 16, 1964, in Montreal in a Unitarian wedding in the royal suite of the Ritz-Carlton Hotel.

"All I can say is that I'm going to join my husband," Miss Taylor said Thursday as she boarded her London-bound jetliner in Los Angeles.

Ex-Lieutenant Of Hughes Slumps III

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Robert Maheu, once one of Howard Hughes' chief lieutenants, fell ill in a restaurant yesterday slumping to the floor.

He was reported in satisfactory condition at Sunrise Hospital today with what was described as a blood sugar imbalance. Maheu headed Hughes' Nevada empire from 1966 until he was fired in 1970.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Irish Shootings

BELFAST (UPI) — Gunmen shot and killed a part-time militiaman and wounded another early today, hours after army raids rounded up 14 suspected members of the Irish Republican Army.

Police said the dead man, hit while on the way to his home in south Armagh, 30 miles south of Belfast, died on his way to a hospital.

The second militiaman was shot and wounded today in Kesh, a remote village near the western border of Northern Ireland.

Four Scouts Die

YELLOWSTONE PARK, Wyo. (UPI) — What was to have been a six-day outing for a group of Explorer Scouts from Albuquerque, N.M., turned into a nightmare of rough water that left four members of the troop dead.

Park officials said yesterday that Darwin Seamons, in his mid-40s, Tom Gower, 16; Bob Safran, 16, and Burris Wolsieffer, 26, all of Albuquerque, died when their two canoes and one kayak were swamped by a sudden thunderstorm which whipped up the cold waters of Yellowstone Lake.

Aid Bill Gains

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A $2.8 billion foreign aid bill nearly a quarter of which was earmarked for Indochina postwar reconstruction — has been approved by the House Foreign Affairs Committee. Final House action may come within the next two weeks.

The package, which was approved yesterday on a 29-8 vote, was $103 million less than the administration asked, but about $800 million more generous than the Senate's totals for the fiscal year that started July 1.

Ex-POW Divorced

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI) — The wife of Air Force Maj. Paul A. Kari, a former prisoner of war in Vietnam, filed suit yesterday for dissolution of their 12-year marriage.

Kathlee S. Kari said in the petition for dissolution that the marriage "is irretrivevably broken." That is the only grounds required for divorce in Florida.

Kari, 37, spent seven and a half years in North Vietnamese prison camps.

Car Price Hikes

DETROIT (UPI) — General Motors Corp. and Ford Motor Co., the nation's two largest auto companies, announced yesterday they will seek price hikes — expected to be as much as $150 per car — for their 1974 model vehicles under the Phase IV guidelines.

Both Chrysler Corp. and American Motors said they would hold off on similar decisions.

Spokesmen for G.M. and Ford refused to reveal the exact amount of the requests, but both are expected to ask the government for as much as $150 per model more than they are getting for 1973 cars.

17 Passengers Of Boat Rescued

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — A Coast Guard helicopter today found 17 passengers of a grounded 140-foot fishing boat "in good condition" floating in one of the vessel's dinghys off the Baja California coast.

A spokesman for Search and Rescue Headquarters here said the passengers of the Courages were sighted in Asuncion Bay, 350 miles southeast of San Diego, not far from where their craft ran aground earlier in the morning.

After the dinghy beached near the Mexican fishing village of Asuncion, the helicopter was to ferry the people to Cedros Island, some 60 miles to the north. A Coast Guard C130 was to fly them back to the Courages' home port of San Diego.

BACK WITH BURTON — Elizabeth Taylor, under heavy security protection, swept by passengers and photographers in Los Angeles last night to board a TWA flight to London on the first leg of a trip that reunited her in Rome with her husband, Richard Burton, from whom she separated July 3. (UPI Telephoto)

Nervous Liz Reunited With Burton In Rome

ROME (UPI) — A nervous and trembling Elizabeth Taylor was reunited today with an equally nervous Richard Burton in this eternal city where their flaming romance that scandalized Italy was ignited 11 years ago during the filming of the movie "Cleopatra."

There was a hug and a kiss and the two drove into Rome in a Rolls-Royce without a formal statement.

The Burtons parted July 3 when Miss Taylor walked out of their New York hotel suite with a statement that she had separated but hoped with all her heart to return to the man she loved.

Miss Taylor, accompanied by two dogs and a cat, arrived in Rome aboard a private jet today to patch up the marriage. She had been in Los Angeles visiting her ailing mother and Burton had been in Moscow attending a film festival.

Miss Taylor stayed aboard her jet for more than 20 minutes before disembarking to meet Burton, who had been waiting more than an hour in a green Rolls-Royce outside the airport.

Miss Taylor wore blue jeans, a matching jean jacket and sun glasses as she strode through the lounge toward the waiting car. Burton, wearing a red sports jacket and a white polo shirt, did not leave the car to greet his wife and nervously tapped his fingers on the leather upholstery, glancing out the rear window looking for her.

A crowd of about 100 newsmen surrounded Miss Taylor as she walked toward the car. She arrived with two large trunks and her three pets.

She appeared nervous and was trembling as she reached the car. As she slid in the back seat, Burton put his arm around his wife's shoulders and kissed her.

The car sped away without either making a statement.

Egyptians Stand Aside For Huge Libyan Unity March On Cairo

MERSA MATRUH, Egypt (UPI) — Hundreds of vehicles in a motorized march of 40,000 Libyans defied Egyptian authorities today and drove through this Mediterranean resort toward Cairo to further their dream of uniting Egypt and Libya on Sept. 1.

In an apparent effort to avoid violence, the Egyptian customs post at Salloum was evacuated by officials to permit free passage of the marchers supporting Libyan leader Col. Moammar Khadafy's demand for complete unity with Egypt by that date.

But in a symbolic "smashing of barriers to unity" promised by the Libyan marchers, a bulldozer emerged from the column of vehicles and crumbled four wooden customs sheds into the desert sand. The bulldozer also demolished a small brick house used by the Egyptian Ministry of Tourism.

On the orders of President Anwar Sadat, strong Egyptian political contingents tried to stop the 1,500-mile "unity march" at Mersa Matruh, 120 miles inside Egypt. But hundreds of cars, taxis and buses just kept going along the coastal road.

Others in the 2,000-vehicle motorcade halted at the tents arranged by the Egyptians to accomodate them. The Egytians had assembled 50 Bedouin children to present flowers and 1,500 pigeons for release as a welcoming gesture. They also slaughtered 150 sheep for a traditional Arab welcome.

"We thank you for the reception," one of the Libyans told the Egyptian greeters, "but we are heading for Cairo."

Contacted by telephone in Tripoli, an official of the Libyan news agency said, "Our position is that we will push on to Cairo for the unity demonstration." He estimated the number of marchers who crossed the frontier into Egypt this morning at 40,000.

There were no members of Libya's ruling Revolutionary Command Council among the marchers. Technically it was a spontaneous mass gesture, organized by the "People's Committees" Khadafy formed to carry out the cultural revolution he launched April 16.

Some of the Libyans who halted at Mersa Matruh mingled with Egyptian greeters in the 10,000-capacity tent where the Egyptians had planned to stage a three-day "dialogue" on unity plans. Some made speeches and Cairo Radio announced: "The popular dialogue has started in Mersa Matruh." But the Libyans said they planned to go on to Cairo.

According to the original schedule, they planned to assemble at the pyramids 12 miles from downtown Cairo. From there they planned to march to the Abdin Palace offices of President Sadat and present a petition, written in blood, demanding unity by Sept. 1.

They also planned to stage a sit-down strike in the square "until the unity agreement is signed."

In appealing to Khadafy to call off the march on Wednesday, the day it started, Sadat warned of the "dangers" which a mass demonstration in Cairo could create.

Rogers Tells Concern On Korea Suppression

SEOUL (UPI) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers told South Korean Foreign Minister Kim Yong-Sik during his three-day visit that the United States is concerned about reports of political suppression in Korea, informed sources reported today.

Rogers' statements were firm but mild and were not designed to provoke a debate with the Koreans on the matter, the sources said.

Rogers' visit, designed as a gesture of continuing U.S. support for South Korea, ended today with his departure for Washington via Hawaii.

During his stay in Seoul he publicly promised there would be no early reduction of the 42,000 man American military litary garrison in South Korea and announced full support for President Park Chung-hee's June 23 proposal for joint admission of North and South Korea to the United Nations.

It was Rogers' first visit to Seoul since Park's suspension of the Korean constitution in October, 1972, and its replacement with a new basic law increasing the president's powers and downgrading the role of Korea's Parliament.

Since then there has been a steady flow of reports from Seoul of dismissals of journalists critical of the government, arrests of some others, and arrests of opposition members of Parliament.

Novato police later joined sheriff's deputies at the mental health center to pick up Wagner. Deputies, fearing the man might go berserk if he saw police uniforms, had donned hospital smocks before entering the crisis center.

Employees of the hospital declined comment on the matter, saying only that Wagner was a former patient of the center's crisis section.

Lt. Stout said the motorhome bore Kansas license plates.

He said Wagner owned the vehicle, had a California driver's license, and formerly had a Georgia driver's license.

Wagner, a retired serviceman released on a "disability," has apparently been traveling around the country, Stout said.

Police said Wagner may have been on his way to Portland, Ore., and said he might have picked up the woman between San Francisco and the Oregon border.

Stout urged anyone with information on the van, Wagner, or the woman to contact Novato police.

Police said Wagner, who might have taken the drug Thorazine, was awake but appeared dazed during questioning today.

against him, he was again called before Brown to "give your side of the story."

This time, he said, he was charged with such things as leaving the city for half a day to buy his wife boots in Petaluma, taking four hours to load a pickup truck with lumber, going to school on city time and accepting a gift of four bottles of liquor.

On Feb. 5, Brown threatened to cut his wages, Klemme said. He said he told Brown to put that in writing.

He said he was accused of taking his wife to Disneyland and Knotts Berry Farm in a city car. He said that he and another officer had taken the car there and used it for three days. When his wife and another officer arrived on Friday afternoon, he filled the car with $4.80 worth of gasoline to drive them from the Orange County Airport to Disneyland. In proof, he produced the ticket charged to his account for gasoline for a city car.

He was told to take a week off on March 15. The following Sunday he was told to be in his office at 8 a.m. to "squelch one bit of rumor in Marin County" that he was not with the department.

He said he complied and faced the press that day with a pretext that all was well. When he showed up for work the next day he was old by Brown to take another week off.

Klemme and his attorney Dennis McQuaid produced complete texts of the charges or complaints of the members of the police department against him and admitted to some of them, such as a remark to a police officer's wife which might have been construed as off shade. To a charge that he kept woman in his office behind closed doors, the chief said only police business was involved.

He has since taken a lie detector test and made an affidavit that he has not had sexual relations with anyone but his wife.

Other charges such as attending school on city time, he said were done with full approval of the city manager and that he made up the time.

As to his taking $22 of city funds, Klemme said it was repayment of $10 of his money, $10 of Lt. Richard Currier and $2 from Officer Albert Mendoza used to feed the men during last winter's flood.

His attorney said in summary, "The pathetic aspect of the case is that the officers who engineered to get him out have succeeded, not only of getting him out as police chief, but out of police work. His career is finished in law enforcement after 23 years."

Petaluma Growth Suit Dismissed

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A federal judge yesterday dismissed the lawsuit against Petaluma's growth plan, but said an amended complaint may be filed.

Robert T. Anderson of Oakland, Special Counsel to Petaluma, said Judge Stanley A. Weigell granted his motion to dismiss the suit on the basis that no substantial federal question is involved. Weigell said, however, that attorneys for the Construction Industry Association may file an amended complaint within 20 days.

The association charged in its suit that the Petaluma growth control plan violates the federal Constitution because it would deny some persons the right to move to Petaluma. The growth policy limits development to a maximum of 500 new living units per year.

Living Costs Rose Before Price Freeze

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The cost of living took another big jump in June before President Nixon's Phase III price freeze took effect, rising 0.7 per cent —mainly because of sharp price increases for food, gasoline and fuel oil, the government said today.

The Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics, reporting only two days after Nixon unveiled plans for his fourth attempt to control inflation, said that food prices in supermarkets went up 1.7 per cent between May and June before the June 13 freeze. Fruit and vegetable prices soared 4.9 per cent.

Despite the ceiling place on meat prices in late March, retail meat prices went up 0.5 per cent in June, the BLS said.

Food prices, which have increased 15.7 per cent over a year ago, are expected to rise sharply again in the coming weeks because of the Phase IV lifting of the freeze on retail food prices. Beef prices will remain frozen until Sept. 12.

Gasoline prices, probably due to the fuel shortage, rose 2.6 per cent in June, while prices for fuel oil and coal increased 1.8 per cent.

In each of the past five months, ever since Nixon in January replaced the mandatory Phase II price controls with the looser voluntary controls of Phase III, prices have gone up at least 0.6 per cent each month, ranging from 0.6 per cent in May to 0.9 per cent in March.

Most of this increase has been due to food prices. Food price increases during this period have ranged from 1.0 per cent in May to 2.6 per cent in March.

The BLS said average weekly earnings of rank and file workers increased $2.68 in June to $145.13. But it said the average weekly take home pay of a married worker with three dependents declined 0.1 per cent in May.

The BLS said its Consumer Price Index (CPI) was 132.4 in June, which is 5.9 per cent above a year ago. This meant that goods and services which cost $10 in the statistical base period of 1967 cost $13.24 in June, an increase of 32.4 per cent in six years.

of bacon for $1.29 on Tuesday were now paying $1.59 for the same thing.

The wholesale cost of chicken is expected to go up 20 cents a pound by next week according to William L. Pritchett, manager of Co-op in Corte Madera and is already inching up a few cents, although most merchants said they have not yet raised their retail prices but would be forced to when the big hike comes.

(Two grocers mentioned that farmers in one state had drowned 10,000 baby chicks and lost 10 cents per bird in doing so. If the producers had raised the chickens to maturity and sold them, they would have lost 25 cents per bird.)

The price of beef is still frozen and this could mean a shortage in the next few months, several grocers forecast. Some said they were having trouble getting choice beef cuts, but there was still enough to go around.

There was general gloom among grocery men about what the next few weeks would bring in the way of higher prices and complaints about higher prices from their customers.

"It's going to be bad," said Gerald D. McCarver, Mill Valley market manager.

"I'm not sure what's going to happen, but I know I'm probably going to get an ulcer," said a spokesman for Petrini's Market in Greenbrae.

"I'm afraid prices are going to be out of sight once we really start feeling the defrost," Saccone said. "I think you're going to see increase after increase, much of it on foods that should have gone up during the freeze."

He said United Markets' egg supplier had already announced a 5 cent hike per dozen on Thursday. Today, while he was talking with the Independent-Journal, the supplier called again: the wholesale cost of a dozen eggs had gone up another three cents.

Market officials warned that customers can expect the biggest price hikes in produce, fruits and oil and oil-based products once Phase IV really gets going.

Saccone said huge sales of grains to Russia and other countries had already driven up the cost of oil products which are made from grains, before the freeze began.

"We've been selling Best Foods mayonnaise for 69 cents since United went discount in 1969; now it's 77 cents and we're selling it for below cost."

Oxidants, clean air.
Nitrogen dioxide, clean air.
Smoke particles, clean air.
Other areas:

Petaluma Growth Suit Dismissed

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A federal judge yesterday dismissed the lawsuit against Petaluma's growth plan, but said an amended complaint may be filed.

Robert T. Anderson of Oakland, Special Counsel to Petaluma, said Judge Stanley A. Weigell granted his motion to dismiss the suit on the basis that no substantial federal question is involved. The association charged in its suit that the Petaluma growth control plan violates the federal Constitution because it would deny some persons the right to move to Petaluma. The growth policy limits development to a maximum of 500 new living units per year.

If Weigell accepts an amended complaint, the trial will begin on Nov. 14.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The cost of living took another big jump in June before President Nixon's Phase III price freeze took effect, rising 0.7 per cent —mainly because of sharp price increases for food, gasoline and fuel oil, the government said today.

Food prices, which have increased 15.7 per cent over a year ago, are expected to rise sharply again in the coming weeks because of the Phase IV lifting of the freeze on retail food prices. Beef prices will remain frozen until Sept. 12.

Gasoline prices, probably due to the fuel shortage, rose 2.6 per cent in June, while prices for fuel oil and coal increased 1.8 per cent.

In each of the past five months, ever since Nixon in January replaced the mandatory Phase II price controls with the looser voluntary controls of Phase III, prices have gone up at least 0.6 per cent each month, ranging from 0.6 per cent in May to 0.9 per cent in March.

The BLS said its Consumer Price Index (CPI) was 132.4 in June, which is 5.9 per cent above a year ago. This meant that goods and services which cost $10 in the statistical base period of 1967 cost $13.24 in June, an increase of 32.4 per cent in six years.

In 1917, the first lottery draft of Americans for World War I duty was conducted in Washington.

In 1944, German dictator Adolf Hitler narrowly escaped death in a plot engineered by a group of high military and civil officials.

In 1945, the flag of the United States was raised over Berlin as the first American troops moved in to participate in the occupation government.

Cut In Mileage Plan Protested

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Bay Area smog officials wrung their hands yesterday over a federal plan to limit car use in the region, but conceded their objections probably will have no effect.

The transportation committee of the Air Pollution Control District had hoped to come up with an alternative to the federal plan, but the staff said none is possible for several years. It will take that long to gather enough data to justify controls on car use, the staff said.

Figures used by the federal Environmental Protection Agency to justify its proposed plan were "absolutely unreliable," according to the district's deputy air pollution control officer, Milton Feldstein.

Feldstein said a meeting will be held between district and EPA staffs to try to resolve the conflict, but he was not optimistic it could be resolved before the plan is due for final approval by EPA on Aug. 15.

The committee agreed to meet again only if EPA is willing to revise the technical basis of its plan.

The plan calls for an 84 per cent cut in mileage driven in the Bay Area by 1977.

Air Pollution Solution For Autos Is A Flop

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — One of the popular dream solutions to air pollution was tarnished yesterday by Bay Area smog officials.

The dream envisions switching vehicles from gasoline fuel to liquid petroleum gas, which commonly was thought to burn cleanly.

According to a report by the Air Pollution Control District, however, the exotic system flopped when tried on several district vehicles. No more vehicles should be converted to LPG fuel, concluded the district's administrator, D. J. Callaghan.

Besides not meeting emission limits for several pollutants, he reported to district directors, the converted vehicles were difficult to keep in tune. Another problem was finding the fuel outside of metropolitan areas, he said.

Callaghan also reported that tentative information from tests at the University of California indicate that while such vehicles may cut emissions, the nature of the emissions may create more pollution than conventional engine emissions.

He noted that the state Air Resources Board recently dropped its proposal that one-third of the district's fleet be converted to LPG.

Novato Bid For Air Base Study Funds Supported

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — The City of Novato's application for a $20,000 federal grant to start studying long-range use of Hamilton Air Force Base land and facilities was endorsed last night by the Association of Bay Area Governments.

Total cost of the "First phase survey," aimed at the possibility of a partial or total closure of the base, will be $27,470.

According to the city's application, future studies will consider civilian use of the flying facilities.

The endorsement by the association's executive committee included a staff recommendation that the study update data on the noise impact of civilian aviation use of the field. Cutbacks in military air operations have reduced noise levels, the staff said, thus the net effect of adding civilian aircraft may be less than previously computed.

Plea Bargain In Novato Burglary

A Fairfax man yesterday changed his plea in Marin Municipal Court and admitted burglarizing Hill Junior High School in Novato on June 14.

In exchange for the guilty plea of Goerge Roberts Jr., 18, a second count of burglarizing the same school April 14 was dismissed by Judge Gary W. Thomas.

As part of a plea bargain, Thomas also promised Roberts no more than six months in county jail. Roberts also will be required to pay $60 to the school for damage done during the second break-in.

Roberts will be sentenced Wednesday.

Northeast's Industry Expected To Move

NEW YORK (UPI) — By 1981, the Northeast no longer will be the industrial hub the nation because it lacks the land for industrial needs, the McGraw-Hill economics department said yesterday.

In a report entitled "Migration of Industry," the McGraw-Hill economists said spiraling real estate prices in the East as much as labor conditions are forcing industry to move West and South. The largest industrial migration is into the Southeast, the study said.

Police Hold Suspect In Attack Case

Sam Yul Oh, of 90 Hoag Avenue, was arrested in San Francisco at a Pacific Gas and Electric Co. office where he works.

According to police, a 26-year-old Marin woman told them that he had picked her up at a San Francisco bus stop and offered to give her a ride.

She said that once in Marin the man pulled off Highway 101 on to Wolfback Ridge Road in Sausalito and tried to rape her.

She said she fought him off and ran away.

She later identified Oh in police photos.

Oh was booked at Marin County Jail on suspicion of assault with intent to commit rape. He was held in lieu of $10,000 bail and was scheduled to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

BART Workers Slate Vote On Ending Strike

OAKLAND (UPI) — Unions striking against the Bay Area Rapid Transit District vote tonight on whether to return to work or continue the 18-day walkout.

Paul Varacalli, executive secretary of United Public Employes Union Local 390 told a news conference the strike would likely continue although "we have steadily been modifying our position over the last several weeks."

He said his strike committee had voted 38-0 to recommend rejection of BART's last offer, a 24 per cent wage hike over two years.

Thieves Take Tools From Gas Station

Thieves who broke a window to get into a Union 76 service station at 101 Marinwood Avenue, Marinwood, escaped with tools valued at $350, Marin sheriff's deputies said yesterday.

Deputies said employee Chris J. Werner reported the theft, which occurred sometime Sunday.

Marin Has First Sheep Rabies Case

The first reported Marin County case of rabies in a sheep was diagnosed yesterday in a ewe which died recently at the Robert Parks ranch near Tomales.

County Health Officer, Carolyn B. Albrecht said a veterinarian who removed the animal's brain for testing is receiving booster shots to update his preexposure rabies vaccination.

Dr. Albrecht said the veterinarian, who was not named, is the only person possibly exposed to the dread disease. She said there was no known animal exposure to the sheep.

(The county health department declines to name persons exposed to rabies, saying to do so would violate doctor-patient confidentiality.)

The public health officer said the ewe was first observed ill on Tuesday and died the following day. Rabies was confirmed yesterday by the Sonoma County public health laboratory.

"The most probable source of infection in this animal as well as in the two recent horse cases (in Nicasio) was the bite of a rabid skunk, though a bite by a fox or a bat is also a possibility," she said.

She said no epidemic of sheep rabies is expected and there will be no quarantine of sheep.

"Whether any additional cases in sheep occur on this ranch (or on any other ranch in Marin) will depend almost exclusively on whether more than one sheep has been bitten already by some rabid wild animal or whether any other sheep are bitten in the future," Dr. Albrecht said. "Sheep-to-sheep spread of rabies is virtually nonexistent."

She said vaccination of sheep flocks against rabies is not economically feasible or of any public health advantage. She urged families with sheep as pets to consult their veterinarians, however.

During the period between 1950 and 1971, six cases of sheep rabies were reported in California but this is the first for Marin, she added.

Like other domestic livestock, a sheep that bites or scratches a person with its teeth is subject to 14 days of isolation and observation at the owner's premises.

Nixon Labels Any Suggestion He Might Resign 'Poppycock'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon said today any suggestion that he might resign the presidency is "just plain poppycock."

"Let others wallow in Watergate," Nixon said with emotion. "We are going to do the job we were elected to do."

The President made the remarks in a spontaneous speech to a gathering of White House officials, staffers and secretaries on the steps outside his Oval Office after leaving Bethesda Naval Hospital where he had spent the last eight days recovering from viral pneumonia.

On his return to the White House in a motorcade from Bethesda in suburban Maryland, Nixon forcefully served notice to the country —and to his critics —that he was staying in the White House.

"Some very well-intentioned people think the burdens of the office ... the rough assaults bring on illness," he said. "Some have suggested that I slow down ... Some have suggested that I resign."

He then declared, using a wave of his hand for emphasis: "Any suggestion that this President is going to slow down or leave this office that he was elected to is just plain poppycock."

"We're going to stay on this job."

He added "We realize in this office, where the great decisions are going to be made, that we must give the job all that we have."

It was one of the few times that Nixon in person has mentioned Watergate, which has engulfed his administration and has seen some of his former top advisers and aides accused of advance knowledge of the plot or complicity in covering it up.

Speaking with apparent deep emotion, Nixon made it clear that he was not going to be forced out of office by the scandal. He led into his remarks by saying he was not going to follow his doctors' orders to slow down and get more rest.

"I feel we have so little time in the position we have and so much to do. At the end of three and one-half years, when we look back we don't want to feel that one day we might have done something more for peace in the world," he said.

The President said he was not trying to appear heroic. He said everyone in the White House "feels that way."

Nixon was applauded enthusiastically as he delivered his impromptu speech. His top advisers, including Melvin R. Laird and Gen. Alexander M. Haig Jr., his chief of staff, wore broad smiles.

The President's motorcade arrived at the White House after a half-hour ride from the hospital. He looked pale but was in good spirits on leaving the hospital.

The President was so completely recovered from the viral pneumonia that he insisted on getting in some conferences with top aides before going later in the day to Camp David, his Maryland mountain top retreat where he planned to remain for the weekend.

"When I come back from Camp David, we will be going full-tilt, all the way," Nixon said.

Hub Plans Licensing For Horses

The San Anselmo Planning Commission's horse ordinance subcommittee last night sent to the city attorney a draft ordinance which would require a city-issued license for anyone wanting to keep a horse.

T.J. Robins, engineer planner, said the proposed ordinance would cover "all equine species". The license would cost $4, and be issued only if there are no objections from occupants of land within 200 feet from the animals' housing.

Robins said the ordinance calls for a sanitary inspection of the animals' quarters every year by city staff. If complaints from neighbors lead to more inspections the owner would have to pay the costs, he added.

About 12 residents attended the subcommittee's meeting, said Robins, but no objections were voiced. The draft was sent to the city attorney for his comments before it goes to the full planning commission.

Arabs Hijack Japanese Jumbo Jet Over Europe

BEIRUT (UPI) — A Japan Air Lines jumbo jet carrying 123 passengers was hijacked by three men, a Japan airlines spokesman said today.

The Boeing 747 was on a flight from Amsterdam to Anchorage, Alaska, when it was hijacked, the spokesman said in Beirut.

The spokesman said the hijacked plane headed down Italy towards the Mediterranean.

Another JAL spokesman in Frankfurt, Germany said air pirates who claimed to be members of an Arab guerrrilla organization hijacked the plane over the Netherlands.

The spokesman for the Japanese airline's Frankfurt office said the hijacking took place over the Dutch city of Arnheim.

"The hijackers told control towers enroute by radio they are members of the Al Fatah (Arab guerrilla) organization," the spokesman said.

A JAL spokesman in Paris said the flight originated there and left Orly Field at 1 p.m. (8 a.m. EDT).

The Japanese airline spokesman said that one of the hijackers, who set up radio contact with the control towers enroute, described himself as an Al Fatah member.

Ehrlichman Wants Tapes As Evidence

LONDON (UPI) — Former presidential assistant John D. Ehrlichman said Friday he would be happy to have recordings of White House conversations produced in the investigation of the Watergate affair.

"I would think they'll be the ultimate evidence in this thing," Ehrlichman said in an interview. "I would be glad to see them produced.

Police Hold Suspect In Attack Case

Sam Yul Oh, of 90 Hoag Avenue, was arrested in San Francisco at a Pacific Gas and Electric Co. office where he works.

According to police, a 26-year-old Marin woman told them that he had picked her up at a San Francisco bus stop and offered to give her a ride.

She said that once in Marin the man pulled off Highway 101 on to Wolfback Ridge Road in Sausalito and tried to rape her.

She said she fought him off and ran away.

She later identified Oh in police photos.

Oh was booked at Marin County Jail on suspicion of assault with intent to commit rape. He was held in lieu of $10,000 bail and was scheduled to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

BART Workers Slate Vote On Ending Strike

OAKLAND (UPI) — Unions striking against the Bay Area Rapid Transit District vote tonight on whether to return to work or continue the 18-day walkout.

Paul Varacalli, executive secretary of United Public Employes Union Local 390 told a news conference the strike would likely continue although "we have steadily been modifying our position over the last several weeks."

He said his strike committee had voted 38-0 to recommend rejection of BART's last offer, a 24 per cent wage hike over two years.

Thieves Take Tools From Gas Station

Thieves who broke a window to get into a Union 76 service station at 101 Marinwood Avenue, Marinwood, escaped with tools valued at $350, Marin sheriff's deputies said yesterday.

Deputies said employee Chris J. Werner reported the theft, which occurred sometime Sunday.

Marin Has First Sheep Rabies Case

The first reported Marin County case of rabies in a sheep was diagnosed yesterday in a ewe which died recently at the Robert Parks ranch near Tomales.

County Health Officer, Carolyn B. Albrecht said a veterinarian who removed the animal's brain for testing is receiving booster shots to update his preexposure rabies vaccination.

Dr. Albrecht said the veterinarian, who was not named, is the only person possibly exposed to the dread disease. She said there was no known animal exposure to the sheep.

(The county health department declines to name persons exposed to rabies, saying to do so would violate doctor-patient confidentiality.)

The public health officer said the ewe was first observed ill on Tuesday and died the following day. Rabies was confirmed yesterday by the Sonoma County public health laboratory.

"The most probable source of infection in this animal as well as in the two recent horse cases (in Nicasio) was the bite of a rabid skunk, though a bite by a fox or a bat is also a possibility," she said.

She said no epidemic of sheep rabies is expected and there will be no quarantine of sheep.

"Whether any additional cases in sheep occur on this ranch (or on any other ranch in Marin) will depend almost exclusively on whether more than one sheep has been bitten already by some rabid wild animal or whether any other sheep are bitten in the future," Dr. Albrecht said. "Sheep-to-sheep spread of rabies is virtually nonexistent."

She said vaccination of sheep flocks against rabies is not economically feasible or of any public health advantage. She urged families with sheep as pets to consult their veterinarians, however.

During the period between 1950 and 1971, six cases of sheep rabies were reported in California but this is the first for Marin, she added.

Like other domestic livestock, a sheep that bites or scratches a person with its teeth is subject to 14 days of isolation and observation at the owner's premises.

Nixon Labels Any Suggestion He Might Resign 'Poppycock'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon said today any suggestion that he might resign the presidency is "just plain poppycock."

"Let others wallow in Watergate," Nixon said with emotion. "We are going to do the job we were elected to do."

The President made the remarks in a spontaneous speech to a gathering of White House officials, staffers and secretaries on the steps outside his Oval Office after leaving Bethesda Naval Hospital where he had spent the last eight days recovering from viral pneumonia.

On his return to the White House in a motorcade from Bethesda in suburban Maryland, Nixon forcefully served notice to the country —and to his critics —that he was staying in the White House.

"Some very well-intentioned people think the burdens of the office ... the rough assaults bring on illness," he said. "Some have suggested that I slow down ... Some have suggested that I resign."

He then declared, using a wave of his hand for emphasis: "Any suggestion that this President is going to slow down or leave this office that he was elected to is just plain poppycock."

"We're going to stay on this job."

He added "We realize in this office, where the great decisions are going to be made, that we must give the job all that we have."

It was one of the few times that Nixon in person has mentioned Watergate, which has engulfed his administration and has seen some of his former top advisers and aides accused of advance knowledge of the plot or complicity in covering it up.

Speaking with apparent deep emotion, Nixon made it clear that he was not going to be forced out of office by the scandal. He led into his remarks by saying he was not going to follow his doctors' orders to slow down and get more rest.

"I feel we have so little time in the position we have and so much to do. At the end of three and one-half years, when we look back we don't want to feel that one day we might have done something more for peace in the world," he said.

The President said he was not trying to appear heroic. He said everyone in the White House "feels that way."

Nixon was applauded enthusiastically as he delivered his impromptu speech. His top advisers, including Melvin R. Laird and Gen. Alexander M. Haig Jr., his chief of staff, wore broad smiles.

The President's motorcade arrived at the White House after a half-hour ride from the hospital. He looked pale but was in good spirits on leaving the hospital.

The President was so completely recovered from the viral pneumonia that he insisted on getting in some conferences with top aides before going later in the day to Camp David, his Maryland mountain top retreat where he planned to remain for the weekend.

"When I come back from Camp David, we will be going full-tilt, all the way," Nixon said.

Hub Plans Licensing For Horses

The San Anselmo Planning Commission's horse ordinance subcommittee last night sent to the city attorney a draft ordinance which would require a city-issued license for anyone wanting to keep a horse.

T.J. Robins, engineer planner, said the proposed ordinance would cover "all equine species". The license would cost $4, and be issued only if there are no objections from occupants of land within 200 feet from the animals' housing.

Robins said the ordinance calls for a sanitary inspection of the animals' quarters every year by city staff. If complaints from neighbors lead to more inspections the owner would have to pay the costs, he added.

About 12 residents attended the subcommittee's meeting, said Robins, but no objections were voiced. The draft was sent to the city attorney for his comments before it goes to the full planning commission.

Arabs Hijack Japanese Jumbo Jet Over Europe

BEIRUT (UPI) — A Japan Air Lines jumbo jet carrying 123 passengers was hijacked by three men, a Japan airlines spokesman said today.

The Boeing 747 was on a flight from Amsterdam to Anchorage, Alaska, when it was hijacked, the spokesman said in Beirut.

The spokesman said the hijacked plane headed down Italy towards the Mediterranean.

Another JAL spokesman in Frankfurt, Germany said air pirates who claimed to be members of an Arab guerrrilla organization hijacked the plane over the Netherlands.

The spokesman for the Japanese airline's Frankfurt office said the hijacking took place over the Dutch city of Arnheim.

"The hijackers told control towers enroute by radio they are members of the Al Fatah (Arab guerrilla) organization," the spokesman said.

A JAL spokesman in Paris said the flight originated there and left Orly Field at 1 p.m. (8 a.m. EDT).

The Japanese airline spokesman said that one of the hijackers, who set up radio contact with the control towers enroute, described himself as an Al Fatah member.

Ehrlichman Wants Tapes As Evidence

LONDON (UPI) — Former presidential assistant John D. Ehrlichman said Friday he would be happy to have recordings of White House conversations produced in the investigation of the Watergate affair.

"I would think they'll be the ultimate evidence in this thing," Ehrlichman said in an interview. "I would be glad to see them produced.

DIGGING UP SAN ANSELMO

Heavy equipment takes the first greedy bite from the streets of San Anselmo. Excavation began yesterday on San Anselmo Avenue for a major sewer project. The Ross Valley Sanitary District will put a huge new trunkline through Ross and San Anselmo to replace the leaky inadequate pipes of the 1900's. The work through Ross will continue through the fall, but construction in the downtown area of San Anselmo will be complete by the end of August in response to pleas from merchants, who fear the 14-foot deep trenches will disrupt business.

State Guide Sought On Sewage Plan

After hearing an engineering report that the Stinson Ranch site is an acceptable location for a sewage treatment and disposal plant, Stinson Beach County Water District directors last night agreed to apply for state guidelines specifiying how clean waste must be before it may be disposed of at the site.

The application will be sent to the Regional Water Quality Control Board, according to Richard W.Beban, district publicist.

Directors also agreed to create a separate septic tank maintenance district, with plans calling for septic tank wastes to be trucked to the treatment plant for disposal.

They decided to limit initial sewer construction to those areas considered most critical by the county health department, Beban said.

In other business, directors approved a measure 3-2 to pay directors $15 for each meeting they attend. Payment may not exceed $50 per month. Directors John L. Jones, Proctor Jones and Andrea Demarco favored being paid and Robert L. Langsdale and Ralph W. Sigmund were opposed.

They set 7:30 p.m. July 30 at district offices for a meeting to consider a revised contract to buy the privately-owned Stinson Beach Water Co.

Tools Taken

Tools valued at $500 have been reported stolen from the State Division of Highways maintenance yard on Shoreline Highway near Mill Valley by the Marin Sheriff's Department.

Explorers Claim Spanish Police Have Barred Atlantis Search

CADIZ, Spain (UPI) — A team of American explorers, teachers and students said today Spanish police barred them from continuing their underwater quest for the missing, perhaps legendary, continent of Atlantis.

Mrs. Maxine Asher, codirector of the 70-member team, announced earlier that a six-man scuba diving team found what it believed were traces of Atlantis.

She said she had appealed to the two U.S. Senators from California for help.

Pre-Christian legend named Atlantis, the object of centuries of searching, as a supercivilization that sank beneath what is now the Atlantic Ocean thousands of years ago. Many experts say it never existed but others believe Atlantis was a real continent.

Mrs. Asher promised to produce evidence today when she announced the discovery earlier this week. But a team spokesman said police intervened.

"After two days of diving about 12 miles off Cadiz, we found evidence of a pre-Roman or pre-Phoenician civilization," said Bill Farrell of Newport Beach, Calif., the chief diver of the team sponsored by Pepperdine University of Los Angeles.

"But now the police have prevented us from going down again to confirm our findings and have completely paralyzed the operation."

Mrs. Asher said she did not know why the police barred further exploration.

"We had all the necessary permits from the government," Mrs. Asher said. "We brought nothing up from the spot and they were cooperating with us.

"But now," she said, "the beach and dock area are swarming with police who won't let us anywhere near and suddenly no boats are available."

Scuba divers said they found underwater roads, pillars and artifacts Monday after they started their search off Cadiz. But they said they could not give more details until specialists evaluated their findings.

Spanish archeologists expressed scepticism that the finds dated back beyond Roman or Phoenician times. Artifacts dating from those eras are common in the Cadiz area.

Mrs. Asher said the group was led to the area after years of research. But she said another factor was "vibrations."

"When we arrived," she said, "the vibes were very strong, almost drawing us to the spot. But right now it is as if we were criminals. We make this great ind and then nothing."

Mardian Thought That Nixon Knew

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Robert C. Mardian, a key Nixon campaign official, testified today he was told shortly after the Watergate bugging that the raid was just part of a wide-ranging espionage operation authorized and approved by President Nixon.

Mardian, appearing for a second day before the Senate Watergate Committee, also said he had been told at that time that John N. Mitchell, former attorney general and Nixon campaign manager, knew of the bugging operation in advance and authorized a $250,000 intelligence-gathering budget from which it was financed.

But Mardian told the senators he "didn't put much credence" in allegations of Nixon's involvement and "could be mistaken" about what he remembers hearing about Mitchell.

In another morning Watergate development, G. Gordon Liddy, serving a maximum 20-year prison term for his part in the Watergate break-in, refused to even take the oath before a congressional committee, and Rep. Lucien D. Nedzi, D-Mich., said he would be cited "as soon as practicable" for contempt of Congress.

Liddy has been cited by Judge John Sirica for refusing to testify before the Watergate grand jury after Sirica issued an immunity grant.

Nedzi's subcommittee is investigating possible relationships between the Watergate affair and the CIA.

Mardian, a close friend of Mitchell's for many years, was an assistant attorney general in charge of the Justice Department's Internal Security Division until May, 1972, when he joined the Nixon campaign as a Mitchell deputy. He denied any involvement in the Watergate affair other than as a lawyer after the June 17, 1972 bugging arrests.

As part of those duties, he said, he talked at length within a few days with G. Gordon Liddy —then the finance counsel to the Nixon campaign who was convicted last January as the alleged mastermind of the bugging plot.

He said Liddy —without saying so directly —had left him with the clear impression that the operation had the express authority of the President.

"Mr. Liddy told you that the Watergate was an ongoing project that had the full authority of the President?" said Sen. Edward J. Gurney, R-Fla., asking Mardian to elaborate on similar testimony yesterday.

"No, I don't believe I said Watergate, sir," Mardian replied. "I said that the operations of the group with which he was working had been an ongoing operation of which Watergate was one."

Mardian testified yesterday that Liddy had told him the same group had performed "other jobs" successfully with presidential approval —including the September, 1971, burglary of the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist and the spiriting away from Washington of controversial ITT lobbyist Dita Beard.

"I didn't put any credence in that when he told me other than I did when he told me he had shredded $100 bills," Mardian said.

In the same conversation, Mardian said, Liddy told him that Mitchell had authorized a $250,000 budget for political intelligence and espionage —the schemes that hatched Watergate.

"Maybe the use of the word 'budget' is wrong," Mardian said. "He may have said it was 'financed' with the approval of Mr. Mitchell and the White House ...

"I wasn't believing much of it. I was taking it as defensive statements justifying his conduct."

But, Mardian said, he didn't press Liddy for details because he was "in shock" about the broad picture of political espionage that Liddy was painting.

It was not until the nationally televised Senate hearings began two months ago, Mardian testified, that he was told Mitchell had known of the bugging —this time by campaign colleague Frederick C. LaRue, who testified to the committee earlier this week.

He said LaRue —who denied any prior knowledge in his sworn testimony —had told him in a telephone conversation that he did know about Watergate.

"Did you ask him if John (Mitchell) knew?" asked Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga.

"Yes, sir ...," Mardian replied. "I may be mistaken as to what he said at the time ... the question as I recall it at that time was 'Did John know about it ahead of time?'

"He said 'Yes.' "

"I then said, 'What does John say?' "

no.'"

After he appeared before the grand jury, Mardian said, he again talked with LaRue and told him he had recounted that conversation.

"Fred said, 'My God, you didn't say that, did you?' And I said 'yes.'

"He said 'Bob, I don't think I said that.' Now, I could be mistaken, but I'm giving you my best recollection."

Questioned by Sen. Lowell Weicker, R-Conn., Mardian complained that he had tried to discuss possible involvement of other Nixon re-election officials in the Watergate when Clark MacGregor became campaign director, but that MacGregor brushed him off.

San Anselmo Publication Budget Set

The San Anselmo School District board last night approved a publication budget of $2,442,-191 for 1973-74, and set a public hearing on the spending program for 8 p.m. Aug. 2 in Red Hill School.

The publication budget is expected to require a tax rate of $3.47 per $100 of assessed valuation, down 15 cents from this last fiscal year's rate of $3.62, according to Supt. Frank R. Elliott.

Elliott attributed the tax dip to a local increase in assessed valuation and more state aid under SB 90, the state's tax shift, school finance law.

The publication budget includes funds for a 5 per cent pay increase for employees, Elliott said.

The spending program provides for 134 employees, down from last fiscal year's 145-man work force, and is based on a fall student population of 1,741, down from 1,808 students enrolled in June.

The San Anselmo School District board also:

PERSONNEL — Appointed Wayne Alves as lead teacher at Yolansdale School, accepted the resignation of teacher aide Brian Hunt, and hired Rita Tinkler as administrative receptionist at $568 per month.

CHILD CENTER — Said the Fairfax-San Anselmo Children's Center may continue to use Yolansdale School facilities through July, 1974 and said a third grade class will be added to the current kindergarten through second grade program at the school.

POSTPONEMENT — Continued discussion to 8 p.m. Aug 2 of a student accident insurance program, approval of an audio-visual services agreement with the county, and a contract with Boyd Museum for science program services.

WORKDAY — Said workday for teachers will begin 30 minutes before school begins, and end 30 minutes after school ends.

HOLIDAY — Granted district administrators an annual paid vacation of 30 working days, rather than the current leave of 30 calendar days. Elliott, who receives 22 working days vacation, was not included in the fringe benefit shift.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 8 p.m. Aug. 2

Cotati Council Studies Offer To Trade Park Site Property

The Cotati City Council agreed last night to study the possibility of trading the old sewage plant property for a park site.

Lee Gray, chairman of the parks and recreation commission, urged the council to accept the offer of Morehouse Inc. for an even trade of city property for a 10-acre park site on Myrtle Avenue owned by Morehouse.

A group of residents strongly opposed the trade, saying the city may someday require the land again for sewage or water treatment. The plant was abandoned three years ago when Cotati sewage began processing at the new Rohnert Park treatment plant. The land is now used only as a corporation yard.

Mrs. Gray said the Myrtle Avenue property would be a safer park location and would be more accessible to children. She said federal park development funds may be available for the project and that the Cotati Little League has agreed to help in building a baseball diamond there.

Mayor Geoffre Dunham said he would look into the offer in greater detail and report back to the council on Aug. 2.

The Cotati City Council Also:

POOL — Rejected the request of the parks and recreation commission to establish a swimming pool development fund. Councilmen said plans should be drawn and cost estimates made before a formal fund is established.

POLICE FEES — Heard Police Chief Thomas Gray report the Rohnert Park City Council denied his request to lower the dispatching fee to Cotati from $1,000 to $750 per month. The council directed him to get cost estimates on dispatching services from the Sonoma County sheriff's department and to see if Cotati could possibly start its own dispatching work.

CAR — Voted to allow the police department to retain an old patrol car as a third vehicle for use in routine transportation.

APPOINTMENTS — Named Renee Jones and Daniel Andreotti to the Police Advisory Committee.

FEES — Agreed to the request of the planning commission to study the setting of fees for environmental assessment reports and design reviews.

MEETING — Adjourned to the next regular meeting on Aug. 2 at 7:30 p.m.

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Egypt called on the Security Council today for "collective security" by the United Nations against Israel.

Confusing Day For The Dollar Sees It Up, Down, Uncertain

LONDON (UPI) — The U.S. dollar had a confused day today on world money markets. It took a beating in West Germany, was up on a number of European markets and Tokyo and was uncertain on others. Mostly it was higher.

Gold also rose, sharply in London but only marginally in some other markets.

In Frankfurt the dollar dropped 1.03 per cent during the day, and the closing price was 2.31 marks, down from yesterday's close of 2.334. In Tokyo it brought 265.30 yen, up from yesterday's 265.20 yen.

France's two-tiered money market was typical of the confusion which was the order of the day. By the end of the exchange market day the commercial dollar was up and the financial dollar down.

The financial dollar, used by tourists and unofficial dealers, closed at a mid-point of 4.0625 French francs to the dollar. yesterday's closing price was 4.088 francs.

But the commercial dollar, used for foreign trade, was fixed at a mid-point of 4.0725 francs, up from 4.04 on yesterday.

The dollar rose in value in Vienna and Copenhagen. It lost value in London, Brussels and Zurich.

Dealers said some of the day's market uncertainty was not unusual for Friday trading, before the weekend closure of money markets. One London dealer also spoke of "some nervousness" in the markets.

On the big London bullion market, gold gained $1 to $116 an ounce at the morning price setting. Yesterday it dropped $4.50.

Dealers said they saw nothing unusual in the exchange rate fluctuations today.

"I would judge this as normal profit-taking," said a Paris trader. A German dealer described trading there as "absolutely normal." London brokers said the markets were quiet, as usual on a Friday.

In Frankfurt, the dollar bought 2.3440 marks today, up from yesterday's close of 2.3340 marks.

Early trading pushed the dollar slightly higher in London, to $2.5335 to the pound.

The American currency opened .62 per cent higher in Brussels, at 36.10 Belgian francs. It was also higher in Amsterdam at 2.59 guilders, compared with yesterday's closing of 2.5825.

"People who bought dollars yesterday, driving the dollar up, are selling them today," the Paris dealer said in explaining the slight morning decline.

The dollar climbed yesterday in European markets, gaining an average of 1.5 per cent during the day, after a week of declines.

Money men said they would watch the dollar's performance in trading today to see if the trend to reverse the dollar's long downward slide holds.

They said the foreign exchange markets were more affected by other financial moves than by President Nixon's Phase Four economic plans and the announcement the United States had been intervening in money markets since July 10.

These moves, they said, included purchases by the West German government bank of $10.3 million yesterday.

It also included the Bank of England's order to British banks to place one per cent of their deposits in accounts with the government bank, a step withdrawing $475 million in potential inflation-causing loan funds.

Wheat Deal Tip Denied By Official

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A former Agriculture Department official who helped negotiate a $1 billion grain deal with the Soviet Union testified today he did not give any advance tipoff to the company he later joined as a vice president and which made the biggest sales of wheat.

Clarence Palmby, a former assistant agriculture secretary, appeared at the opening of hearings by the Senate Investigations Subcommittee on handling of the 1972 grain deal — almost all of it wheat. He insisted he did not, himself, negotiate the deal, although he has been identified in the past as one of the principals.

The subcommittee chairman, Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., said he had evidence that the Agriculture Department misled American farmers on the scope of the sale.

Between the time the deal was negotiated early last year and sales were made starting in the summer, Palmby joined Continental.

Palmby testified: "I did not at any time, before or after leaving the government, impart to Continental Grain any information which I obtained in my official capacity."

He also said it was not true that farmers were kept in the dark about the grain deal, noting that in several speeches last spring he said such a sale might be possible.

Palmby told the subcommittee he had "no responsibility at Continental Grain for trading grain.

Hub Man Is Jailed In Theft Probe

Fairfax police arrested a San Anselmo man on suspicion of burglary and auto theft early today shortly after someone broke into a San Anselmo gas station and sped away in a car locked' inside, smashing through the firm's lube room door.

Billy Dean Trumble, 18, of 849 San Anselmo Avenue, was booked into Marin County Jail and held to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Police said they arrested Trumble on Sir Francis Drake Avenue about 1 a.m. today as he was changing a flat tire on a car stolen minutes before from Bob's Arco, 100 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Central State Jails Are Filled By UFW Pickets

FRESNO, Calif. (UPI) — The jails of three central California farm counties have been filled with about 1,000 farm workers arrested for illegal picketing of grape fields.

Two days of mass arrests ended late yesterday when pickets of Cesar Chavez' United Farm Workers Union left vineyards where they had been demonstrating to dramatize demands for renewed recognition of the union by growers.

The arrests were made in Fresno, Tulare and Kern counties in the latest stage of a running battle between the UFW and the Teamsters Union to represent field hands. The Teamsters have signed contracts with many growers in California who had work pacts with the UFW since 1970 covering grape pickers.

Thousands of farm workers defied court orders against picketing to mass at farm entrances and along dusty vineyard roads to demonstrate support for the Chavez Union. The pickets waved signs in English and Spanish and held aloft the black eagle banner of the union, but were generally peaceful.

Kern County Sheriff's Capt. Koren Fote said that 397 pickets arrested Wednesday had filled the county jails and no more demonstrators were picked up yesterday.

In Fresno County, assistant Sheriff A. Papaleo estimated that between 400 and 450 pickets were arrested yesterday.

Tulare County sheriff's deputies reported that about 150 of an estimated 400 pickets were arrested at two farms.

Chavez had told a rally outside the Kern County Jail in Bakersfield that "we hope to put 1,500 in jail" during the demonstration.

The confrontation between the UFW and the giant Teamsters Union began earlier this year in the vineyards of the Coachella Valley in Southern California. The dispute has moved northward in the nation's largest farm producing state along with the start of harvesting.

Tax Limit Plan Wins Support

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The influential California Taxpayers Association, a business-oriented lobbying group, has endorsed Gov. Ronald Reagan's tax limitation ballot initiative.

"Anything which forces the state officials to evaluate all spending programs is to the benefit of the taxpayers," association president Mack J. Easton said yesterday.

Reagan's plan, scheduled for a special statewide election Nov. 6, would place a gradually declining ceiling on the amount of revenue the state could collect from taxpayers based on personal income. Reagan maintains it would reduce the total tax burden by 20 per cent over 15 years.

Mardian Thought That Nixon Knew

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Robert C. Mardian, a key Nixon campaign official, testified today he was told shortly after the Watergate bugging that the raid was just part of a wide-ranging espionage operation authorized and approved by President Nixon.

Mardian, appearing for a second day before the Senate Watergate Committee, also said he had been told at that time that John N. Mitchell, former attorney general and Nixon campaign manager, knew of the bugging operation in advance and authorized a $250,000 intelligence-gathering budget from which it was financed.

But Mardian told the senators he "didn't put much credence" in allegations of Nixon's involvement and "could be mistaken" about what he remembers hearing about Mitchell.

In another morning Watergate development, G. Gordon Liddy, serving a maximum 20-year prison term for his part in the Watergate break-in, refused to even take the oath before a congressional committee, and Rep. Lucien D. Nedzi, D-Mich., said he would be cited "as soon as practicable" for contempt of Congress.

Liddy has been cited by Judge John Sirica for refusing to testify before the Watergate grand jury after Sirica issued an immunity grant.

Nedzi's subcommittee is investigating possible relationships between the Watergate affair and the CIA.

Mardian, a close friend of Mitchell's for many years, was an assistant attorney general in charge of the Justice Department's Internal Security Division until May, 1972, when he joined the Nixon campaign as a Mitchell deputy. He denied any involvement in the Watergate affair other than as a lawyer after the June 17, 1972 bugging arrests.

As part of those duties, he said, he talked at length within a few days with G. Gordon Liddy —then the finance counsel to the Nixon campaign who was convicted last January as the alleged mastermind of the bugging plot.

He said Liddy —without saying so directly —had left him with the clear impression that the operation had the express authority of the President.

"Mr. Liddy told you that the Watergate was an ongoing project that had the full authority of the President?" said Sen. Edward J. Gurney, R-Fla., asking Mardian to elaborate on similar testimony yesterday.

"No, I don't believe I said Watergate, sir," Mardian replied. "I said that the operations of the group with which he was working had been an ongoing operation of which Watergate was one."

Mardian testified yesterday that Liddy had told him the same group had performed "other jobs" successfully with presidential approval —including the September, 1971, burglary of the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist and the spiriting away from Washington of controversial ITT lobbyist Dita Beard.

"I didn't put any credence in that when he told me other than I did when he told me he had shredded $100 bills," Mardian said.

In the same conversation, Mardian said, Liddy told him that Mitchell had authorized a $250,000 budget for political intelligence and espionage —the schemes that hatched Watergate.

"Maybe the use of the word 'budget' is wrong," Mardian said. "He may have said it was 'financed' with the approval of Mr. Mitchell and the White House ...

"I wasn't believing much of it. I was taking it as defensive statements justifying his conduct."

But, Mardian said, he didn't press Liddy for details because he was "in shock" about the broad picture of political espionage that Liddy was painting.

It was not until the nationally televised Senate hearings began two months ago, Mardian testified, that he was told Mitchell had known of the bugging —this time by campaign colleague Frederick C. LaRue, who testified to the committee earlier this week.

He said LaRue —who denied any prior knowledge in his sworn testimony —had told him in a telephone conversation that he did know about Watergate.

"Did you ask him if John (Mitchell) knew?" asked Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga.

"He said 'Bob, I don't think I said that.' Now, I could be mistaken, but I'm giving you my best recollection."

Questioned by Sen. Lowell Weicker, R-Conn., Mardian complained that he had tried to discuss possible involvement of other Nixon re-election officials in the Watergate when Clark MacGregor became campaign director, but that MacGregor brushed him off.

Logging Plan Opponents Challenged

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Sen. John A. Nejedly, R-Walnut Creek, yesterday challenged the Planning and Conservation League for withdrawing its support of his forest practices legislation now before the Legislature.

The league, which represents 4,500 persons and more than 90 civic and conservation groups, announced Tuesday it was in opposition to Nejedly's measure SB529 and another bill (A B227) by Assemblyman Edwin L. Z'Berg, D-Sacramento.

"The reason for our opposition is that neither bill offers sufficient guarantee that the public interest will be protected in the management of our forests," the group said in a statement.

Nejedly said the proposed legislation was supported by the Sierra Club and the timber industry. He said it was both in the public interest and fair to the industry.

"I feel that the legislation does offer sufficient guarantee that the public interest will be protected in the management of our forests," the senator said.

The league charged that the bills did not require public hearings on timber cutting plans and environment impact reports and called for only a maximum 25-day period between the time a cutting plan was filed and approved.

In a statement Nejedly said, "It is true that the proposed legislation does not require a public hearing on each of the estimated 2,500 timber harvesting plans expected to be filed every year. Such a requirement would be time consuming for the board, costly, and unnecessary."

Nejedly also said the proposed bill does not require environmental impact reports. "However, the requirement to prepare an environmental impact report is contained in the California Environmental quality Act of 1970. The requirements of the Environmental Quality Act are in no way affected by the proposed forest practices legislation," Nejedly said.

On the 25-day period, Nejedly said the legislation specifies "or such longer period as may be mutually agreed upon between the State Forester and the person submitting the plan."

Indians Exempted From Montana Tax

HELENA, Mont. (UPI) — The Montana Department of Revenue said yesterday it will no longer collect state income taxes from reservation Indians.

The decision, based on a recent U.S. Supreme Court ruling, affects 27,000 Indians who are enrolled members of tribes and work on reservations.

Court Hears Hub Parking Ticket Case

The trial of a San Anselmo man who has amassed 19 traffic citations for parking in front of his house reached the midway point yesterday as City Atty. Hadden W. Roth rested the prosecution's case against Dean C. Boyd.

Roth contended that Boyd has broken city laws by leaving his car all night in front of his Oak Avenue home since overnight parking there is forbidden.

Marin Municipal Court Judge Gary W. Thomas agreed to hear defense testimony on July 24.

Boyd, of 16 Oak Avenue, claims he has been the target of police harrassment, that officers have singled him out for citations without ticketing other motorists who violated the same ordinance.

His attorney, James Quick, argued yesterday that legal precedent guarantees equal enforcement of laws against all violators and said his client should be acquitted, but Thomas halted the case before he could present defense witnesses.

Boyd, whose case has received wide publicity, estimated that he has received more than 150 parking tickets in the past three years.

Two Deny Pot Smoking In Jail Cell

Two inmates reportedly caught smoking marijuana in Marin County jail have been ordered to appear in Marin Municipal Court.

Edward John Bonadeo, 25, of Greenbrae, serving six months in jail for burglary, pleaded innocent to the narcotics charge yesterday before Judge Gary W. Thomas and was ordered to return to court July 26 for a preliminary hearing.

Eric Ansley Van Horn, in jail for driving without a license and violating probation for a manslaughter conviction, wil. be arraigned July 27.

The district attorney's office said Bonadeo and Van Horn, 22, of Mill Valley, were seen smoking marijuana in the jail's trusty room on May 25 by jail officers.

The deputies said they confiscated a small amount of marijuana and a pipe made out of a cardboard toilet paper roll.

Satanist Inmate Sues Over Bias

HOUSTON (UPI) — An inmate at the Texas prison at Huntsville filed a federal suit against state prison officials yesterday saying inmates were denied their constitutional right to worship the devil.

Fredrick R. Brown Sr., serving a 15-year term for armed robbery, said prison officials have persecuted inmates because of their belief in Satan, and placed some of them in solitary confinement.

Santa Cruz Slay Trial Postponed

SANTA CRUZ (UPI) — The trial of mass murder suspect Herbert Mullin was postponed yesterday until July 30.

Superior Court Judge Charles Franich, who ordered jury selection behind closed doors, said the postponement was to allow Santa Cruz County Dist. Atty. Peter Chang to recover from a recent appendectomy.

COMMANDING — Maj. Gen. Elvy Benton Roberts has been named commanding general for the Sixth Army, headquartered at the Presidio of San Francisco. He will assume command in ceremonies July 26, succeeding Lt. Gen. Richard G. Stilwell. Roberts has been in Vienna serving as a representative to the U.S. delegation on the Warsaw Pact negotiations.

Troublesome Time In Novato City Hall

Public Works Director Clifford Temps resigned effective Aug. 1, but already is off the job.

Parks and Recreation Director Edward W. Adams has announced he plans to leave city employ in September or October.

A recently formed citizen committee, Novato Citizens for Change, has called for the ouster of City Mgr. Charles A. Brown, which has been refused by unanimous vote of the city council.

Both police and public works departments are under the direction of acting heads while a new police chief and public works director are sought. Meanwhile, agitation by the citizen group for removal of Brown has not died out.

DEPARTURE of three city department heads within a matter of a few months obviously poses a problem. That problem is not made simpler by dissension over the city manager.

As things stand, Novato's city council members are powerless to do much about the situation.

They are powerless because Novato's city manager ordinance puts all control of hiring and firing in the hands of the manager. He chooses the department heads.

It is argued that the manager, who must direct the day-to-day work of city employees, needs to have hiring and firing authority so that his orders will not be ignored. It is argued that the manager, a professional in public administration, is better qualified than the elected councilmen to select staff members. Both of these arguments have some validity.

It is argued also that putting appointment in the city manager's hands "removes politics" from the appointive process. This has little validity. What it does is to substitute one type of politicking for another; the hired manager may be as much of a politician as the elected council members.

BUT THE MAJOR weakness in having all city hiring and firing removed from council control is demonstrated by the present situation in Novato: When the manager himself is somewhat lacking in public confidence, it is extremely difficult for him to inspire confidence in his choice of appointees.

Police Chief Klemme and Public Works Director Temps were both appointed by Brown. But a long series of disputes between Brown and the police chief preceded Klemme's resignation. The city manager was publicly scolded by the council for his delay in reporting these difficulties to councilmen themselves.

It seems unfair to City Manager Brown to expect him to rebuild the city administration by his own appointments at the same time he is under fire.

It seems a shirking of their obligation to the voters for the city council members to preserve a "hands-off" attitude in such a situation.

Council, manager and public would all be better served if the Novato ordinance were changed to give the elected governing board a share in the responsibility for selecting city department heads.

Marin's Lippitt Suggests Solutions To Nonlearning

By RUS WALTON

Californians are pretty generous to their schools.

Just about 28 per cent of the state's $9.4 billion budget this year will go for public education, K-12. That comes to $2.6 billion.

Politicians like to take credit for allocating those funds. The taxpayers should take the credit for picking up the tab.

In the five years since 1969-70, while student enrollment declined 800,000, the state's portion of the public school budget has increased by more than $1 billion.

With such a tremendous increase in tax monies, you would expect a commensurate increase in quality and achievement. Right?

Well, John Lippitt, of Larkspur in Marin County, says, "Wrong, wrong, wrong!"

MR. LIPPITT dropped us a note the other day. He swears "Johnny can't add; neither can he subtract, nor multiply, nor divide, nor — horrors, work with fractions.

"And, Johnny can't read. He is unable to comprehend the wording of a math problem, much less its solution."

Mr. Lippitt should know whereof he speaks. For more than 25 years he has been teaching at San Francisco City College, a two-year institution. One of his classes is "remedial math" for college — repeat, college — freshmen.

Lippitt gives his students a midterm test; a relatively simple exam. Questions such as:

(1) Write in words the following number: 345.06; (2) Round off to hundredths: 5.435; (3) Subtract 28.310699 from 387.4501; (4) Find the greatest common divisor and reduce the fraction to its lowest terms: 781/994, or (5) 7-2-3+7-4+6-7+4+3+8+5-9 =.

Not too tough. Surely a college freshman should make close to the perfect test score of 40 points.

Hah! In one of Lippitt's recent classes the top score was 30. The next highest was 22. From there on things went to pot until the scores reached Zero. The class average was 12.

"IT HAS BEEN my experience that a majority of students are unwilling to complete, or even commence, daily assignments. Such work as they do, when submitted, usually has the appearance of having been dredged up from the city dump. Despite repeated warnings, many of them cut classes at will . . ."

The underlying fault, contends Lippitt, lies with the "educational philosophy holding sway in our state. In its elemental essence it embodies Big Brother enforcing compulsory school attendance until grade 12, or age 16.

"As in so many other aspects of our time, the introduction of compulsion seems to offer little more than a guarantee of failure."

Today, writes Lippitt, the burdens of such un-education are being forced up the line past the high schools to the free junior colleges. He suggests the "visionary ideal of a college education for everyone regardless of qualification or temperament is filled with more holes than a doughnut shop."

LIPPITT SUGGESTS a couple of solutions:

Refuse community college admission to those who fall below cutoff levels on entrance tests (if they really want to qualify, they can take remedial courses at high school night classes).

Charge a reasonable tuition (so much per unit). Then, perhaps, allow a refund of all or part of that fee upon award of an AA degree.

Old John Lippitt allows as how "self-serving 'spokesmen' for the educational monopoly — including the teachers' association" will howl at his suggestions. So what? Lippitt isn't concerned.

"I gaze down from those wondrous heights where tenure reigns supreme. If they can't fire a teacher for attacking a coed in front of the class, as is likely the case, how can someone be canned for revealing what is most assuredly true — and the public's business to boot?"

Sic 'em, Mr. Lippitt!

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Roaming Dogs And An Injured Doe

At 3 a.m. the morning of the 17th of July, I was awakened by the agonized bellowing of a deer which was being attacked by dogs. It went on for about five minutes and then it was silent. At 11 a.m. I went down into the canyon below our house to find the deer which I thought had been killed. I found a little doe lying in the creekbed with a gaping wound in the hind quarters (the tail almost torn off) and bite marks on the neck. She was alive. She had been nursing a fawn. I stayed with her until she died at 1 p.m. During that time I both cursed the dogs and their owners and cried because there was nothing I could do for the poor beast. At 1:30 p.m. the Humane Society, which I had called earlier, came to drag her up out of the canyon and into the truck.

I hope that the people who own dogs that were loose on that night and any other night or day read this and feel just a twitch of guilt about the suffering they caused. I hope that the law will pass which will fine the owner of the dog caught in attacking a deer $50. I hope the fawn of the deer that was killed will survive.

County Is Morally Committed To Plaintiff

We are told that the County of Marin, in order to cover completely its legal position in their suit against the redevelopment plan for San Rafael, needed and received the name and help of Mr. Joaquin Gallardo as a plaintiff in their complaint.

Now, however, the county or the junior college district have no more need for Mr. Gallardo. They may be considering even ending their legal support for Mr. Gallardo even though he, as a representative of (1) a county homeowners association, (2) the human rights commission and (3) a Spanish-speaking element of Marin County, has not abandoned his concerns about redevelopment in San Rafael.

Mr. Gallardo did not attack redevelopment in his San Rafael City Council appearance, but he did question whether redevelopment in San Rafael would address problems concerned with people other than those connected with the business community. He appeared to be a reasonable man.

Whatever the future holds I would hope the County of Marin would honor its moral and ethical commitments as well as Mr. Gallardo has.

Is Mixing Up Sexes Really What's Wanted?

Have you who are urging more and more equality and togetherness of boys and girls in all things considered what you will ultimately gain if you win the "Little League Battle" and other similar endeavors?

We've raised a son and a daughter. Each of them and their marriage partner had, and now has, fields in which they excel . . . They don't choose constant togetherness and equality in all things. They'd all four resent it being forced on them, as would my husband and I . . .

Our daughter was far more athletic than her brother all through school, but now she would not like to leave her husband and children to go fly helicopter medical evacuation as her brother did in Vietnam. Oh, yes, she could learn!

Neither man would like to keep the home fires burning while his mate was on hazardous duty earning a living in the Arctic, as our son-in-law does. The young people chose their roles and their arrangement; they wouldn't like a forced change between the sexes . . .

You think mixing up the boys and the girls in Little League will make them free and equal? Go ahead, mix 'em up; combine the YMCA and the YWCA, Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, etc. etc. — and when little girls become young ladies, don't cry "Foul!" or tell them to use tears and hysterics when they face the fact of war and their role in it! It's happened elsehwere and remember, parents and girls, you wanted the sexes to be equal!

Sure, they can do a lot of things equally as well as each other, now and as adults — but is this really what we want for our girls?

VIRGINIA KOEHLER

Dogs Come Off Well Compared To Humans

This is to protest that revolting letter in re dog control and dogs as potential food by P. Jeanmonod. If it was a put-on the total bad taste was still a horror.

My wife and I have one companion who loves us as we do him; who worries about our welfare; who warns strangers who don't pass the smell test that he is prepared to defend us and his home if they try any monkey business; who needs no fence, leash or other enforcement, to keep him at home because it's the nicest place and it's his responsibility; who has never bitten anyone or destroyed any property; and who generates no complaints about his natural functions.

Do I have to say that I'm talking about a dog, -most dogs in fact? What other form of life will give so much for so little? Certainly not some brat from an unhappy home who gets a kick out of teasing and hurting dogs and cats and then gets his or her deserts in return. There are probably some sick dogs just as there are innumerable sick people, but I think it's the people who raise bad dogs and children, too, who need the regulation and guidance, not their victims.

Can you imagine dogs torturing and killing their own kind in the fashion that homo sapiens have found expedient for a variety of reasons including "peace"? When I look at human history I find it impossible to be indignant about the misdeeds of some unfortunate stray dog. As for killing wild deer and other creatures named by P.J., no band of dogs could ever approach the depredations of our brave hunters armed with shotgun or rifle. How many of them would venture forth if the license included the right to shoot each other? Come to think of it, that's not such a bad idea . . .

TODAY'S WORLD

"Look! We've just listened to the news, the traffic reports and the stock market summary. Count your blessings, man!"

THE NEEDLE

By HAROLD COFFIN

First, the good news. Thanks to inflation, there now are 161,250 millionaires in this country.

Now the bad news. Due to high prices, 210,229,750 of you folks are not millionaires.

Quickest way for an American boy to join the millionaire ranks is by being a professional athlete.

The easiest way for a woman to make a million is by divorcing a millionaire. Hardest way for her to make it is by staying married to one.

A fellow doesn't know whether to envy all those millionaires or feel sorry for them because money can't buy happiness.

While You're Not Watching, Congressmen Raise Their Pay

WASHINGTON — The reason you missed the story about the controversy over the congressional pay raise is because there was no controversy, so there was no story. While you had your eye on the Ervin committee over here, over there the Senate was unanimously passing the bill to clear the way for raises this fall for members of Congress, federal judges, presidential appointees and high-level career bureaucrats.

Despite the current concern about inflation, the legislators make a reasonable case for a raise, since their last one was in 1969, and in that period the cost of living has been going up about 5 per cent a year. What is interesting to taxpayers who are unable to vote themselves raises, however, is how congressional and other federal pay increases compare with those in private life over the past decade. That, and the machinery Congress keeps devising to make it look as if its raises really originate somewhere else.

TEN YEARS AGO, senators and congressmen made $22,500 a year — in straight salary, that is, exclusive of their rather generous fringe benefits. Today they are paid $42,500, or 89 per cent more than a decade back. They are now moving to permit a hike probably to $50,000 as of Oct. 1, or Jan. 1 if that effort should fail.

From 1962 to last year, median family income in the nation went up from $5,956 to $11,116, which is roughly the same percentage of increase as for congressmen, to date. It also preserves the same proportion, in which a congressman earns not quite four times what the average family does. If the congressional salary jumps to $50,000 later this year, the lawmakers will be opening up a still wider lead.

However justified this legislator-to-average-citizen ratio may be, the members of Congress are understandably embarrassed when they have to vote to increase their own paychecks. This is particularly true in election years.

THUS, SIX YEARS AGO, Congress set up a "quadrennial commission" to recommend salaries for both houses, for judges and high executive branch officials. The President would review those recommendations and include pay raises in his budget if he agreed with them. The President's proposals would become law in 30 days unless Congress vetoed them. In this way congressmen would get their raises without having to take any affirmative action on their own behalf.

At that time there was some argument. Sen. Mike Monroney said, for example, "When the time comes for Congress to raise its salaries, the problems should be faced up to and voted upon affirmatively, for all the world to see. Back-door methods of pay increases are not to be tolerated . . ." But the "commission" method was in the final bill and passed easily. Monroney, parenthetically, was defeated in his next re-election campaign in Oklahoma.

By the "commission" technique, Congress got a raise to its current pay level via President Johnson's 1969 budget message. But Mr. Nixon, whose relations with the capitol have been sourer and sourer, either intentionally or accidentally failed to appoint his commission in time for another quadrenniel raise in his budget submitted last January.

WHAT THE SENATE has now passed so expeditiously, and the House likely will pass the same way, is a bill to set aside the quadrennial commission system, and have a new pay boost proposal sent up by the end of August. If Congress fails to veto the raise, which is fairly predictable, it will go into effect Oct. 1.

Having this experience of missing one pay boost because of the quadrennial method, Congress is moving now toward a biennial commission report — in off years, of course. Thus it will get more raises, but they can be smaller, and that will look better back home.

As the Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee report put it, "The quadrenniel arrangement offers the particular disadvantage that when pay increases are authorized, they have been so long in coming that their magnitude invites criticism . . . more modest though more frequent adjustments are not only more equitable to the members but more easily understood by the Congress' constituency."

Cold War Won't Be Banished By Falsification Of History

WASHINGTON — While diplomats are working more earnestly than ever to make the cold war go away, New Left historians in the United States are preaching that it was just all a myth that Russia was setting out to build a Communist empire in Europe.

Book after book, article after article have been flowing from the revisionist "scholars" seeking to indoctrinate the nation into believing:

That the United States government invented the cold war.

That it would never have happened if we had not threatened the Soviet Union by building a massive military establishment after World War II and by holding the atomic bomb over their heads.

That the purpose of all this was somehow to rescue American capitalism from itself.

IN SOME WAYS it's too bad this isn't true! If it were true, then an instant, triumphant success at the ongoing European Security Conference, at which Russian, European, American and Canadian statesmen are seeking to dissolve the cold war, would be the easiest thing in the world.

If the cold war were invented by the western nations in order to undermine the Soviet Communists and prevent the Russians from taking over theretofore independent countries, which they never really wanted but were pushed into by the United States, then the only thing necessary to wipe the cold war from the face of the earth is for the West to say: "So sorry, our mistake."

But the thesis of the New Left "historians" will not stand up because they are seeking to make history tell a lie.

The truth is that, weary at the end of the war and expecting that Moscow would honor its agreements at Yalta, the United States quickly — and unwisely — dismantled its powerful military establishment after the fighting was over. The Soviet Union didn't.

THE UNITED STATES did not begin to rebuild its military strength until the Kremlin took over one nation after another throughout eastern Europe — imposing its rule by force and shedding its commitments to its wartime Allies to permit free elections.

The United States offered to destroy under inspection its nuclear weapons if Russia would agree not to build nuclear weapons. The Soviet Union refused.

Only after invading Communist forces were seeking to drag Greece behind the Iron Curtain, seize the Dardanelles and put Turkey under its domination did the United States move to organize NATO to protect western Europe.

When it was clear beyond doubt that the economies of Western Europe could not rise from the ashes of war without help, the U.S. government called on the resources of capitalism to provide the sinews of the Marshall Plan. This gift of some $12 billion wasn't "rescuing American capitalism"; it was rescuing Europe from being the further prey of Soviet expansion.

I THINK THAT if Americans have to choose between the revisionists and the visionists, they will take the architects of American resistance to Soviet Communist expansionism. They were, among others, Presidents Roosevelt, Truman and Eisenhower and Dean Acheson, George Marshall, Sen. Arthur Vandenberg — and Winston Churchill.

Fortunately the revisionists are being called to account after having a free run for years. In his "The New Left and the Origins of the Cold War," Prof. Robert James Maddox, who teaches history at Pennsylvania State University, puts seven revisionist books under the microscope of accuracy. Rice University Prof. Francis Loewenhein makes this report in his New York Times review:

"The results are devastating. Maddox finds these books filled with systematic omissions, unwarranted insinuations, misstatements of fact, gross misrepresentation and quotations wrenched out of context" — plus a double-standard of criticism: Russia's actions always justified, America's actions always "found wanting."

Perhaps the Russians did have something to do with the cold war and it will take two to bring it to an end.

Troublesome Time In Novato City Hall

Public Works Director Clifford Temps resigned effective Aug. 1, but already is off the job.

Parks and Recreation Director Edward W. Adams has announced he plans to leave city employ in September or October.

A recently formed citizen committee, Novato Citizens for Change, has called for the ouster of City Mgr. Charles A. Brown, which has been refused by unanimous vote of the city council.

Both police and public works departments are under the direction of acting heads while a new police chief and public works director are sought. Meanwhile, agitation by the citizen group for removal of Brown has not died out.

DEPARTURE of three city department heads within a matter of a few months obviously poses a problem. That problem is not made simpler by dissension over the city manager.

As things stand, Novato's city council members are powerless to do much about the situation.

They are powerless because Novato's city manager ordinance puts all control of hiring and firing in the hands of the manager. He chooses the department heads.

It is argued that the manager, who must direct the day-to-day work of city employees, needs to have hiring and firing authority so that his orders will not be ignored. It is argued that the manager, a professional in public administration, is better qualified than the elected councilmen to select staff members. Both of these arguments have some validity.

It is argued also that putting appointment in the city manager's hands "removes politics" from the appointive process. This has little validity. What it does is to substitute one type of politicking for another; the hired manager may be as much of a politician as the elected council members.

BUT THE MAJOR weakness in having all city hiring and firing removed from council control is demonstrated by the present situation in Novato: When the manager himself is somewhat lacking in public confidence, it is extremely difficult for him to inspire confidence in his choice of appointees.

Police Chief Klemme and Public Works Director Temps were both appointed by Brown. But a long series of disputes between Brown and the police chief preceded Klemme's resignation. The city manager was publicly scolded by the council for his delay in reporting these difficulties to councilmen themselves.

It seems unfair to City Manager Brown to expect him to rebuild the city administration by his own appointments at the same time he is under fire.

It seems a shirking of their obligation to the voters for the city council members to preserve a "hands-off" attitude in such a situation.

Council, manager and public would all be better served if the Novato ordinance were changed to give the elected governing board a share in the responsibility for selecting city department heads.

Marin's Lippitt Suggests Solutions To Nonlearning

By RUS WALTON

Californians are pretty generous to their schools.

Just about 28 per cent of the state's $9.4 billion budget this year will go for public education, K-12. That comes to $2.6 billion.

Politicians like to take credit for allocating those funds. The taxpayers should take the credit for picking up the tab.

In the five years since 1969-70, while student enrollment declined 800,000, the state's portion of the public school budget has increased by more than $1 billion.

With such a tremendous increase in tax monies, you would expect a commensurate increase in quality and achievement. Right?

Well, John Lippitt, of Larkspur in Marin County, says, "Wrong, wrong, wrong!"

MR. LIPPITT dropped us a note the other day. He swears "Johnny can't add; neither can he subtract, nor multiply, nor divide, nor — horrors, work with fractions.

"And, Johnny can't read. He is unable to comprehend the wording of a math problem, much less its solution."

Mr. Lippitt should know whereof he speaks. For more than 25 years he has been teaching at San Francisco City College, a two-year institution. One of his classes is "remedial math" for college — repeat, college — freshmen.

Lippitt gives his students a midterm test; a relatively simple exam. Questions such as:

(1) Write in words the following number: 345.06; (2) Round off to hundredths: 2.435; (3) Subtract 28.310699 from 387.4501; (4) Find the greatest common divisor and reduce the fraction to its lowest terms: 781/994, or (5) 7-2-3+7-4+6-7+4+3+8+5-9 =.

Not too tough. Surely a college freshman should make close to the perfect test score of 40 points.

Hah! In one of Lippitt's recent classes the top score was 30. The next highest was 22. From there on things went to pot until the scores reached Zero. The class average was 12.

"IT HAS BEEN my experience that a majority of students are unwilling to complete, or even commence, daily assignments. Such work as they do, when submitted, usually has the appearance of having been dredged up from the city dump. Despite repeated warnings, many of them cut classes at will . . ."

The underlying fault, contends Lippitt, lies with the "educational philosophy holding sway in our state. In its elemental essence it embodies Big Brother enforcing compulsory school attendance until grade 12, or age 16.

"As in so many other aspects of our time, the introduction of compulsion seems to offer little more than a guarantee of failure."

Today, writes Lippitt, the burdens of such un-education are being forced up the line past the high schools to the free junior colleges. He suggests the "visionary ideal of a college education for everyone regardless of qualification or temperament is filled with more holes than a doughnut shop."

LIPPITT SUGGESTS a couple of solutions:

Refuse community college admission to those who fall below cutoff levels on entrance tests (if they really want to qualify, they can take remedial courses at high school night classes).

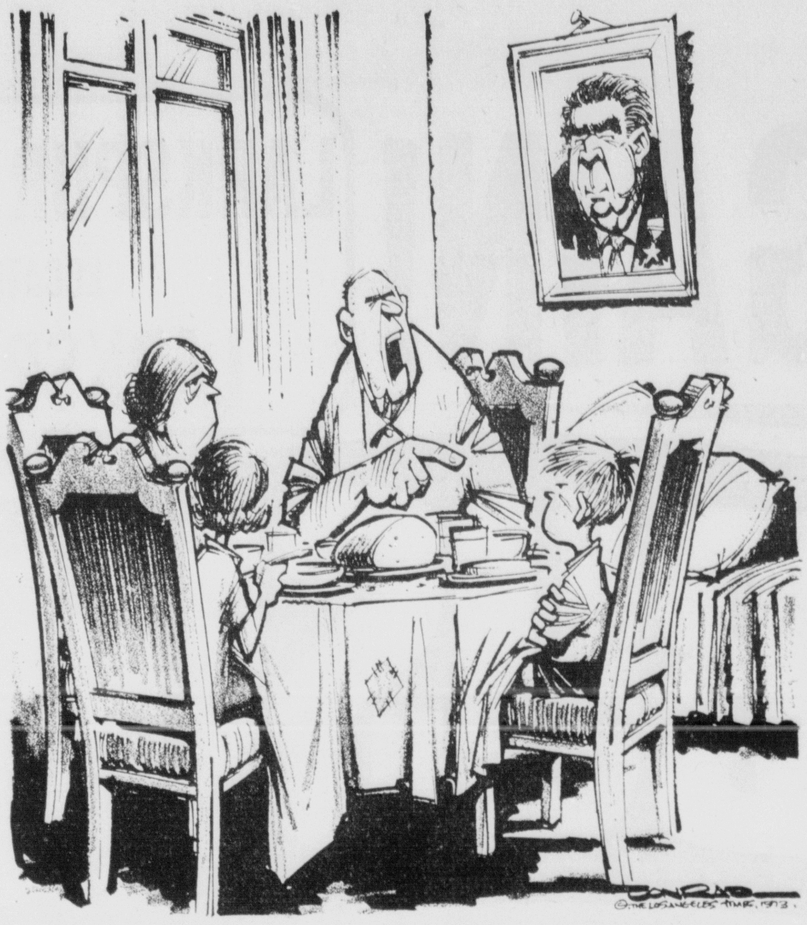
Charge a reasonable tuition (so much per unit). Then, perhaps, allow a refund of all or part of that fee upon award of an AA degree.

Old John Lippitt allows as how "self-serving 'spokesmen' for the educational monopoly — including the teachers' association" will howl at his suggestions. So what? Lippitt isn't concerned.

"I gaze down from those wondrous heights where tenure reigns supreme. If they can't fire a teacher for attacking a coed in front of the class, as is likely the case, how can someone be canned for revealing what is most assuredly true — and the public's business to boot?"

Sic 'em, Mr. Lippitt!

"As a presidential dark horse for 76, the Secret Service would like to check your house for security costs."



"Ivan, eat your bread! Think of all those starving Americans."

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Roaming Dogs And An Injured Doe

At 3 a.m. the morning of the 17th of July, I was awakened by the agonized bellowing of a deer which was being attacked by dogs. It went on for about five minutes and then it was silent. At 11 a.m. I went down into the canyon below our house to find the deer which I thought had been killed. I found a little doe lying in the creekbed with a gaping wound in the hind quarters (the tail almost torn off) and bite marks on the neck. She was alive. She had been nursing a fawn. I stayed with her until she died at 1 p.m. During that time I both cursed the dogs and their owners and cried because there was nothing I could do for the poor beast. At 1:30 p.m. the Humane Society, which I had called earlier, came to drag her up out of the canyon and into the truck.

I hope that the people who own dogs that were loose on that night and any other night or day read this and feel just a twitch of guilt about the suffering they caused. I hope that the law will pass which will fine the owner of the dog caught in attacking a deer $50. I hope the fawn of the deer that was killed will survive.

County Is Morally Committed To Plaintiff

We are told that the County of Marin, in order to cover completely its legal position in their suit against the redevelopment plan for San Rafael, needed and received the name and help of Mr. Joaquin Gallardo as a plaintiff in their complaint.

Now, however, the county or the junior college district have no more need for Mr. Gallardo. They may be considering even ending their legal support for Mr. Gallardo even though he, as a representative of (1) a county homeowners association, (2) the human rights commission and (3) a Spanish-speaking element of Marin County, has not abandoned his concerns about redevelopment in San Rafael.

Mr. Gallardo did not attack redevelopment in his San Rafael City Council appearance, but he did question whether redevelopment in San Rafael would address problems concerned with people other than those connected with the business community. He appeared to be a reasonable man.

Whatever the future holds I would hope the County of Marin would honor its moral and ethical commitments as well as Mr. Gallardo has.

Is Mixing Up Sexes Really What's Wanted?

Have you who are urging more and more equality and togetherness of boys and girls in all things considered what you will ultimately gain if you win the "Little League Battle" and other similar endeavors?

We've raised a son and a daughter. Each of them and their marriage partner had, and now has, fields in which they excel . . . They don't choose constant togetherness and equality in all things. They'd all four resent it being forced on them, as would my husband and I . . .

Our daughter was far more athletic than her brother all through school, but now she would not like to leave her husband and children to go fly helicopter medical evacuation as her brother did in Vietnam. Oh, yes, she could learn!

Neither man would like to keep the home fires burning while his mate was on hazardous duty earning a living in the Arctic, as our son-in-law does. The young people chose their roles and their arrangement; they wouldn't like a forced change between the sexes . . .

You think mixing up the boys and the girls in Little League will make them free and equal? Go ahead, mix 'em up; combine the YMCA and the YWCA, Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, etc. etc. — and when little girls become young ladies, don't cry "Foul!" or tell them to use tears and hysterics when they face the fact of war and their role in it! It's happened elsehwere and remember, parents and girls, you wanted the sexes to be equal!

Sure, they can do a lot of things equally as well as each other, now and as adults — but is this really what we want for our girls?

Dogs Come Off Well Compared To Humans

This is to protest that revolting letter in re dog control and dogs as potential food by P. Jeanmonod. If it was a put-on the total bad taste was still a horror.

My wife and I have one companion who loves us as we do him; who worries about our welfare; who warns strangers who don't pass the smell test that he is prepared to defend us and his home if they try any monkey business; who needs no fence, leash or other enforcement, to keep him at home because it's the nicest place and it's his responsibility; who has never bitten anyone or destroyed any property; and who generates no complaints about his natural functions.

Do I have to say that I'm talking about a dog, most dogs in fact? What other form of life will give so much for so little? Certainly not some brat from an unhappy home who gets a kick out of teasing and hurting dogs and cats and then gets his or her deserts in return. There are probably some sick dogs just as there are innumerable sick people, but I think it's the people who raise bad dogs and children, too, who need the regulation and guidance, not their victims.

Can you imagine dogs torturing and killing their own kind in the fashion that homo sapiens have found expedient for a variety of reasons including "peace"? When I look at human history I find it impossible to be indignant about the misdeeds of some unfortunate stray dog. As for killing wild deer and other creatures named by P.J., no band of dogs could ever approach the depredations of our brave hunters armed with shotgun or rifle. How many of them would venture forth if the license included the right to shoot each other? Come to think of it, that's not such a bad idea . . .

THE NEEDLE

By HAROLD COFFIN

First, the good news. Thanks to inflation, there now are 161,250 millionaires in this country.

Now the bad news. Due to high prices, 210,229,750 of you folks are not millionaires.

Quickest way for an American boy to join the millionaire ranks is by being a professional athlete.

The easiest way for a woman to make a million is by divorcing a millionaire. Hardest way for her to make it is by staying married to one.

While You're Not Watching, Congressmen Raise Their Pay

WASHINGTON — The reason you missed the story about the controversy over the congressional pay raise is because there was no controversy, so there was no story. While you had your eye on the Ervin committee over here, over there the Senate was unanimously passing the bill to clear the way for raises this fall for members of Congress, federal judges, presidential appointees and high-level career bureaucrats.

Despite the current concern about inflation, the legislators make a reasonable case for a raise, since their last one was in 1969, and in that period the cost of living has been going up about 5 per cent a year. What is interesting to taxpayers who are unable to vote themselves raises, however, is how congressional and other federal pay increases compare with those in private life over the past decade. That, and the machinery Congress keeps devising to make it look as if its raises really originate somewhere else.

TEN YEARS AGO, senators and congressmen made $22,500 a year — in straight salary, that is, exclusive of their rather generous fringe benefits. Today they are paid $42,500, or 89 per cent more than a decade back. They are now moving to permit a hike probably to $50,000 as of Oct. 1, or Jan. 1 if that effort should fail.

From 1962 to last year, median family income in the nation went up from $5,956 to $11,116, which is roughly the same percentage of increase as for congressmen, to date. It also preserves the same proportion, in which a congressman earns not quite four times what the average family does. If the congressional salary jumps to $50,000 later this year, the lawmakers will be opening up a still wider lead.

However justified this legislator-to-average-citizen ratio may be, the members of Congress are understandably embarrassed when they have to vote to increase their own paychecks. This is particularly true in election years.

THUS, SIX YEARS AGO, Congress set up a "quadrennial commission" to recommend salaries for both houses, for judges and high executive branch officials. The President would review those recommendations and include pay raises in his budget if he agreed with them. The President's proposals would become law in 30 days unless Congress vetoed them. In this way congressmen would get their raises without having to take any affirmative action on their own behalf.

At that time there was some argument. Sen. Mike Monroney said, for example, "When the time comes for Congress to raise its salaries, the problems should be faced up to and voted upon affirmatively, for all the world to see. Back-door methods of pay increases are not to be tolerated . . ." But the "commission" method was in the final bill and passed easily. Monroney, parenthetically, was defeated in his next re-election campaign in Oklahoma.

By the "commission" technique, Congress got a raise to its current pay level via President Johnson's 1969 budget message. But Mr. Nixon, whose relations with the capitol have been sourer and sourer, either intentionally or accidentally failed to appoint his commission in time for another quadrenniel raise in his budget submitted last January.

WHAT THE SENATE has now passed so expeditiously, and the House likely will pass the same way, is a bill to set aside the quadrennial commission system, and have a new pay boost proposal sent up by the end of August. If Congress fails to veto the raise, which is fairly predictable, it will go into effect Oct. 1.

Having this experience of missing one pay boost because of the quadrennial method, Congress is moving now toward a biennial commission report — in off years, of course. Thus it will get more raises, but they can be smaller, and that will look better back home.

As the Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee report put it, "The quadrenniel arrangement offers the particular disadvantage that when pay increases are authorized, they have been so long in coming that their magnitude invites criticism . . . more modest though more frequent adjustments are not only more equitable to the members but more easily understood by the Congress' constituency."

Bulldozing More Attractive For Moderate-Income Homes

How long would it have taken the Mill Valley City Council to approve the final plans for Shelter Ridge if they hadn't included the moderate-income housing development, Shelter Hill?

Throughout the recent hearings on the development projects left to be completed on Shelter Ridge, it seemed as if the developer, Securities of America, Inc., dangled Shelter Hill like a carrot under the city's nose.

Since all the projects were part of the same master plan, the council was forced to take Shelter Ridge if it wanted to get Shelter Hill — a project which the council has long endorsed.

"We suggested to the developer that they should be separately reviewed," said Douglas P. Ferguson, attorney for the nonprofit Interfaith Housing Foundation which sponsored Shelter Hill. "But his attorney said 'no.' "

WITHOUT THE DEVELOPER'S permission, the only way to split the plans was for the Interfaith Housing Foundation to buy the land, for the $72,000 asking price, from Securities of America. This is impossible, said Ferguson, until the project gets its funding and begins construction, which could start this fall.

The relationship between Shelter Ridge and Shelter Hill goes back to 1969 when the city asked Securities of America to provide some moderate-income housing in the Shelter Ridge development. The developer eventually agreed to sell a site for the project to the Interfaith Housing Foundation, who applied for a loan for the project from the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

The Shelter Ridge developers then won city approval and set off merrily on their way to bulldoze and build on a hill overlooking Highway 101.

BUT BECAUSE of construction delays, the 1969 approval expired before the development was completed, and the developer was forced to reapply for some project approvals, including those for Shelter Hill, which had been bogged down in federal red tape.

Suddenly, the developer was faced with going back through the hearing process while faced with adamant opposition from residents, particularly those from the Enchanted Knolls area, who were aghast at the 104 townhouses already built.

So Securities of America clung tightly to Shelter Hill for the salvation of the single-family homes, duplexes and apartments it still wants to build on Shelter Ridge.

At a recent master plan hearing on the project, Enchanted Knolls resident Beverly Schneir protested that it looked "as though to get that development (Shelter Hill) you're being pressured into accepting the other part of Shelter Ridge."

No one was really able to tell her she was wrong.

The incident could teach a lesson to other developers. When involved with a socially conscious council, promise a moderate-income housing project and you might smooth the path for the rest of your development.

Charges Being Pondered After Drug Raid Arrest

A Stinson Beach man arrested on suspicion of drug offenses is going to have to wait a while to learn what, if anything, he is to be accused of.

No charge has been filed in Marin Municipal Court against Ronald L. Rakow, arrested Monday. The district attorney's office said it needs more time to analyze hundreds of pills and capsules believed to be LSD and amphetamines seized in Rakow's home.

Rakow, 35, surrendered to sheriff's deputies about four hours after officers, armed with a search warrant, entered his hillside house at 220 Belvedere Avenue.

Inside the house, deputies reportedly found two 18-year-old Massachusetts youths — who were later released — and a variety of drugs, including a large plastic bag of suspected marijuana and numerous pills.

In a bedroom closet were more than 100 sealed envelopes, each containing six different pills and capsules, officers said.

While they were searching the house, Rakow telephoned and was told of the raid. His attorney then called and arranged for Rakow's surrender, officers said.

Rakow was reported to have been business manager of the Grateful Dead at one time, but a spokesman for the band said yesterday he no longer works for the group.

Ironically, the raid was not aimed at seizing drugs but at an alleged forged airline ticket scheme, officers reported. They said they obtained the warrant after Rakow was linked with two men arrested in Santa Clara County who were part of an operation involving more than 700 airline tickets stolen in Milwaukee.

United Sued Over Women's Weight

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Air Line Pilots Association charged yesterday that United Air Lines discriminates against its stewardesses by imposing weight standards.

In a suit filed in federal court, the union, which represents more than 15,000 stewardesses employed by the major airlines, said, "United has unilaterally established, maintained and enforced arbitrary weight standard requirements based upon sex for females who are employed by United as stewardesses."

Apollo 11's Giant Leap

The voice came from a quarter of a million miles away, just 4 years ago today: "Houston . . . Tranquility Base here. The Eagle has landed." Science fiction had become fact. COUNTY COMMENT

Comparing Budgets And Dollars Shows Runaway County Costs

If you would like the experience of making a comparison of the cost of county government 20 years ago and now, here is what to do:

Divide the budget (something over $5 million) by the population then. The result will be the per capita cost. Now divide the budget for this fiscal year (over $50 million) by the population. Again, the answer you will get is the per capita cost — now.

The next step is to determine what the then-dollar would be worth now —the domestic, not the foreign exchange value. So, if you will take the per capita cost for 1953 and use a 5 per cent inflation factor per year for the 20 years you will have an equity for comparison. In round figures, you should show a 300 per cent increase in cost per capita, beyond the inflation of the dollar.

Quite likely you will be told by some that federal and state programs, over which the boards of supervisors had no control, are largely responsible. That is begging the question.

The insistence on keeping up with what's-his-name — not only keeping up, but way ahead of him with a golden throne room and abdication of authority by the gents sitting in the regal chairs, is where the major cause resides.

THIS FROM THE Wednesday issue of the I-J: At the meeting of the transit board last Tuesday (supervisors are part of the panel), Arrigoni responding to Giacomini's effort to cut service on some bus routes said that "Giacomini and his administrative aide were on a 'personal vendetta' against the bridge district and were using the transit district as a tool."

The article went on to say that Giacomini has been a strong critic of the bridge district and his administrative aide, Judy Ainsworth, worked for a private bus firm which accused the bridge district of forcing it out of business.

Some weeks ago, in discussing the study of the supervisorial districting, I said that we really didn't have one man, one vote that the Warren Court ruled should be obtained. This is an example.

Did you vote for Giacomini — those of you in districts 1, 2, 3, or 5? Did you vote for him to have an administrative aide? Of course not!

WONDER A BIT about this one: In the June 26 agenda of the board of supervisors meeting: "Item 9 —Supervisor Giacomini request for BOS support of Agricultural Advisory Committee for increase in milk prices. Draft letter."

The two words "Draft Letter" indicated that the letter was to be rubber-stamped at the board meeting (which it was, without fanfare). Now if his administrative aide typed that, a lulu of a situation prevails, i.e., you voted for the supervisor if you lived in district 4 (or you had an opportunity to). If you live in district 1, 2, 3 or 5, it's a cinch you didn't. Nor did any of you vote for Giacomini to have him pay off an election debt by appointing his campaign manager as his aide. Of course not! So none of you authorized that the lady be appointed to write a draft letter to be sent to Sacramento urging that the price of milk for you and your family be raised. Like it or not, you are paying for her salary of $960 a month to boost your cost of living. Nice — what?

Kiwanis Club Donates $100 To Boys' School

The Ross Valley Kiwanis Club has announced a donation of $100 to St. Vincent's School for Boys as a part of the club's annual presentation of awards.

The money will be used to purchase new books for the school library, according to Father James T. Keane, school director.

The Kiwanis awards are supported by donations to the annual Kiwanis Marin County All-Star Football Game, to be held this year on Aug. 18 at 1 p.m. in the San Rafael High School stadium.

Other awards being given by the club include $50 bonds to two outstanding high school students in vocational education, a $100 bond to one vocational student chosen from the Tamalpais Union High School district, an award to an outstanding student at Marin Catholic High School, and one to a police cadet enrolled in the College of Marin police science program.

Bulldozing More Attractive For Moderate-Income Homes

How long would it have taken the Mill Valley City Council to approve the final plans for Shelter Ridge if they hadn't included the moderate-income housing development, Shelter Hill?

Throughout the recent hearings on the development projects left to be completed on Shelter Ridge, it seemed as if the developer, Securities of America, Inc., dangled Shelter Hill like a carrot under the city's nose.

Since all the projects were part of the same master plan, the council was forced to take Shelter Ridge if it wanted to get Shelter Hill — a project which the council has long endorsed.

"We suggested to the developer that they should be separately reviewed," said Douglas P. Ferguson, attorney for the nonprofit Interfaith Housing Foundation which sponsored Shelter Hill. "But his attorney said 'no.' "

WITHOUT THE DEVELOPER'S permission, the only way to split the plans was for the Interfaith Housing Foundation to buy the land, for the $72,000 asking price, from Securities of America. This is impossible, said Ferguson, until the project gets its funding and begins construction, which could start this fall.

The relationship between Shelter Ridge and Shelter Hill goes back to 1969 when the city asked Securities of America to provide some moderate-income housing in the Shelter Ridge development. The developer eventually agreed to sell a site for the project to the Interfaith Housing Foundation, who applied for a loan for the project from the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

The Shelter Ridge developers then won city approval and set off merrily on their way to bulldoze and build on a hill overlooking Highway 101.

BUT BECAUSE of construction delays, the 1969 approval expired before the development was completed, and the developer was forced to reapply for some project approvals, including those for Shelter Hill, which had been bogged down in federal red tape.

Suddenly, the developer was faced with going back through the hearing process while faced with adamant opposition from residents, particularly those from the Enchanted Knolls area, who were aghast at the 104 townhouses already built.

So Securities of America clung tightly to Shelter Hill for the salvation of the single-family homes, duplexes and apartments it still wants to build on Shelter Ridge.

At a recent master plan hearing on the project, Enchanted Knolls resident Beverly Schneir protested that it looked "as though to get that development (Shelter Hill) you're being pressured into accepting the other part of Shelter Ridge."

No one was really able to tell her she was wrong.

The incident could teach a lesson to other developers. When involved with a socially conscious council, promise a moderate-income housing project and you might smooth the path for the rest of your development.

Charges Being Pondered After Drug Raid Arrest

A Stinson Beach man arrested on suspicion of drug offenses is going to have to wait a while to learn what, if anything, he is to be accused of.

"No charge has been filed in Marin Municipal Court against Ronald L. Rakow, arrested Monday. The district attorney's office said it needs more time to analyze hundreds of pills and capsules believed to be LSD and amphetamines seized in Rakow's home.

Rakow, 35, surrendered to sheriff's deputies about four hours after officers, armed with a search warrant, entered his hillside house at 220 Belvedere Avenue.

Inside the house, deputies reportedly found two 18-year-old Massachusetts youths — who were later released — and a variety of drugs, including a large plastic bag of suspected marijuana and numerous pills.

In a bedroom closet were more than 100 sealed envelopes, each containing six different pills and capsules, officers said.

While they were searching the house, Rakow telephoned and was told of the raid. His attorney then called and arranged for Rakow's surrender, officers said.

Rakow was reported to have been business manager of the Grateful Dead at one time, but a spokesman for the band said yesterday he no longer works for the group.

Ironically, the raid was not aimed at seizing drugs but at an alleged forged airline ticket scheme, officers reported. They said they obtained the warrant after Rakow was linked with two men arrested in Santa Clara County who were part of an operation involving more than 700 airline tickets stolen in Milwaukee.

United Sued Over Women's Weight

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Air Line Pilots Association charged yesterday that United Air Lines discriminates against its stewardesses by imposing weight standards.

In a suit filed in federal court, the union, which represents more than 15,000 stewardesses employed by the major airlines, said, "United has unilaterally established, maintained and enforced arbitrary weight standard requirements based upon sex for females who are employed by United as stewardesses."

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Joe's In Downtown San Rafael Is Hallmark For Quality, Quantity

You can be sure of it — there will always be a Joe's restaurant.

That's a comfortable name — Joe's. It tells you something — more than say Charlies or Hals or Toms. Whoever the Joe was that first put up his sign has long been forgotten, I imagine — though somewhere, someone may lay claim to that accomplishment. If so, honors to him. He started something.

No matter how imposing the outside of a Joe's may be — and there are some fancy ones — you know you can relax completely inside and, more often than not, enjoy good food. If the place doesn't measure up to that last statement it won't be around long. There's a sort of unwritten requirement that goes with the name and anyone who uses it takes on a responsibility for quality that he may not fully appreciate until it's too late.

Warning to restaurateurs: If you are considering opening a Joe's, make sure you can live up to it or you'll go for broke.

One Joe's that has been around for a long time — a score or more years — on Fourth Street is San Rafael Joe's. Obviously it had to do something more than make a good hamburger or steak sandwich to develop the following it has, although I'll admit its steaks are a big attraction. Actually its menu is one of those great big affairs that make good reading to work up an appetite. And by the time you get through with it, you may be panting with hunger and go overboard.

Play it cool. You won't need a double order here, even if your stomach tells you so. You'll get all you can eat in one, particularly if you have one of San Rafael Joe's salads with it. I've never known Hector Rubini or Guido Farina to be chintzy in their servings and I'm sure thousands of Marinites will join in an "amen" to that.

Almost a requirement for a successful Joe's restaurant is that it should be owner-operated. At San Rafael Joe's just about the entire family is in the act. Not just the wives, Nancy Rubini and Teresa Farina are there, but often cousins and members of the second generation. This could become a dynasty.

There will always be a Joe's — a San Rafael Joe's, anyway.

A FIRST ANNIVERSARY in business will soon be celebrated by Robert Mushet and Bill Hoxie, who opened The Brig restaurant at Stinson Beach a year ago on Aug. 5.

All in all, it's been a good year for them and they plan to continue this operation, which is now down for both lunches and dinners seven days a week through the summer. This schedule should go on at least through September. Hours are from 11:30 a.m. to 10 p.m. If you're out that way and have picked up a salt air appetite, drop by.

Menu features such things as New England clam chowder, spaghetti, ravioli and lasagne, a number of salads and sandwiches and a whole line of pizzas in all sizes. Dinners, served from 6 p.m. include chicken teriyaki, salmon steaks in season, New York and pepper steaks and occasional specials.

There are beers on tap and a number of bottled imports, house wines by the bottle, decanter and glass and champagnes.

You'll find The Brig on Highway 1 at the north edge of town.

ONLY ABOUT HALF THAT LONG in business, but also doing quite well up Petaluma way, is the Villa Lido at 508 Petaluma Boulevard South.

Owners Lido Masini and Nello Miele specialize in Italian dishes, with steaks and a few other items for variation. This is a "dinners only" restaurant, open every night except on Tuesdays.

OMELETS, SANDWICHES OR BUFFET These are the lunch attractions of chef and co-owner Bernard Epstein at Le Tonneau in Corte Madera.

If your interest lies more in going there later in the day, Le Tonneau offers a "Happy Hour" with free hors d'oeuvres from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. Tuesdays through Fridays. And every Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday night you'll find a special complete dinner served at $3.95.

AMATEUR NIGHT at the pubs is a frequent event in England, according to Barry Oldham of San Rafael's Mayflower Inn. So he and partner Ron Patnaude will try one next Friday night, July 27.

If you sing, play the teaspoons or crack your knuckles in three-quarter time or have some other talent, here's your chance to perform. To accompany you there will be regular Friday night pianist John McLarnon and he's good on the keys. Performance starts at 8:30 p.m.

If this sort of thing develops enough interest, Friday amateur night may become a regular occurrence here.

LEON D. ADAMS of Sausalito, author of the fascinating new "Wines of America" mentioned in this column last week, will conduct an informal seminar, answer questions on wine and autograph his book at the Bourbon Shops of Marin store in the Cove Shopping Center on Blackfield Drive, Tiburon on Saturday, July 28. He'll be there from 2 to 5 p.m.

Once again — whether you're a wine connoisseur, hobbyist or plain amateur, you'll find a wealth of valuable information in Adams' work, which entailed years of research. I already have and I'm only half way through the book.

IN A FEW DAYS it will be vacation time again for Michel Braud and Roger Minhondo at the Normandie in San Rafael. They will close the restaurant from July 25 and reopen at the end of August. Another trip to their native France, I imagine.

IT GAVE ME PLEASURE to note in the June issue of California Critic (a sort of monthly survey of restaurants and wines in different areas) that there was favorable mention of two restaurants which have often been covered in this column — Maurice et Charles Bistrot in San Rafael and Gregory's on the Mendocino coast at Albion.

Incidentally, Gregory's, formerly closed on both Monday and Tuesday, is now open for dinners on Mondays. This is proving to be a good day for Gregory and Mary Alyce Seubert, since some other restaurants in the area are closed on Mondays. So, if you're making an extended weekend trip up that way, drop in.

Gregory has long since won over the coast residents with his food, just as he once did in Corte Madera.

THE 464 MAGNOLIA RESTAURANT in Larkspur continues to vary its dinner menu from night to night and week to week with many appetizing entrees. About the only way you can tell what's cooking is to phone up and ask — unless you've got a wide range of likes and are willing to gamble that one of the day's specials will be among them.

Protection Is Sought For Endangered Grizzlies

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Alarmed by Interior Department reports that fewer than 1,000 grizzly bears are left in the United States, Rep. William Whitehurst proposed yesterday measures to protect the animal.

The Virginia Republican said he asked Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton to place the Grizzly on the endangered species list and to bar Grizzly hunting in national forests.

High-powered rifles, steel-jawed traps and poison have "largely eliminated this symbol of wild America from the western United States," Whitehurst said.

"Even in supposedly protected areas such as Yellowstone, the Grizzly has suffered disastrously high death rates which may be caused by 'managing the bear,'" he said.

"Those bears relocated to other areas of surrounding national forests often fall prey to trophy hunters in Montana and Wyoming where it is fair game," Whitehurst said. "Unfortunately the bear can't identify park boundaries."

Whitehurst said the Grizzly may already be extinct in Mexico. He said the bear was believed extinct in Mexico in 1962.

"However, a few years later a remaining population of 30 to 40 was found," he said.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Joe's In Downtown San Rafael Is Hallmark For Quality, Quantity

You can be sure of it — there will always be a Joe's restaurant.

That's a comfortable name — Joe's. It tells you something — more than say Charlies or Hals or Toms. Whoever the Joe was that first put up his sign has long been forgotten, I imagine — though somewhere, someone may lay claim to that accomplishment. If so, honors to him. He started something.

No matter how imposing the outside of a Joe's may be — and there are some fancy ones — you know you can relax completely inside and, more often than not, enjoy good food. If the place doesn't measure up to that last statement it won't be around long. There's a sort of unwritten requirement that goes with the name and anyone who uses it takes on a responsibility for quality that he may not fully appreciate until it's too late.

Warning to restaurateurs: If you are considering opening a Joe's, make sure you can live up to it or you'll go for broke.

One Joe's that has been around for a long time — a score or more years — on Fourth Street is San Rafael Joe's. Obviously it had to do something more than make a good hamburger or steak sandwich to develop the following it has, although I'll admit its steaks are a big attraction. Actually its menu is one of those great big affairs that make good reading to work up an appetite. And by the time you get through with it, you may be panting with hunger and go overboard.

Play it cool. You won't need a double order here, even if your stomach tells you so. You'll get all you can eat in one, particularly if you have one of San Rafael Joe's salads with it. I've never known Hector Rubini or Guido Farina to be chintzy in their servings and I'm sure thousands of Marinites will join in an "amen" to that.

Almost a requirement for a successful Joe's restaurant is that it should be owner-operated. At San Rafael Joe's just about the entire family is in the act. Not just the wives, Nancy Rubini and Teresa Farina are there, but often cousins and members of the second generation. This could become a dynasty.

There will always be a Joe's — a San Rafael Joe's, anyway.

A FIRST ANNIVERSARY in business will soon be celebrated by Robert Mushet and Bill Hoxie, who opened The Brig restaurant at Stinson Beach a year ago on Aug. 5.

All in all, it's been a good year for them and they plan to continue this operation, which is now down for both lunches and dinners seven days a week through the summer. This schedule should go on at least through September. Hours are from 11:30 a.m. to 10 p.m. If you're out that way and have picked up a salt air appetite, drop by.

Menu features such things as New England clam chowder, spaghetti, ravioli and lasagne, a number of salads and sandwiches and a whole line of pizzas in all sizes. Dinners, served from 6 p.m. include chicken teriyaki, salmon steaks in season, New York and pepper steaks and occasional specials.

There are beers on tap and a number of bottled imports, house wines by the bottle, decanter and glass and champagnes.

You'll find The Brig on Highway 1 at the north edge of town.

ONLY ABOUT HALF THAT LONG in business, but also doing quite well up Petaluma way, is the Villa Lido at 508 Petaluma Boulevard South.

Owners Lido Masini and Nello Miele specialize in Italian dishes, with steaks and a few other items for variation. This is a "dinners only" restaurant, open every night except on Tuesdays.

OMELETS, SANDWICHES OR BUFFET These are the lunch attractions of chef and co-owner Bernard Epstein at Le Tonneau in Corte Madera.

If your interest lies more in going there later in the day, Le Tonneau offers a "Happy Hour" with free hors d'oeuvres from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. Tuesdays through Fridays. And every Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday night you'll find a special complete dinner served at $3.95.

AMATEUR NIGHT at the pubs is a frequent event in England, according to Barry Oldham of San Rafael's Mayflower Inn. So he and partner Ron Patnaude will try one next Friday night, July 27.

keys. Performance starts at 8:30 p.m.

If this sort of thing develops enough interest, Friday amateur night may become a regular occurrence here.

LEON D. ADAMS of Sausalito, author of the fascinating new "Wines of America" mentioned in this column last week, will conduct an informal seminar, answer questions on wine and autograph his book at the Bourbon Shops of Marin store in the Cove Shopping Center on Blackfield Drive, Tiburon on Saturday, July 28. He'll be there from 2 to 5 p.m.

Once again — whether you're a wine connoisseur, hobbyist or plain amateur, you'll find a wealth of valuable information in Adams' work, which entailed years of research. I already have and I'm only half way through the book.

IN A FEW DAYS it will be vacation time again for Michel Braud and Roger Minhondo at the Normandie in San Rafael. They will close the restaurant from July 25 and reopen at the end of August. Another trip to their native France, I imagine.

IT GAVE ME PLEASURE to note in the June issue of California Critic (a sort of monthly survey of restaurants and wines in different areas) that there was favorable mention of two restaurants which have often been covered in this column — Maurice et Charles Bistrot in San Rafael and Gregory's on the Mendocino coast at Albion.

Incidentally, Gregory's, formerly closed on both Monday and Tuesday, is now open for dinners on Mondays. This is proving to be a good day for Gregory and Mary Alyce Seubert, since some other restaurants in the area are closed on Mondays. So, if you're making an extended weekend trip up that way, drop in.

Gregory has long since won over the coast residents with his food, just as he once did in Corte Madera.

THE 464 MAGNOLIA RESTAURANT in Larkspur continues to vary its dinner menu from night to night and week to week with many appetizing entrees. About the only way you can tell what's cooking is to phone up and ask — unless you've got a wide range of likes and are willing to gamble that one of the day's specials will be among them.

Protection Is Sought For Endangered Grizzlies

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Alarmed by Interior Department reports that fewer than 1,000 grizzly bears are left in the United States, Rep. William Whitehurst proposed yesterday measures to protect the animal.

The Virginia Republican said he asked Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton to place the Grizzly on the endangered species list and to bar Grizzly hunting in national forests.

High-powered rifles, steel-jawed traps and poison have "largely eliminated this symbol of wild America from the western United States," Whitehurst said.

"Even in supposedly protected areas such as Yellowstone, the Grizzly has suffered disastrously high death rates which may be caused by 'managing the bear,'" he said.

"Those bears relocated to other areas of surrounding national forests often fall prey to trophy hunters in Montana and Wyoming where it is fair game," Whitehurst said. "Unfortunately the bear can't identify park boundaries."

Whitehurst said the Grizzly may already be extinct in Mexico. He said the bear was believed extinct in Mexico in 1962.

"However, a few years later a remaining population of 30 to 40 was found," he said.

Petaluma Livestock Men Accused

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Two Petaluma livestock dealers have been charged with violating fair trade practices, conflict of interest and other violations of the federal Packers and Stockyards Act, the Department of Agriculture said today.

Tony G. Brazil and Jesse Amaral Sr. were also accused of failure to meet the act's requirements for payment and recordkeeping from January through April of 1972 in an administrative complaint from the Packers and Stockyards Administration.

The complaint states that Brazil and Amaral agreed to control prices of feeder and veal calves in the Sonoma County marketing area and restricted competition in calf purchasing by refraining from bidding against one another at three large livestock auctions.

Brazil is also accused of an additional count of restricting competition, financing meat packing, marketing and dealer business operations other than his own, failing to pay for livestock purchased and failure to maintain full and correct accounts and records.

Other charges against Amaral include: failing to pay for purchased livestock, failing to have scales at his dealer yard tested periodically to assure accurate weight, failing to let officials have access to the scales and failure to keep full and complete records.

The Agriculture Department said the complaints do not prove that the men have violated the federal act and that they can ask for a hearing on the charges.

If the charges are proven, the men would be placed under a cease and desist order and their dealer registrations could also be suspended temporarily.

ABAG Plan Predicts Heavy Development In West Marin

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The executive committee of the Association of Bay Area Governments has approved a coastline plan that would allow intensive development in a few designated areas along the 246 miles of ocean shoreline in Sonoma, Marin, San Francisco and San Mateo counties.

A spokesman said the plan adopted last night will be used as a guide for growth and development in the Bay Area and will also be used for reviewing local applications for federal assistance money.

Theassociation will also ask the Central and North Coastal Commissions to use the plan in formulating their policies.

"Relatively intense" development was recommended in the 69-page plan between Pacific and Half Moon Bay as well as Inverness, Point Reys Station, Bolinas and Stinson Beach in Marin County.

The report also recommended preserving long stretches of coastline for open space as well as farm and recreational purposes.

Army Asked For Docks Permit

A permit to install five floating docks in a tidal lagoon along Richardson Bay at Tiburon has been requested from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

Gordon Smith of 18 Captains Landing wants to build the docks along East Strawberry Drive for residents of 10 nearby homes now under construction.

Objections to the permit may be submitted in writing to the corps at 100 McAllister Street, San Francisco not later than Aug. 16.

No Charge Filed In Fracas Case

Nesbit D. Crutchfield, the vice chairman of the Marin City Council arrested on suspicion of slugging a woman with a telephone receiver, will not be charged, the Marin County district attorney's office said yesterday.

There is not enough evidence to warrant filing charges, a spokesman said.

Crutchfield, 33, was booked into county jail Sunday on suspicion of assault and battery after he allegedly hit Carolyn F. Williams of Corte Madera during an argument over the finances of the Soul Fashion Troupe.

Crutchfield has been a member of the Marin City Council — which represents tenants in public housing in Marin City — for nine months.

Communist Push Stalls In Cambodia

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Government troops and devastating U.S. air strikes halted a Communist push 10 miles southwest of Phnom Penh, but military officials said today that insurgents were attacking on all other sides of the capital.

In Phnom Penh, a bomb exploded in the Ministry of Information building today but there were no injuries. Officials had no immediate explanation for the cause of the blast but sources said it was caused by a plastic bomb with a timing device.

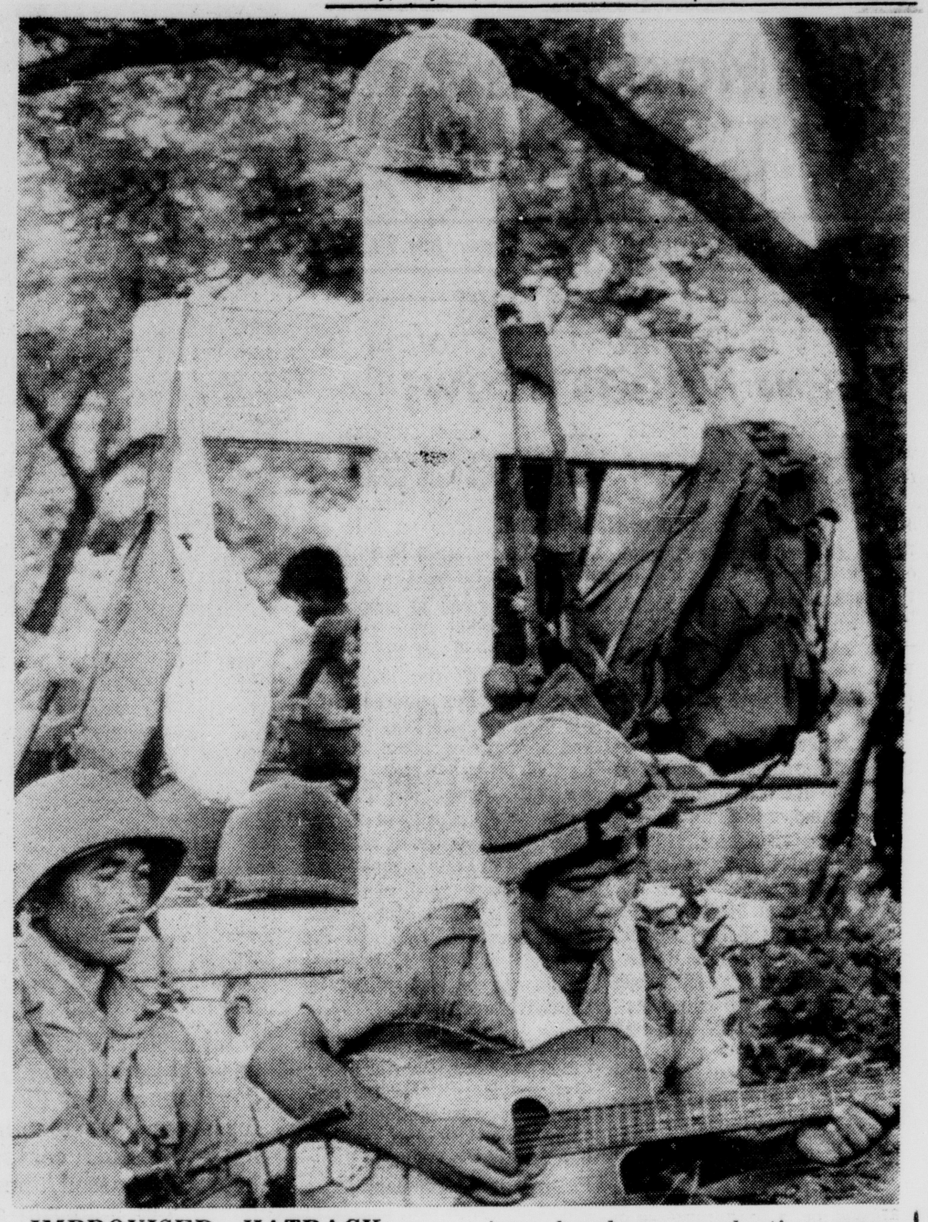
It was the first such incident in the capital since June 23, when a grenade was thrown into a cafe, killing four persons and wounding 24 others.

The infiltration, along the southwestern front near Highway 3, was stemmed for the first time since government troops evacuated their positions nearly a week ago.

Until yesterday, the Communists had gained momentum in their drive to push government troops back toward the capital. Over the past two days, furious fighting has raged in the region with government troops confined at one point to positions inside a temple.

Heavy U.S. air strikes were reported in the area yesterday by newsmen. It was the 134th consecutive day of the intensified U.S. air campaign.

Some of the bombs, field reports said, hit close to government positions in the same region where 14 Cambodian soldiers were wounded Wednesday by a bomb that fell only a few yards from government emplacements.



IMPROVISED HATRACK — Cambodian government troops hung their packs and helmets on a large cross during a break in the fierce fighting last week that led to a halt of the Communist drive toward Phnom Penh. American bombers, conducting massive raids, aided ground troops in stalling the attack to the south. The Communists, however, are still pushing in from other sides of the city.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Levi Fades Now; Recovery Expected

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. One of my equities is Levi Strauss (NYSE) purchased at the offering price of $47 and again later at $59. Recently it has been trading at around $20! In your opinion should I hold or sell? — W.J.

A. Although the decline in Levi Strauss shares has been more precipitous than that of the market as a whole, the shares appear to have recovery potential. In 1971 when earnings were $1.86 a share, the market paid as high as 34 times earnings for shares of this clothing manufacturer. With net expected to approximate $2.45 a share this year, investors are capitalizing earnings now at about 8.5 times.

Behind this very definitive reversal in investor sentiment are several factors: profit margin shrinkage, lower second-quarter earnings, slower-than-anticipated sales expansion in Europe and a sharp increase in inventory. This buildup in inventory, which was tied to the slow pace of sales in Europe, may be costly to both in borrowing expenses to support it and in possible price cuts required to work off the excess production. At the 1972 year end, inventories showed a 31 per cent increase year to year and represented about 31 per cent of sales, up from 27 per cent of sales in fiscal 1971. In the apparel industry a 20 per cent to 25 per cent ratio of inventory to sales is considered healthy. Since much of the excess is in basic blue jeans, which seem to transcend the vagaries of fashion, earnings should not be jeopardized by excessive markdowns.

Because domestic demand for Levis has been fast paced, the company is spending $35 million to increase production capacity at a time when many in the industry are cutting back. Financially the company has a sound structure with long-term debt 18 per cent of capitalization and shareholders' equity comprising 82 per cent.Current ratio stood at 2.6 to 1 and cash accounted for 6 per cent of current assets. hile the shares were formerly discounting earnings several years out, today's low multiple also appears overdone. Hold for gradual recovery.

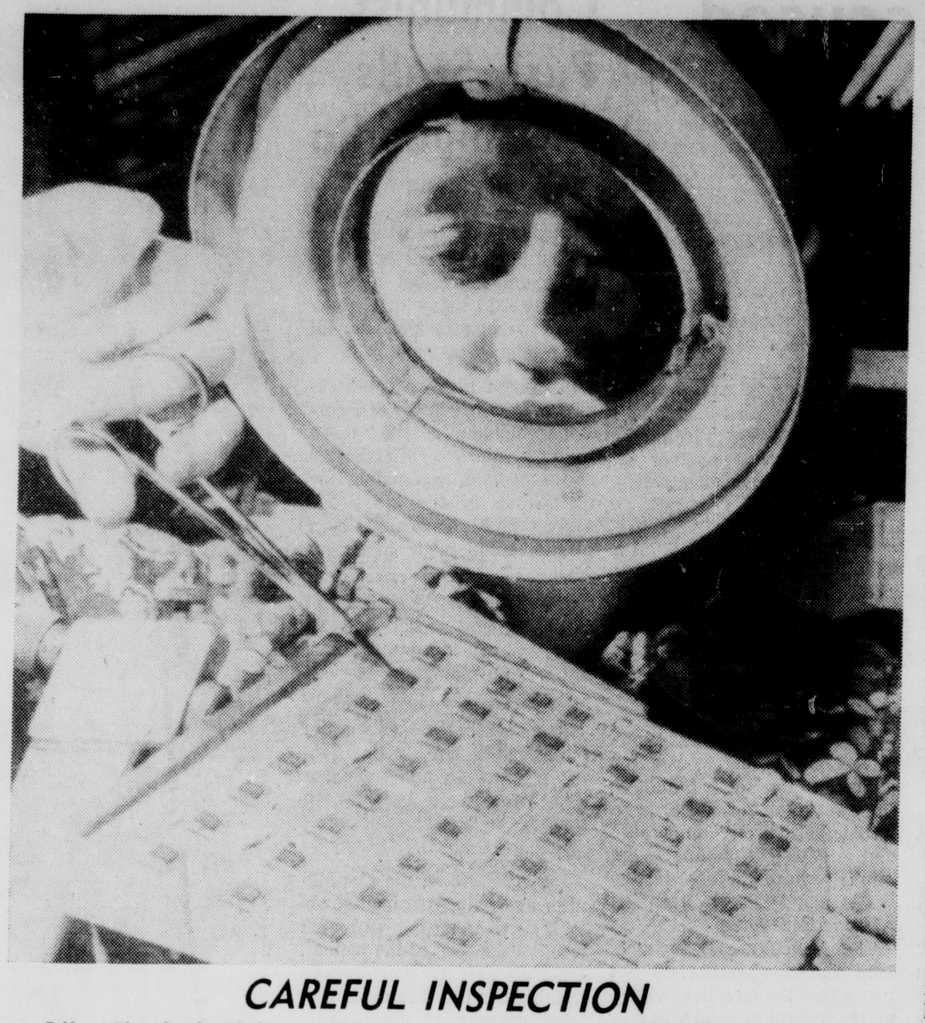
Loan Office Does No Fund Business

NEW YORK (UPI) — You can't get a loan in one of the most modern loan offices here.

The office, located deep in the sub-basement of the C.I.T. Financial Corporation Building, is a prototype or model for new branch offices that the company is adding to its 775 throughout the country. When a new office is to be opened, the floor plan and furnishings must conform to the prototype in the company's New York headquarters.



CAREFUL INSPECTION

Like Sherlock Holmes, this inspector peers through a modern-day magnifying glass searching for clues that something may be amiss in this computer circuit board. If passed, the fifty-circuit board will help run a Honeywell 316 minicomputer. This photo was taken at the firm's plant in Lanarkshire, Scotland. The same computer is being produced in the United States at the Honeywell plant in Framingham, Mass.

Stocks Gain As Second Quarter Earnings Good

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market, ignoring some adverse economic news from the government and focusing its attention on good second quarter corporate earnings, moved higher today in moderate trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

"I think the market has grown immune to bad news and is looking strongly at the second quarter earnings which have exceeded even the most optimistic predictions," Harry Laubscher of Walston & Co. said.

Investors appeared to ignore reports the consumer price index climbed again in June. They also appeared to discount Phase IV, which produced some initial confusion.

Continental Investment was the most active issue, up ¼ at 4 ⅛ on 237,900 shares, including a block of 234,000 shares at 3 ¾.

Prices gained in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange. Bowmar Instruments was the most active issue, up 1 ½ at 35 ½.

Ports In Florida Do Big Business

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — The 15 seaports in Florida recorded new highs in value of imports and exports during 1972, according to the Florida State Chamber of Commerce.

The chamber said Florida ports handled more than $2.3 billion worth of import and export goods last year, an increase of 26 per cent over 1971.

Following the decision of the Federal Reserve Board and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation to raise the ceiling on interest rates paid on savings accounts, California Canadian Bank has announced an increase in the rate paid on regular savings accounts to 5 per cent.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. One of my equities is Levi Strauss (NYSE) purchased at the offering price of $47 and again later at $59. Recently it has been trading at around $20! In your opinion should I hold or sell? — W.J.

A. Although the decline in Levi Strauss shares has been more precipitous than that of the market as a whole, the shares appear to have recovery potential. In 1971 when earnings were $1.86 a share, the market paid as high as 34 times earnings for shares of this clothing manufacturer. With net expected to approximate $2.45 a share this year, investors are capitalizing earnings now at about 8.5 times.

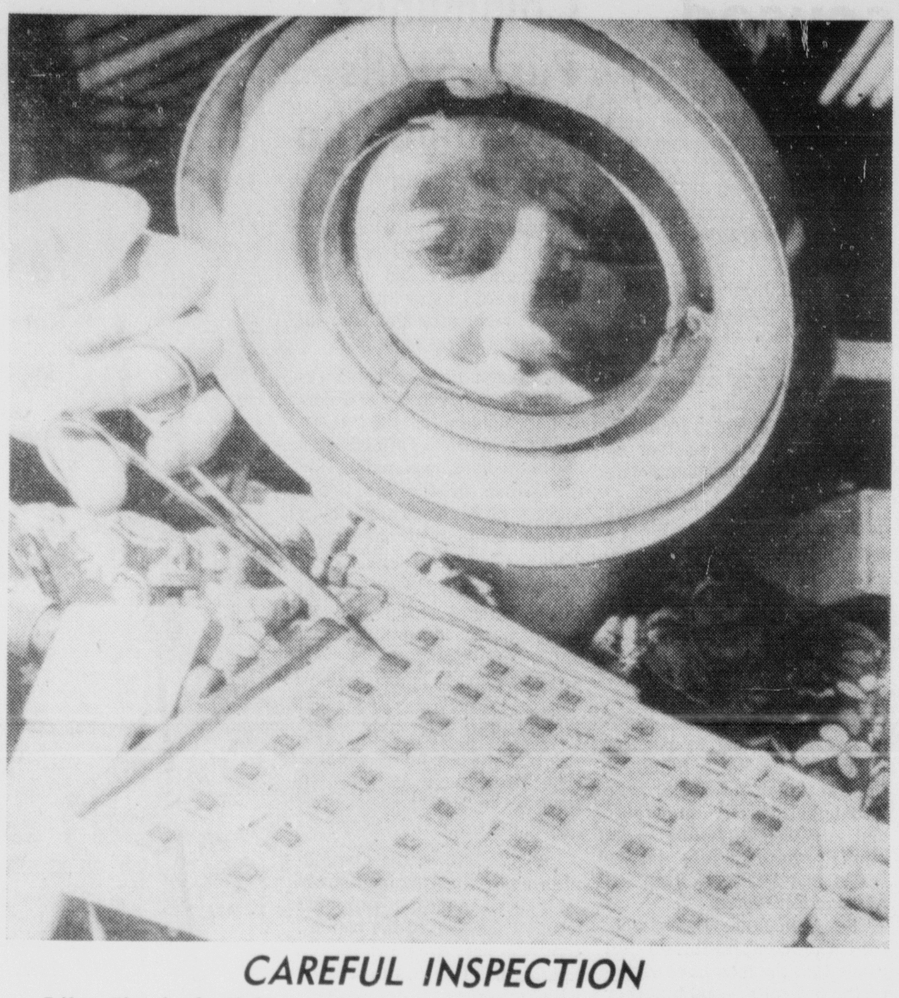
Behind this very definitive reversal in investor sentiment are several factors: profit margin shrinkage, lower second-quarter earnings, slower-than-anticipated sales expansion in Europe and a sharp increase in inventory. This buildup in inventory, which was tied to the slow pace of sales in Europe, may be costly to both in borrowing expenses to support it and in possible price cuts required to work off the excess production. At the 1972 year end, inventories showed a 31 per cent increase year to year and represented about 31 per cent of sales, up from 27 per cent of sales in fiscal 1971. In the apparel industry a 20 per cent to 25 per cent ratio of inventory to sales is considered healthy. Since much of the excess is in basic blue jeans, which seem to transcend the vagaries of fashion, earnings should not be jeopardized by excessive markdowns.

Because domestic demand for Levis has been fast paced, the company is spending $35 million to increase production capacity at a time when many in the industry are cutting back. Financially the company has a sound structure with long-term debt 18 per cent of capitalization and shareholders' equity comprising 82 per cent.Current ratio stood at 2.6 to 1 and cash accounted for 6 per cent of current assets. hile the shares were formerly discounting earnings several years out, today's low multiple also appears overdone. Hold for gradual recovery.

Loan Office Does No Fund Business

NEW YORK (UPI) — You can't get a loan in one of the most modern loan offices here.

The office, located deep in the sub-basement of the C.I.T. Financial Corporation Building, is a prototype or model for new branch offices that the company is adding to its 775 throughout the country. When a new office is to be opened, the floor plan and furnishings must conform to the prototype in the company's New York headquarters.



CAREFUL INSPECTION

Like Sherlock Holmes, this inspector peers through a modern-day magnifying glass searching for clues that something may be amiss in this computer circuit board. If passed, the fifty-circuit board will help run a Honeywell 316 minicomputer. This photo was taken at the firm's plant in Lanarkshire, Scotland. The same computer is being produced in the United States at the Honeywell plant in Framingham, Mass.

Stocks Gain As Second Quarter Earnings Good

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market, ignoring some adverse economic news from the government and focusing its attention on good second quarter corporate earnings, moved higher today in moderate trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

"I think the market has grown immune to bad news and is looking strongly at the second quarter earnings which have exceeded even the most optimistic predictions," Harry Laubscher of Walston & Co. said.

Investors appeared to ignore reports the consumer price index climbed again in June. They also appeared to discount Phase IV, which produced some initial confusion.

Continental Investment was the most active issue, up ¼ at 4 ⅛ on 237,900 shares, including a block of 234,000 shares at 3 ¾.

Prices gained in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange. Bowmar Instruments was the most active issue, up 1 ½ at 35 ½.

Ports In Florida Do Big Business

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — The 15 seaports in Florida recorded new highs in value of imports and exports during 1972, according to the Florida State Chamber of Commerce.

The chamber said Florida ports handled more than $2.3 billion worth of import and export goods last year, an increase of 26 per cent over 1971.

Following the decision of the Federal Reserve Board and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation to raise the ceiling on interest rates paid on savings accounts, California Canadian Bank has announced an increase in the rate paid on regular savings accounts to 5 per cent.

Exotic Chinese Artifacts And Porcelain At New Museum-Shop

Prince of the East, an exotic museum-shop specializing in Chinese blue and white porcelain and Southeast Asian pottery, has opened in Stinson Beach at 3472 Highway 1, next to Stinson Beach Library.

The shop, owned by Chiny Chow Grandstedt of Stinson Beach, is on the second floor above Al's Alleged Antiques. Grandstedt is a Chinese born in Thailand, where his family taught him the arts, dances, costumes and music of the Orient.

Prince of the East carries porcelain, pottery, costumes, tapestry, rugs, batik paintings, fur furniture and other Oriental antiques and gifts. It is open on weekends, and by appointment during the week.

In 1968 Grandstedt came from Thailand to Hawaii, where he taught Siamese language and culture to American Peace Corps volunteers. He came to Sacramento in 1969 and to Stinson Beach in 1970.

For the past three years, he has made several buying trips to Asia and continued his studies of Oriental culture. Grandstedt also teaches tai-chi (Chinese shadow boxing) to friends at Stinson Beach.

Kopp

CHARLES L. KOPP of Greenbrae, has been elected general counsel of West Coast Life Insurance Company, President John E. Mellen announced.

Kopp joined West Coast Life in 1969 as associate counsel, bringing with him more than 19 years of legal management experience in general corporate affairs, insurance, taxation, banking, legislation, contract negotiations, and financial law.

He holds a doctor of jurisprudence from University of Southern California School of Law and is a former faculty member in the extension division of that school.

THE OTHER PLACE, a new cocktail lounge owned by Harold E. (Hal) and Melba Matteucci, opened this week at the former Escrow bar at 114 Greenfield Avenue in San Anselmo.

Matteucci, who has operated the Knot Inn on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in San Anselmo for 13 years, bought the former Escrow bar from Clarence A. (Clem) McMartin and remodeled and refurbished the interior. He plans to remodel the exterior and pave the parking area to accommodate 25 to 30 cars. Grand opening of The Other Place is set for the first part of next month.

Joining Matteucci in the business is his son, Frank Matteucci, 21, who had been working for a vending company for the past year and a half. James Cronin and Gary Sea are bartenders at The Other Place.

Hal Matteucci was juvenile officer at the San Anselmo Police Department for five years until he bought the Knot Inn in 1960. He had hoped to name his new bar "Matteucci's" but decided against it because many of his customers refer to the Knot Inn as "Matteucci's."

"People kept asking me what I would call the other place, so I decided to name it The Other Place," explained Matteucci.

C. T. TRUAX and MIKE MORIWAKI, both of San Anselmo, have been named vice presidents of Matson Agencies Inc., newly established general agency which represents NYK Line in the western states including Hawaii and Alaska. They were also elected to the board of directors of the new company, which is a subsidiary of Matson Navigation Company.

DARIAN HAYS of Tiburon has joined the Greenbrae sales staff office of Frank Howard Allen & Co. Realtors.

Born in Texas, Hays was an I. Magnin model in San Francisco before becoming the model director for John Robert Powers School of Charm. In real estate sales for the past six years, she worked in the Strawberry office of Home & Land Company before joining Frank Howard Allen.

NATIONAL HOMES edition, the I-J's annual feature on Marin homes and apartments, will be published on Sept. 7.

We are now accepting photographs for that edition, with the deadline set for a month from now, Aug. 20. Homes, landscaping and swimming pools in Marin or Southern Sonoma (Petaluma, Rohnert Park or Cotati) will be considered for publication.

Photos submitted should be eight by ten-inch professional, black and white prints. DO NOT send snapshots, contact prints, color prints, Polaroid shots, or fuzzy enlargements.

Be sure to send caption information on each photo, describing the scene, type of construction, its architectural features, etc. We need something more than a mere "this is the living room" or "this is the swimming pool."

Photos and material must be in our hands by Aug. 20 to give us time to process the hundreds that are expected.

MILDRED HOWIE Public Relations firm in Corte Madera has been named by the Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America to handle publicity and promotion for the Greater Bay Area chapter portions of the new Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon for muscular dystrophy.

Warning: Oven Mitt Dangerous

The California State Department of Consumer Affairs warned consumers today of a dangerous "oven mitt" called "Deluxe decorator style oven mitt, Benhar Manufacturing co., City of Commerce."

Tested by the Department, the mitts, made of polypropylene (but mislabeled as cotton) melts at 310 degrees and chars at 350 degrees. The mitt shrinks as it melts, conforming and sticking to the hand, making it difficult to remove and can seriously burn the wearer.

The California State fire marshal alerted the Department of Consumer Affairs to the dangerous mitts after a Sacramento housewife was burned while removing an item from her oven.

SHOCK — Six Marin youngsters stare in horror at a thing to be revealed next Saturday and Sunday, when "The Secret of Snake Pit Swamp" is performed at 4:30 p.m. in the amphitheater of the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross. The "scared" children were caught at recent dress rehearsal of the 75-member cast by photographer James J. Brophy.

Youngsters' Thriller To Go On Stage

"The Secret of Snake Pit Swamp" will be presented by the Art and Garden Unit of Junior Theatre of Marin on July 28-29 at 4:30 p.m. in the amphitheater of the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross.

The mystery was written and directed by Shirley Bonbright of Ross and involves a cast of 75 Marin County youngsters. The adventure centers about a band of gypsies who visit the island of Anchovia by boat and find themselves involved in dark intrigue. The plan also offers lighter moments of singing and dancing complete with talking and dancing animals.

Mary Jean Lindberg of Corte Madera composed the music and Ann Perry of Ross directed the choreography. Leonard Herz, a former student of theatre arts at the College of Marin designed the sets.

The play climaxes six weeks of a theater workshop annually sponsored by the Art and Garden Unit of Junior Theatre. Isabel Baker of San Rafael has been the workshop coordinator.

PIANIST — Judith Storss of Fairfax will give her final piano recital for her master's degree in music at 7:30 p.m. July 29 in Angelico Hall at Dominican College in San Rafael. She will play works by Paul Hindemith and Brahms.

Transbay Tunnel Discussion Set

A proposal for a transbay tunnel to carry commuters between San Francisco and Marin County will be outlined at a meeting of the Tamalpais Valley Task Force at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Tamalpais Improvement Club, 203 Marin Avenue.

William H. Liskamm, a consultant for the Golden Gate Bridge District, will discuss the plan, which calls for the tunnel to surface at Marinship in Northern Sausalito or near the entrance to Marin City, according to Joan Panek, task force co-chairman.

The plan has been selected by a citizens' advisory panel to the Golden Gate corridor study as a possible way of improving commuter transportation from Marin and Sonoma counties.

Escapee And Friend Deny Stealing

Two men — one of them an escapee from Marin County Jail — have pleaded innocent to charges of stealing a wallet from a car at Point Reyes National Seashore.

A preliminary hearing for Michael Earl Watson, 21, of no known address — the escapee — and Charles Alfred Wilson, 23, of 27 Mariele Drive, Fairfax, will be July 26. Municipal Judge Gary W. Thomas set the court date Wednesday after the two denied the charge.

The men were arrested Saturday after rangers at Kehoe Beach at the National Seashore said they saw them steal a wallet from a car belonging to Mrs. C. R. Mocine of Berkeley.

Watson escaped May 31 from the police pistol range in San Rafael where he was working as a jail trusty. He was serving nine months in jail for grand theft.

FAMILY

"Aristocats" — Feature length animated cartoon set in Paris in 1910. A high society cat and her kittens are kidnapped by the villainous butler so that he can inherit their fabulous estate.

"Song of the South" — Disney's rendition of Uncle Remus tales of slave days Down South with charming cartoons of Brer Rabbit's escapades.

"Sounder" — A fascinating document of life in the deep south as well as an inspiring drama of familiar love and loyalty.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Day of the Jackal" — Highly charged but lengthy thriller. It is disturbing in that it invited the audience to suspend moral judgment on political assassination. An attempt on the life of DeGalle by extreme right-wing French OAS because he de-colonized Algeria. Some suggestive scenes.

"Live and Let Die" — Eighth in a series of James Bond tales. This time he must save the world from drug addiction — the master mind is a Harlem gangster. Usual gimics, chases and tensions.

"Paper Moon" — An expertly crafted sophisticated comedy drama recreating the 1930s. A traveling salesman-con artist agrees to deliver a 9-year-old orphan to an aunt in Missouri. The child is tough, smokes and swears and out swindles her mentor. Disturbing thought is that some children may copy her behavior.

"Sleuth" — British production of recent Broadway mystery hit presents rivals who play at a murderous game of wits. Casts dynamic performance creates excitement and suspense.

BORDERLINE
(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Badge 373" — Usual violence and sex in this tale of a New York detective who takes the law into his own hands and uses his gun beyond the law.

"Lady Sings the Blues" — The early life of blues singer, Billie Holiday and later her success as a singer and addiction to heroin. Sex and strong language.

"Man Who Loved Cat Dancing" — Attempted gang-rape, vicious handfights and heavy gunplay do not commend this film to the impressionable young. During a train robbery in the old west, a married woman is abducted in the get-a-way. Love develops between the thief and the lady. (Film Information)

"Without Apparent Motive" — French detective movie deals with a succession of apparently motiveless murders of prominent citizens.

ADULTS ONLY

"Deliverance" — Four men take a three-day canoe trip which becomes a gripping nightmare. The hostile natural forces are compounded by a pair of bestial hillbillies who sexually assault one of the men.

"Everything You Wanted to Know About Sex" — Woody Allen translates Dr. David Reuben's sex manual into seven episodes of gags. Humor is explicit and verbal.

"Harrod Experiment" — A school for sex ends up candy-coating promiscuity and the concept of group marriage. Nudity.

"Lovers and Other Strangers" — During wedding preparations the half comic, half tragic little marital stories of their two families are told. Nudity, sex and vulgar language.

"Scarecrow" — The poignant story of the friendship of two likeable drifters is punctuated by comic incidents. Sex, nudity, cursing and violence are played for realism rather than exploitation.

Inept Robber Gets Jail Term

A would-be robber, who ended up in the hospital after one of his would-be victims grabbed his pistol from him and hit him with it, was sentenced yesterday to one year in county jail.

Michael Lynn Tankersley, a 25-year-old Hell's Angel, also was placed on probation for five years and told to enter a vocational or educational rehabilitation program by Judge David Menary Jr.

Tankersley pleaded guilty March 27 to armed robbery. He was arrested last Aug. 2 after an inept robbery attempt at a house at 561 Idylberry Drive in Lucas Valley. He waved a gun at eight occupants of the house, but instead of money he received a thrashing.

College Ensemble Enchanting In 'Fantasticks' Production

By JAMES E. WILLIAMS

"The Fantasticks," the spirited little musical which has charmed countless audiences for the past 13 years, opened the College of Marin's Summer Theater 73 last night at Theater III.

It was a first class job. The show's memorable melodies from the team of Tom Jones and Harvey Schmidt were as lovely as ever.

The show's theme — young love — is treated ever so lightly, one of the key elements which has kept "The Fantasticks" excellent repertory for colleges as well as some high schools and community theaters.

The college's ensemble worked very well together — a credit to Lou Nardi, who is making his bow as a college director with this show.

While uniformity was the selling point of the production — Mark Schwarz and David K. Silverman, the matchmaking fathers, nearly made it a two-man musical. They are simply delightful in "Never Say No" and "It Depends Upon What You Pay."

Lisa Britt and Scott Gallagher as the young lovers were fresh and innocent looking and as the show built, so did their pleasing voices. They hit their vocal highpoint in the closing number, "There Were You."

Robert Neufeld handled El Gallo with rakish charm, but sometimes failed to exert enough forcefulness to make his role as the narrator more convincing.

The two players — Christopher Kulhman as Henry, the old actor, and Kent Skove as Mortimer, the Indian — added just the amount of comic relief, never being too cute, which could have totally destroyed the intent of these two little meaty roles.

Theater III, the department's theater on the San Francisco Theological Seminary campus in San Anselmo, again proves its charm for intimate musical theater — a hallmark of "The Fantasticks."

The musical, as fresh as the Bay Area's cool evening breezes, will be performed again tonight at 8 o'clock and then will rotate in repertory with Jerome Lawrence and Robert E. Lee's "Inherit the Wind," which will have its first staging at 8 p.m. Saturday.

"THE FANTASTICKS" — A two-act musical by Tom Jones and Harvey Schmidt. Presented by the College of Marin Department of Theater Arts. Directed and choreographed by Lou Nardi; Karen MacDonald, music director; George Barcos, scenic design and settings; Edward Schoon, lighting, and Pat Lusk, costumes. The cast: Luisa, the girl, Lisa Britt; Matt, the boy, Scott Gallagher; El Gallo, the narrator, Robert Neufeld; Hucklebee, the boy's father, Mark Schwarz; Bellomy, the girl's father, David K. Silverman; Henry, the old actor, Christopher Kuhlman; Mortimer, the Indian, Kent Skov; the mute, Duane Solem. The orchestra: Karen MacDonald, piano; Lyn Haet, harp; Don Park, bass, and Kevin O'Lone, percussion.

SHOCK — Six Marin youngsters stare in horror at a thing to be revealed next Saturday and Sunday, when "The Secret of Snake Pit Swamp" is performed at 4:30 p.m. in the amphitheater of the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross. The "scared" children were caught at recent dress rehearsal of the 75-member cast by photographer James J. Brophy.

Youngsters' Thriller To Go On Stage

"The Secret of Snake Pit Swamp" will be presented by the Art and Garden Unit of Junior Theatre of Marin on July 28-29 at 4:30 p.m. in the amphitheater of the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross.

The mystery was written and directed by Shirley Bonbright of Ross and involves a cast of 75 Marin County youngsters. The adventure centers about a band of gypsies who visit the island of Anchovia by boat and find themselves involved in dark intrigue. The plan also offers lighter moments of singing and dancing complete with talking and dancing animals.

Mary Jean Lindberg of Corte Madera composed the music and Ann Perry of Ross directed the choreography. Leonard Herz, a former student of theatre arts at the College of Marin designed the sets.

The play climaxes six weeks of a theater workshop annually sponsored by the Art and Garden Unit of Junior Theatre. Isabel Baker of San Rafael has been the workshop coordinator.

Transbay Tunnel Discussion Set

A proposal for a transbay tunnel to carry commuters between San Francisco and Marin County will be outlined at a meeting of the Tamalpais Valley Task Force at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Tamalpais Improvement Club, 203 Marin Avenue.

William H. Liskamm, a consultant for the Golden Gate Bridge District, will discuss the plan, which calls for the tunnel to surface at Marinship in Northern Sausalito or near the entrance to Marin City, according to Joan Panek, task force co-chairman.

The plan has been selected by a citizens' advisory panel to the Golden Gate corridor study as a possible way of improving commuter transportation from Marin and Sonoma counties.

PIANIST — Judith Storss of Fairfax will give her final piano recital for her master's degree in music at 7:30 p.m. July 29 in Angelico Hall at Dominican College in San Rafael. She will play works by Paul Hindemith and Brahms.

Escapee And Friend Deny Stealing

Two men — one of them an escapee from Marin County Jail — have pleaded innocent to charges of stealing a wallet from a car at Point Reyes National Seashore.

A preliminary hearing for Michael Earl Watson, 21, of no known address — the escapee — and Charles Alfred Wilson, 23, of 27 Mariele Drive, Fairfax, will be July 26. Municipal Judge Gary W. Thomas set the court date Wednesday after the two denied the charge.

The men were arrested Saturday after rangers at Kehoe Beach at the National Seashore said they saw them steal a wallet from a car belonging to Mrs. C. R. Mocine of Berkeley.

Watson escaped May 31 from the police pistol range in San Rafael where he was working as a jail trusty. He was serving nine months in jail for grand theft.

Coast Watchdogs Block Home Plans

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Legal confrontations with two major corporations building on the Sonoma County coast were raised yesterday by the North Central Coast Regional Commission.

The heavyweight opponents are Castle and Cooke, the huge Hawaiian corporate empire developing the Sea Ranch, and Transcentury Properties of Palo Alto, developer of the 1,600-home Bodega Harbor project.

The challenge to the Sea Ranch came in an 8-4 vote to deny an application to build a single-family home between Shoreline Highway and the ocean. The commission's staff, noting there were 40 to 50 similar lots, recommended the denial on the sole ground that building a home would block views of the ocean from the highway.

"Only a Kansas tornado shelter" would be low enough not to interfere with views, commented the commission's executive director, Michael L. Fischer.

The commission stressed that the applicant, Dr. Joseph Picchi of Oakland, was being deprived of the use of his land only while the commission drafts its master plan over the next four years. Mrs. Picchi expressed doubts she still would be alive by the time a home can be built on the lot — which they bought in 1967.

Doctor Picchi said he will appeal the denial to the statewide coastal commission, and then to the courts if turned down there.

(The state commission will vote later this month on a similar appeal from the regional commission's denial of a home permit seven miles north of Bodega Harbor. The state commission never has overturned a denial by a regional commission.)

The legal hassle with Transcentury Properties was posed with news that the developer has continued work despite the commission's denial of a claim the project was exempt from commission controls. The denial has been appealed to the state commission.

Reporting the developer refused to stop work, Fischer won a unanimous authorization from the commission "to see that the coastal initiative is complied with." Deputy Atty. Gen. Richard C. Jacobs added that the Coastal Alliance, the citizens group that got the coast commissions on the ballot last November, will file suit against Transcentury next week if work does not stop immediately.

The law clearly prohibits such work while the denial is being appealed, Jacobs said.

Chairman Michael Wornum, a Marin supervisor, declared the commission was obliged "to see that our rulings are enforced."

The split vote on the Picchi application came after almost an hour of discussion. The doctor argued that there was little view of the ocean from the highway opposite his lot.

William Rand of the Sea Ranch Association figured that because of darkness and bad weather the view was visible to passing tourists only 19 per cent of the time, while the Picchis could enjoy it 100 per cent of the time. He also said a home on the lot would block views for only four seconds from a car passing at 34 miles an hour.

The association's attorney, Reverdy Johnson of San Francisco, objected a denial of the permit "amounts to an unconstitutional taking of the property." He insisted "the public interest in this limited view is not sufficient to deny Doctor Picchi the right to use his own property."

The doctor told newsmen there was "no possibility" of redesigning the 23-foot-high home to reduce interference with the view. It was impossible to excavate the site to lower the home because of heavy water accumulation in winter. "I would have to live in a well," he said.

Lagunitas Budget Up $40,000

The Lagunitas School District board has approved a publication budget of $599,438 for the coming year, an increase of approximately $40,000 over last year's spending program.

The tax rate for 1973-74 was not decided upon Wednesday night, according to Harry F. Roche, superintendent. Last year's rate was $4.12 per $100 assessed valuation.

The 21.4 per cent rise in valuations could cause a decrease in the tax rate, he said.

Public hearing on the budget will be Aug. 1 at 7:30 p.m. at Lagunitas School.

The Lagunitas School District Board also:

SCIENCE — Allocated $2,650 for the Holt, Rhinehart and Winston Science Program and the Elementary Study Science Program for 1974-75.

EARLY EDUCATION — Approved spending $12,553 on the Early Childhood Education program of language arts, reading and math for kindergarten and first grade students.

Coast Watchdogs Block Home Plans

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Legal confrontations with two major corporations building on the Sonoma County coast were raised yesterday by the North Central Coast Regional Commission.

The heavyweight opponents are Castle and Cooke, the huge Hawaiian corporate empire developing the Sea Ranch, and Transcentury Properties of Palo Alto, developer of the 1,600-home Bodega Harbor project.

The challenge to the Sea Ranch came in an 8-4 vote to deny an application to build a single-family home between Shoreline Highway and the ocean. The commission's staff, noting there were 40 to 50 similar lots, recommended the denial on the sole ground that building a home would block views of the ocean from the highway.

"Only a Kansas tornado shelter" would be low enough not to interfere with views, commented the commission's executive director, Michael L. Fischer.

The commission stressed that the applicant, Dr. Joseph Picchi of Oakland, was being deprived of the use of his land only while the commission drafts its master plan over the next four years. Mrs. Picchi expressed doubts she still would be alive by the time a home can be built on the lot — which they bought in 1967.

Doctor Picchi said he will appeal the denial to the statewide coastal commission, and then to the courts if turned down there.

(The state commission will vote later this month on a similar appeal from the regional commission's denial of a home permit seven miles north of Bodega Harbor. The state commission never has overturned a denial by a regional commission.)

Santa Rosans Place Third In Air Race

I-J Special Report

ELMIRA, N.Y. — Santa Rosa pilots Virginia Wegener and Lynn Gary, who served as her copilot, were third in the final standings of the 1973 Powder Puff Derby.

Another team from the Bay Area, Bobbi Adams of Portola Valley and copilot Janet Higgs of Foster City, were issued a safe pilot award by the Federal Aviation Administration. The women gave up any chance of victory by breaking off their flight to circle over two downed aircraft on two separate occasions and radioed needed information to rescue teams, according to United Press International.

First prize, $5,000, went to an FAA examiner Marian Burke of San Antonio, Tex., with Ruth Hildebrand of Houston, Tex., as copilot.

An all-plastic Windecker AC-7 Eagle, piloted by Billie Joyce Wyche of Pearland, Tex., with Stephanie Vickery of La Porte, Tex., as co-pilot registered the fastest average speed in the race of 203.118 miles per hour, but under the handicapping procedures of the race finished 12th.

SHAKESPEAREAN ACTRESS

Alice Rorvik Doesn't Act Like Goneril All The Time

By BETTY FROST

In the Marin Shakespeare Festival production of King Lear, Alice Rorvik of Mill Valley portrays Goneril, one of Lear's three daughters.

In real life Alice is one of the five daughters of Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Rorvik of Mill Valley. However the actress insists that her role is in no way typecasting.

"Playing the wicked Goneril is in conflict with my real life. I adore my own father, and my own sisters are my best friends. It was hard for me to relate to the character at first," Miss Rorvik said.

The Marin woman has roles in three of the four plays currently being performed in the spacious indoor theater at the Palace of Fine Arts in San Francisco. Besides the role in Lear, she plays Alithea in the "Country Wife," and both Phoebe and a lady in waiting in "As You Like It."

Her interest in a theatrical career was sparked when she took drama classes from teacher Dan Caldwell at Tamalpais High School. Caldwell is the director of "As You Like It," so student and teacher again have a joint venture.

OUR INTERVIEW took place during a rehearsal of "As You Like It." Certain props such as an old fashioned camera and tennis racquets seemed out of keeping with the Shakespearean era. However the play is set in the Victorian period in this production, Miss Rorvik explained, "and the costumes are gorgeous," she added. From time to time the actress participated in the rehearsal on cue. The rehearsal ran late, but no one got impatient and the cast enjoyed an easy comraderie in which Alice shared.

Despite the grueling rehearsal schedule and the hectic days when she appears in both matinee and evening performances, "I love it," she said. "The cast is like a family. They are so talented. It's a wonderful experience."

Now 22, Alice has been involved with the theater for six years. She started with the Marin Shakespeare Festival players as a script girl, then played a minor role. She had two more seasons with the Marin group, and also took part in productions of the Mill Valley Center for the Performing Arts and appeared in "Plays for Living" put on in cooperation with the Family Service Association of America for schools and organizations.

She is a graduate of the United States International University, School of Performing and Visual Arts in San Diego, where she obtained the bachelor of Fine Arts degree, which qualifies her to teach acting. She studied at the College of Marin for one year, and was one of the troupe which went to Scotland from the college two years ago.

She played Katharine in "Taming of the Shrew" during the tour of Scotland, "and I was hissed," she laughed. The audience was so caught up in Katharine's reform from high spirits to docile domesticity, they reacted, in accordance with the current trend favoring women's liberation, she said.

THE ACTRESS' own views on the women's movement, "I'm all for it," she said, "particularly for opportunities that would be equal and for equal pay for men and women."

Last summer she played in the Oregon Shakespeare Festival at Ashland, Ore. One of her parts was that of Bianca, the younger sister of Katharine in "Taming of the Shrew."

With all that training and talent, what does she think about her future?

"Acting is what I like to do the best. I am not too concerned about being famous. I would rather be an artist than a star. I would, however, only go to New York if I were invited with a definite job offer."

She sees more opportunities opening up on the West Coast, now, citing the Globe Theater in San Diego; Ashland and the acceptance of the American Conservatory Theater in San Francisco.

Her mother encouraged her acting ambitions.

"IN MY FAMILY everyone does his own thing," she said. "My dad is a deep sea diver, hired by construction and salvage companies. My mother is a stained glass maker, commissioned to make windows and lamps. One sister is a scientist, one a writer, one in occupational therapy and one still in school."

Alice is the middle of the Rorvik sisters. The others are Jean, Addie, Marie and Nancy.

"I'm a Mill Valley girl and big cities make me uncomfortable," she said, "but I would like to see the world."

At the close of the present "Shakespeare Plays the Palace" season, she wants to take a camping vacation, to enjoy the out of doors and to do some swimming.

'Territorial' Disputes Solved

I-J Special Report

CHICAGO — Whoever first suggested that "two's company" surely must have grown up with a room of his own.

It's a well known fact, in any household where brothers or sisters share a bedroom, that two can be quite a crowd when it comes to arguing over tierritorial rights and personal belongings.

But now a means of arbitrating such disputes is offered in the form of sturdy and colorful tables that stack to form handy shelves.

Thompsons Celebrate Anniversary

Fifty years of married life were celebrated by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Thompson of San Anselmo at a party hosted by their children on July 15 at Deer Park Villa in Fairfax.

Earlier in the day an anniversary mass was said for them at St. Anselm's Church and the couple were surprised by the singing of the choir of nuns from Holy Names College in Oakland at the service.

The couple's children are Sister Sally Thompson of the Sisters of the Holy Names, Walter G. Thompson Jr. of Petaluma, Jerry and Bob Thompson of San Anselmo, Jim Thompson of San Rafael, Nancy Giorgi of Fairfax and Mary Gaidano of San Anselmo. They have 42 grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

The Thompsons were married July 16, 1923, in Carson City, Nev., and have lived in San Anselmo for 42 of their married years. Mr. Thompson retired in May from his painting contractor business in San Francisco, W. G. Thompson Co., which he operated for 48 years. His wife, Loretto Thompson, is a member of the Marie Rose Guild.

Self-Defeating

At a time when customers are demanding more and better services from major stores, the stores themselves are involved in a self-defeating program calling for shorter hours for sales people and the use of more part-time sales help, according to Thomas Rafferty, chairman, May Co. California.

Homemaking Teacher Earns Her Doctorate

Marcelett Henry of Novato, who is chairman of the homemaking department at Tamalpais High School, will receive the doctor of philosophy degree at commencement exercises at Walden University, Naples, Fla., on July 28.

Her dissertation was concerned with development of a process model for assessing teacher competence in vocational and career education as required by California Assembly Bill 293, known as the Stull Act. The 160 page dissertation, prepared with Rodney J. Reed, assistant professor, educational policy, planning and administration at the University of California at Berkeley, as advisor, was accepted. This completed the requirements for the doctoral degree.

Mrs. Henry received the bachelor of science degree from Langston University in Langston, Okla., in 1949, and the master's degree in home economics education from the University of Oklahoma in 1963. She was granted an administrative credential and the master's degree in educational administration from California State University, San Francisco. She joined the Tamalpais High School faculty in 1966.

Her innovative programs at the high school include FEAST, a program to train students in the food service industry, and the Consumer Resource Center to serve the needs of students and the community. She is a member of the advisory committee on education for J. C. Penney Co. Mrs. Henry attended the White House Conference on Food and Nutrition in 1958, and was a member of the Marin County Home Economics Curriculum Steering Committee from 1966 to 1968.

MRS. MARCELETT HENRY
Granted advanced degree

She is the wife of Delbert Henry, an Air Force career man stationed at Hamilton Air Force Base. They have four children: Jacqueline, a recent graduate of Howard University in Washington, D.C., who plans to study law; Sharon, trained in computer science in Oklahoma City, Delbert III and Andrea, who both attend Novato High School.

Vows Are Recited In Mill Valley

Nancy Ann Piver of Mill Valley and James F. Maino of San Luis Obispo were married at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Arthur Piver in Mill Valley at 1 p.m. Saturday.

The bride is also the daughter of the late Arthur Piver. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Agnes Reid of Mill Valley.

Dixie Piver of Mill Valley was her sister's maid of honor, and John Maino of San Luis Obispo, the bridegroom's brother, was the best man.

The bride was graduated from Tamalpais High School and Stanford University. James is also a graduate of Stanford University. Nancy has been employed by Pacific Commodities in San Francisco. The bridegroom is in the investment management business in San Luis Obispo.

After a wedding trip to Montecito, the couple will make their home on the Maino Ranch near San Luis Obispo.

Women Shun Responsibility

There are plenty of opportunities for women executives to rise above the buyer level in retail ranks, but a lot of them fail to do so because they really don't want the extra responsibility, National Retail Merchants Association members were told.

"It is not necessarily because we believe in women's lib, it's just that we desperately need their talents," Thomas Rafferty of the May Co. of California said. Women must be encouraged to let management know they are interested in high level careers, he indicated.

Story About One Who Repented Wasn't Seen By One Who Didn't

DEAR HELEN:

I thought your readers over the country might like this human interest story which appeared in Tom Arden's column in the Sacramento Bee:

A local woman received an unexpected letter which read:

"I doubt if you remember me, but I used to play with your children. One day I borrowed your child's bicycle and while filling the tire with air, the tire blew out. I was so frightened by the fact that I knew my family did not have enough money to buy a new tire and tube that I left the bicycle at the service station, and as far as I know you never did get it back.

"I imagine the bicycle was worth approximately $30 at the time, as the incident took place about 27 years ago. Enclosed is a check for $146, which is, as near as I can figure, $30 compounded over 27 years at six per cent interest.

"I hope you can find it in your heart to forgive me for doing such a wrong to someone who had been so kind as to loan me their bicycle.

"Jesus has pointed this out to me as one of the things I must do to have spiritual victory and victory I am going to have."

Columnist Arden added, "The woman recalled she was rearing two children alone, making about $250 a month (back in 1946), and buying the bike for her older child represented quite a sacrifice. Receiving the letter and check, she said, made her 'think about such unfashionable things as love and forgiveness!'" — COLUMN FAN

DEAR FAN:

Let's hope my summer candidate for "Stinker of the Year" will read your contribution and repent. Here's the story:

DEAR HELEN:

Most of my friends knew about my coin bank that held our "future honeymoon money." My fiance and I had most of our savings in it, and we were going to open it when he returned from overseas duty.

He won't return. He was killed in an Army accident. After the funeral about 20 people gathered at our house. A few mentioned the bank which was still on my dresser. Several hundred dollars were in it.

When I went into my bedroom after they'd left, the bank was gone! How could a friend be so cruel? I hope this person enjoys spending a dead man's money! — ALONE

DEAR ALONE:

What can I say? . . . Except that I hope your REAL friends pin down the culprit and make him (or her) return the money. Otherwise relations with all 20 people will be strianed, since you'll never know which one is the "grave robber." — H.

DEAR HELEN:

It's surprising how fast we adjust to raised prices. The big uprising over high cost of meat and produce got flooded out by Watergate, and we probably won't scream again until the next big raise. We'll just starve quietly.

I realize it isn't the farmers' or ranchers' faults — they're in a price bind too — but at least they have meats and vegetables for their tables because they grow them. We parents of growing children whose incomes don't grow proportionately have stopped screaming, maybe because we're weak from nausea over an egg, macaroni, and bean diet.

I don't begrudge the growers making a living, and if I could export my products to Japan (where steaks are $7.00 a pound) at greater profit, I certainly would, but I'd still love to taste one of those steaks again! — MOTHER OF FIVE HUNGRY BOYS

DEAR HELEN:

A suggestion for "Penny" who doesn't want wedding presents, as she and her fiance already have a home and furnishings from previous marriages. Instead of traditional gifts, why don't her friends give time or money to one of the couple's favorite charities, ecology efforts, or whatever? — P.T.

ON BEING BLACK

Alabama Sterilization Cases Add Fuel To Genocide Issue

By SANDRA HAGGERTY
(Distributed by Los Angeles Times Syndicate)

OAKLAND — An invitation to the quarterly meeting of Blacks Against Black Genocide in the San Francisco Bay Area came on the heels of the recent sterilization case in Montgomery, Ala., involving minor-age black girls.

BABG, in existence for about seven years, has long alleged the existence of such practices as coercive sterilization without consent and/or full understanding of the consequences directed against blacks. They cite cases where doctors have encouraged their black female patients to consent to sterilization after having one child, but did not follow the same line of counseling with their white patients.

They were the first to charge adverse practices in the treatment of venereal diseases to blacks. When they heralded the infamous syphilis study, they were told by whites and blacks, "That was years ago. . .People don't do those things anymore."

My initial contact with BABG was outside a Planned Parenthood center in Oakland some years back. Members were passing out information about the psychological and physical effects of the various forms of birth control, illuminating the possible dangers of the Pill before the general public was informed about them.

I WAS eventually turned off by the group. Most of the members and all of the major spokesmen were men. Since men don't physically have children, nor do a majority of men assume an equitable share of the responsibility for round-the-clock care of children, I wanted to hear from black women in this regard.

Secondly, I see family planning as a psychological and economic necessity for black families. Understand, please, that family planning can involve from 0 to 200 children, so long as the man and the woman together make their own plans (child care, rearing and responsibility) and execute them themselves.

I feel there should not be a blanket put-down of birth control for blacks as a simplistic reaction to some freaky white attitudes that all blacks should be sterilized — I have heard such attitudes seriously presented.

Planned Parenthood centers, if properly, ethically, intelligently and humanely administered, have a place in the black community as information and education sources. Unfortunately, some individuals superimpose their own biases in dispensing birth-control information.

THUS, THERE is a need for such counterorganizations as BABG to offer a different perspective and a different value system.

This is more and more evident as young black girls come away from birth-control centers with pills only —they have no more information than "it stops you from having a baby."

The Alabama sterilization case is particularly repugnant. Even adult, married women who already have three or four children are carefully and cautiously counseled about the finality of sterilization. How could a 13-year-old be expected to make such a lifelong decision? To even suggest permanent altering of female minors is obscene.

The other outrageous aspect of such a case is that connived sterilization (without full consent and knowledge) of blacks by whites is often based upon long-held sexual stereotypes about blacks — their so-called sexual amorality and promiscuity.

To think that my tax dollars inadvertently supported such an action makes me livid. To think such an action could take place in the United States in 1973 makes me afraid.

I SUSPECT a large white family breathes as much oxygen and eats as much of the nation's food supply as does a large black family. Still, black children are viewed as ecological threats.

Individual reproduction is an individual concern. It is insane madness when some demented individuals take it upon themselves to monitor the sex lives of other individuals. To do this is to make a judgment that some people and their potential offspring have less value to our world than others.

Does this remind you of historical accounts of Hitler's Germany?

World Heavyweight Boxing Champion:
George Foreman on His Love for America

And when I was going after my first record — which was how many windows I could break in a row without getting caught — I can't lay that idea on anybody else's doorstep. It was all my own, and I got all the way up to 200 before the Houston police looked me up to talk about it.

Olympic Gold Medal winner and World Heavyweight Boxing Champion George Foreman has written the inspiring story of his most difficult struggle: a fight to overcome a youthful tendency to put the blame for his troubles on others.

Boys Club Receives Fund Grant

The Novato Boys Club has received a $25,000 grant from the James Irvine Foundation of San Francisco for equipment for a new clubhouse which will be completed in the fall of 1974.

The money, added to other donations and grants, brings the club's building fund to $133,000, according to Fred H. Merrill, chairman of the organization's building and site fund.

The club's coffers also contain $10,500 for athletic equipment from the Max C. Fleischmann Foundation of Reno and $10,000 from the S. H. Cowell Foundation of San Francisco.

Proceeds from the Reuben Kaehler Dream House, totalling $26,000, have also been donated, Merrill said.

The club is now assured of a monthly income to operate the clubhouse and keep up the annual payments on the site since it has received title to Novato's Mission Lodge from the estate of Novato businesswoman Clara L. Meyers.

The club has leased the motel to Mr. and Mrs. Eugene R. Busig for $1,500 per month.

The $300,000 clubhouse will be constructed on Wilson Avenue on an acre and a half site opposite Sinaloa Junior High School. The land cost $35,000 due in $5,000 annual payments. Construction will start the first week in September, according to Merrill.

Donations of labor and material are being sought, he said.

Moretti Asks Probe Of Major Gasoline Companies' Tactics

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti has cited statistics he said showed major California oil companies are attempting to drive smaller independent operators out of business.

The state Board of Equalization figures were included in a letter sent to Attorney General Evelle J. Younger yesterday in which the Van Nuys Democrat asked Younger to investigate oil industry trade practices in the state. Moretti made the same request to Younger last month.

The statistics showed a 16.5 per cent reduction in the small distributors and retailers share of the taxable gasoline distributions in the first four months of this year.

"This means there has been a significant decline on the part of the smaller, independent operators in their relationship with the major oil companies," Moretti said.

"If this trend continues for the remainder of the year, the small distributors' share of the market will be reduced by two-thirds," he added. "By the time the Washington debate regarding voluntary versus mandatory allocation control ends, the point may be moot."

Moretti said that "from the viewpoint of this observer, the possibility of an attempt by big oil to destroy its opposition seems plausible."

A spokesman for Younger, a contender for the 1974 Republican gubernatorial nomination, said there would be no comment until the letter was received.

Moretti, a contender for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, also cited statistics from the Oil and Gas Journal which indicated "a very strange pattern of gasoline pricing."

The figures showed the price of regular gasoline varied widely on a weekly basis in Los Angeles, San Diego and San Francisco in 1971 and most of 1972, Moretti said.

"On Aug. 13, 1972, prices increased to the highest levels recorded to that date. Following Aug. 13, prices in the three cities stabilized until June of this year when increases again occurred.

"Certainly an intelligent observer might wonder what prompted certain major oil companies to increase their prices in the same week (Aug. 13, 1972) to the same very high level. Is it not conceivable that management of the major oil companies consciously paralleled price increases?" the lawmaker asked.

Moretti asked Younger June 12 to investigate reports of the fuel shortage. The attorney general's office replied it was monitoring the investigations of other agencies.

Can Bars Change A City?

By REBECCA LARSEN
(Second of two articles)

Are bars, restaurants and boutiques changing Mill Valley from a sleepy, suburban town into a second Sausalito, complete with traffic, tourists and noise?

That is the question which Mill Valley residents are asking increasingly, particularly in view of recent discord over whether one bar, the Old Mill, should be granted a use permit for live rock music.

Everyone from the police chief to the planning director says that the city is different today from what it was five years ago, although they argue about what those differences mean.

"The entire character of the downtown has changed in the past few years," said Police Chief William Walsh. "Not only the patrons of the taverns are different but the people hanging around the bus depot have changed. There are different kinds of businesses. We have an organic hair care place and the organic mechanic. Just the other day I saw that the auto radiator shop had become an art store. There's a general trend towards tourist-type business."

Attorney Douglas P. Ferguson, a Mill Valley resident, has mapped out how he thinks the "Sausalitoization" process takes place.

Ferguson, who lived in Sausalito until four years ago, was an opponent of the Old Mill's use permit application at a planning commission meeting last week.

The first step, said Ferguson, is when entrepreneurs create tourist drawing cards like the new Sweetwater bar which features rock bands or the Old Mill which remodeled two years ago and also turned to rock.

"The next thing they have to have for all the people who start coming here is an impulse purchase store, like Takahashi in Sausalito."

Ferguson calls The Port and Old Brown's Store, two new Mill Valley shopping complexes, "classic examples" of this trend. "They sell a lot of import stuff, antiques and funk, but not one single thing you need."

Once the tourists arrive they have to eat, Ferguson noted. "You can't accommodate them at sit-down restaurants entirely. You need the stand-up places. Then you start to have litter problems. Sausalito is an absolute garbage dump, and you can identify 75 to 80 per cent of the garbage as coming from the takeout food places."

According to Ferguson, the tourists take up all the parking space, crowding out residents who want to shop at conventional stores. Eventually those older stores go out of business, he said.

"When I left Sausalito, there was nothing left, almost no grocery and hardware stores. We were doing all our shopping in Mill Valley so we decided to move here."

Eating and drinking spots have increased in Mill Valley, according to the Marin County Chamber of Commerce and visitors' Bureau. They've gone from 17 in 1969 to 23 in 1972. One more, Davood's Restaurant, opened this year, and another eating place is set to open soon in Old Brown's Store.

Taxable sales at these kinds of businesses almost doubled from 1969 to 1972, going from $1,589,000 to $3,044,000.

According to Police Chief Walsh, there's been an increase in Mill Valley crime even as changes have taken place.

"Arrests downtown have increased drastically and involve shooting, stabbings and assaults. Admittedly, it would be hard to finger any connection to the bars and the general increase in tourists and transients."

Arrests for begging, panhandling and disturbing the peace are also going up, he said.

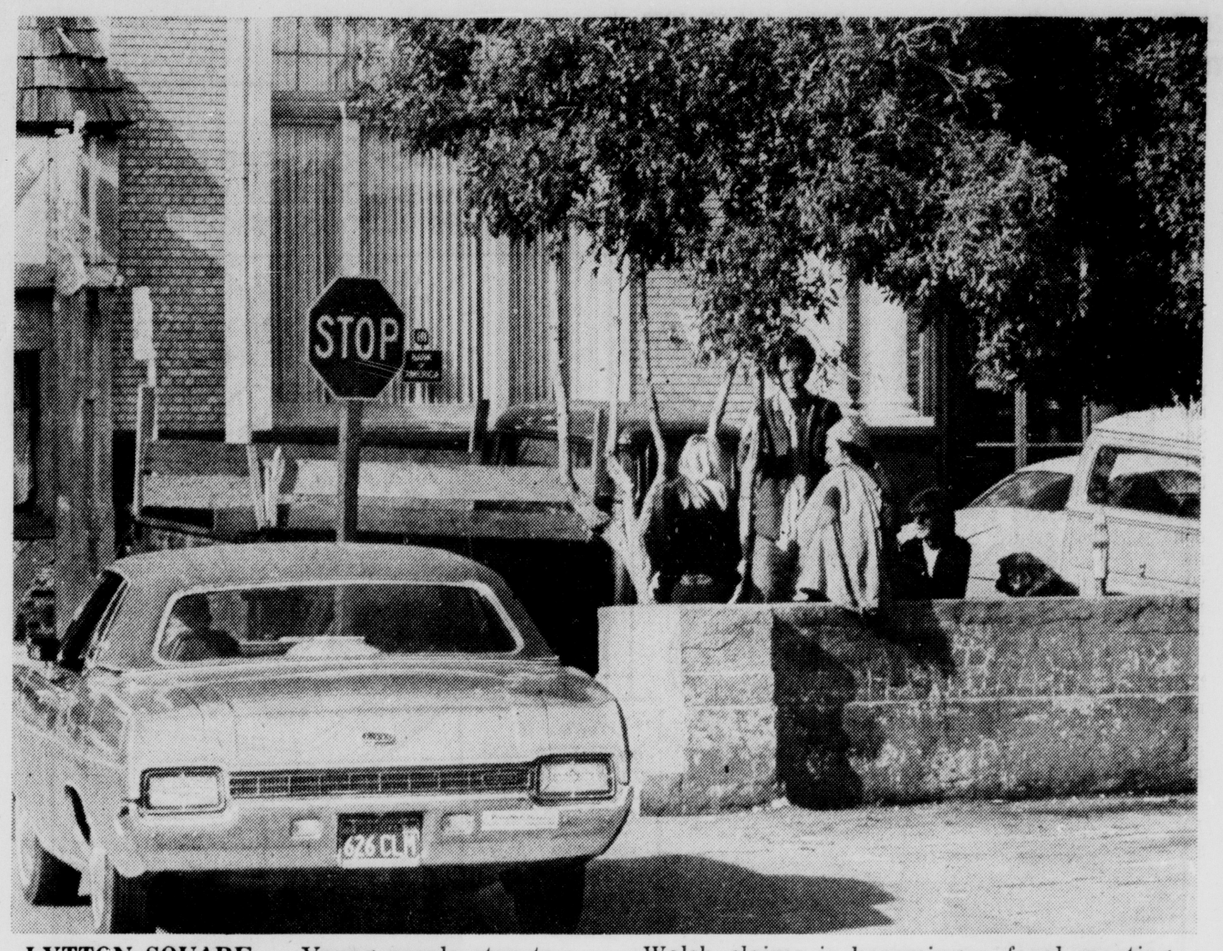
Walsh said that the benches at the Mill Valley bus depot in Lytton Square have become "a focal meeting point for transient young people who frequent the downtown," something like the young people who hand around Vina Del Mar Park in downtown Sausalito.

By "tourists," the chief does not mean middle-aged people from Iowa visiting the Bay Area. What he seems to refer to is people from other parts of the Bay Area, particularly young people.

Not everyone is convinced that the changes represent a revolution in the city's character.

"Sure I've seen a moderate change here in the last two years," said Tom W. Newton, Mill Valley director of community development. "There's a leaning towards tourist-oriented businesses, and there are far more people here in the summer. I've noticed an increase in filth — bubble gum, dog manure, beer cans. I hear them using dirty language around the bus depot. I see things going on that I'd have been arrested for when I was a kid — swearing and pushing people."

SWEETWATER — Bargoers listen to the playing of rock violinist Steamin' Freeman (foreground) at the Sweetwater Bar in Mill Valley, a tavern which some Mill Valley residents say would be more at home in Sausalito than their city. Mill Valley opponents of bars which attract young people say that they create too much congestion and noise in the downtown area.



LYTTON SQUARE — Young people stop to talk at the center of Mill Valley's Lytton Square, which the city's Police Chief William Walsh claims is becoming a focal meeting point for young transients who frequent the downtown's new stores and bars.

Materials Stolen From Building Site

The theft of doors, wood and other building materials from a construction site in Wild Horse Canyon near Novato was reported yesterday by the Marin Sheriff's Department.

Deputies said the materials taken sometime last weekend — belonged to the Bow-Mac Construction Co.

"But I'm not sure I know what people mean by 'Sausalitoization'. I'm not sure that it, whatever it is, could happen here. This is a quiet community, formed around a cul-de-sac, in a canyon nestled by the mountains. Sausalito is more exposed, has more through traffic and is closer to San Francisco."

Mayor Jean S. Barnard said she can see the upsurge in tourist-attracting businesses. "But do we not have to fill our stores with the type of businesses that will do well in these days? These are the businesses that are on the up and up."

Fear of "Sausalitoization" may have led to some recent changes in city government decisions.

New Rates

New water rates approved by the Bolinas Community Public Utility District were incorrectly given at one dollar per cubic foot in a story in yesterday's Independent Journal. The correct figure is one dollar per 100 cubic feet of water. The new rates will go into effect in September.

City council members decided last winter to rent the city-owned bus depot to a restaurateur with plans for a gourmet French eating spot. Then, last month, when disatisfied with the restaurateurs' financial standing they decided that perhaps they wanted to devote the depot to a community service use.

The Old Mill tavern was denied a use permit for rock music when it went before the planning commission.

The police chief's pleas led the city to add six employees to the police payroll next year.

Restaurant and bar owners are on the defensive.

"A lot of people don't see anything good either about having Mill Valley a ghost town in the evenings either," said Fred Martin, a part-owner of the Sweetwater. "It's noisy and crowded, but it has a tremendous appeal to a lot of people.

"Sure it's changed here. But I didn't OK Davood's restaurant and Old Brown's Store. I didn't do it."

Elks Vote To Scrap Longtime Race Barriers To Membership

The Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks at its national convention yesterday voted to drop its white-only membership rule but the change will not become effective unless two-thirds of the 2,182 local lodges approve it, according to a longtime Marin Elk.

San Quentin Warden Louis S. Nelson, former exalted ruler of San Rafael Lodge 1108, said furthermore, that "that's where the real battle will be."

Nelson said that the Elks are "extremely strong" in the South and that even in Marin, a vote on the matter about a year ago produced about a 50-50 split.

The Elks are believed to have 1.5 million members.

In Chicago yesterday, delegates to the Elks' national convention voted 2,186 to 773 to remove the 105-year-old whites-only clause from their bylaws and to admit blacks and Orientals to membership for the first time since the order was founded in 1868.

Still standing would be requirements that applicants for membership be male, over 21, non-Communist and express a belief in God.

Robert A. Yothers of Seattle, the Elks' new grand exalted ruler, announced the action, a move that Elks' national conventions had voted down in 1971 and 1972.

Yothers said yesterday's vote was influenced by "recognition of changing social attitudes and a recent Supreme Court action" in a case involving Elks lodges in Maine.

Changing attitudes toward blacks "would not alone have influenced the delegates," he conceded.

The U.S. Supreme Court in April in effect upheld Maine's right to revoke licenses, including building permits and liquor licenses, of 15 lodges accused of discriminating against blacks.

Several other states have revoked the Elks' tax-exempt status because of the order's racial policies, Yothers noted at a press conference.

In Marin, Nelson called the move to admit racial minorities "something that should have been done a long time ago."

He said he himself has long argued for admission of blacks and Orientals ("we already have some Mexican and Indian members"), "not only on humanitarian grounds but also so that cheap politicians will stop taking pot shots at us."

Nelson said he referred to legislative moves to revoke the Elks' liquor licenses and other such actions.

In Marin, he said, he knew of about 10 men who have dropped membership in the Elks because of the racial policies.

He also said that no blacks or Orientals had applied for membership in the San Rafael lodge because they apparently knew of the discriminatory clause.

The current exalted ruler of the local lodge, Joseph J. Souza, was in Chicago today at the convention, Nelson said.

Sonoma Sheriff Wins Hiring Of 20 New Men

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Board of Supervisors has approved hiring 20 new deputies in 1973-74 after hearing strong pleas from the grand jury and sheriff Donald Striepeke.

The board originally had approved 11 new positions, but agreed to fund 12 more deputies after grand jury foreman Robert Kerr said more manpower is needed to combat the rising crime rate.

The supervisors heard that the 12 new positions will be filled Sept. 1 and will cost an additional $140,000 for the remainder of the fiscal year.

The board had originally balked at giving Striepeke more deputies, saying the 111 sheriff's department employees in July of 1971 has jumped to the current 153 employees. The county jail staff has also increased from 38 to 64 employees in two years.

The board also agreed to the grand jury's recommendation to add two staff positions to the district attorney's office and an investigator for the public defender's office.

BIRTHDAY QUIZ

By GORDON B. GREB

Now the news! Yes, it was big news when these people were born. But other important events were occurring, too. Do you remember the year?

1. NATALIE WOOD, film star, was a pretty little baby when Franklin D. Roosevelt got worried about Hitler and Mussolini in Europe. He sent them peace messages. Also British Prime Minister Chamberlain met Hitler in Munich, came home waving a piece of paper, saying, "peace in our time." Soon afterward, Europe was at war. In 1943, Natalie appeared in her first movie and has been starring ever since. Birthplace: San Francisco, Calif.

2. TOMMY PROTHRO, football coach, was born the year Republican Warren G. Harding defeated Democrat James M. Cox for the presidency. The song of the day was "Look for the Silver Lining" and the book, Sinclair Lewis' "Main Street." Years later Tommy would become a backfield star for Duke University, then turn to coaching college ball for 16 years. The Los Angeles "Rams" made him head coach in 1971. Birthplace: Memphis, Tenn.

3. EDMUND HILLARY, mountaineer, came into a world at peace. President Wilson was in Paris negotiating the Versailles treaty with Germany. Americans were reading "Flanders Fields." The top tune was "Smiling Through." Years later Sir Edmund (his title now) would startle the world by climbing Mount Everest with a Sherpa guide. Birthplace: Auckland, New Zealand.

4. THEDA BARA, silent film star, was born the year Congress passed the Sherman Anti-Trust Act. It sought to give government and the courts the power to break up business monopolies. Later Theda would star in pictures as "Cleopatra," "Salome," and "Madame DuBarry" — the great vamp of Grandpa's day. Birthplace: Cincinnati, Ohio.

ANSWERS: 1 - Natalie Wood (born 1938); 2 - Tommy Prothro (born 1920); 3 - Edmund Hillary (born 1919); 4 - Theda Bara (born 1890).

EXERCISE CAUTION

West opens the jack of spades, and East puts up the king. If you take the first trick, you will probably go down.

If you tackle clubs first, East will win and will return his other spade. You must take the queen of spades then or at the next trick.

You are in position to take eight tricks: four clubs, two spades and two diamonds. As soon as you lead a heart, West pounces on the trick and runs his spades.

You can make the contract after winning the first trick, but you must lead a heart first, instead of a club. This is lucky enough to knock out West's ace rather than East's ace.

How do you know who has which ace? If you know the right gypsy, you can buy a reliable crystal ball. Or you might happen to be the seventh son. Otherwise, you have to rely on guesswork' and sometimes you will guess wrong.

NO MAGIC NEEDED

No magic is needed if you just refuse the first trick. You win the second spade and knock out either ace. If you knock out East's ace, he will be unable to lead a spade. If you knock out West's ace, he will have no later entry for his established spades. Either way, you are safe.

Incidentally, East might shift to diamonds after winning the first trick with the king of spades. Now you must refuse the first diamond trick, and you are safe.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner bids one no trump, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ - 8 2
♥ - K 10 7
♦ - K 3 2
♣ - Q J 9 6 2.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid three no trump.

Partner has 16 to 18 points, and you have 9.

The combined total should be enough for game, particularly since you have a fair five-card suit.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

No Trump Hand Needs Caution Not To Grab The First Trick

When you're playing a hand at no trump, don't feel secure just because you can win two tricks in the suit led by the enemy.

You may still have to play the hand cautiously to bring your contract home.

EXERCISE CAUTION

West opens the jack of spades, and East puts up the king. If you take the first trick, you will probably go down.

If you tackle clubs first, East will win and will return his other spade. You must take the queen of spades then or at the next trick.

You are in position to take eight tricks: four clubs, two spades and two diamonds. As soon as you lead a heart, West pounces on the trick and runs his spades.

You can make the contract after winning the first trick, but you must lead a heart first, instead of a club. This is lucky enough to knock out West's ace rather than East's ace.

How do you know who has which ace? If you know the right gypsy, you can buy a reliable crystal ball. Or you might happen to be the seventh son. Otherwise, you have to rely on guesswork' and sometimes you will guess wrong.

NO MAGIC NEEDED

No magic is needed if you just refuse the first trick. You win the second spade and knock out either ace. If you knock out East's ace, he will be unable to lead a spade. If you knock out West's ace, he will have no later entry for his established spades. Either way, you are safe.

Incidentally, East might shift to diamonds after winning the first trick with the king of spades. Now you must refuse the first diamond trick, and you are safe.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner bids one no trump, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ - 8 2
♥ - K 10 7
♦ - K 3 2
♣ - Q J 9 6 2.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid three no trump.

Partner has 16 to 18 points, and you have 9.

The combined total should be enough for game, particularly since you have a fair five-card suit.

Search Pushed For Arctic Black Gold

NEW YORK (UPI) — Man is pushing his search for sorely needed oil reserves into the ice-infested Arctic Ocean. Now joining the exploration effort is a new type of specially designed seismic surveying vessel adapted for Arctic operations by Seiscom Delta, Inc., of Houston, Tex.

The 180-foot craft has a reinforced hull, satellite-based navigation system and other equipment for operating under the foulest weather conditions. Value of its surveying gear alone is more than $1,250,000, say officials of Seiscom.

BIRTHDAY QUIZ

By GORDON B. GREB

Now the news! Yes, it was big news when these people were born. But other important events were occurring, too. Do you remember the year?

1. NATALIE WOOD, film star, was a pretty little baby when Franklin D. Roosevelt got worried about Hitler and Mussolini in Europe. He sent them peace messages. Also British Prime Minister Chamberlain met Hitler in Munich, came home waving a piece of paper, saying, "peace in our time." Soon afterward, Europe was at war. In 1943, Natalie appeared in her first movie and has been starring ever since. Birthplace: San Francisco, Calif.

2. TOMMY PROTHRO, football coach, was born the year Republican Warren G. Harding defeated Democrat James M. Cox for the presidency. The song of the day was "Look for the Silver Lining" and the book, Sinclair Lewis' "Main Street." Years later Tommy would become a backfield star for Duke University, then turn to coaching college ball for 16 years. The Los Angeles "Rams" made him head coach in 1971. Birthplace: Memphis, Tenn.

3. EDMUND HILLARY, mountaineer, came into a world at peace. President Wilson was in Paris negotiating the Versailles treaty with Germany. Americans were reading "Flanders Fields." The top tune was "Smiling Through." Years later Sir Edmund (his title now) would startle the world by climbing Mount Everest with a Sherpa guide. Birthplace: Auckland, New Zealand.

4. THEDA BARA, silent film star, was born the year Congress passed the Sherman Anti-Trust Act. It sought to give government and the courts the power to break up business monopolies. Later Theda would star in pictures as "Cleopatra," "Salome," and "Madame DuBarry" — the great vamp of Grandpa's day. Birthplace: Cincinnati, Ohio.

ANSWERS: 1 - Natalie Wood (born 1938); 2 - Tommy Prothro (born 1920); 3 - Edmund Hillary (born 1919); 4 - Theda Bara (born 1890).

CATCH AS CATCH CAN

Water Limits Urged Via Countywide Plan

By ERIK M. INGRAM

The attorney for the Marin Municipal Water District proposed yesterday that population growth guidelines in the countywide general plan be followed in limiting future water connections.

In a letter circulated yesterday, attorney Tom Thorner recommended the action because it places "the entire planning burden where it belongs — on the county and the respective cities."

His proposal, if adopted, would "require any applicant for water to present a certificate from the county that the project for which he is requesting water . . . will not cause the countywide general plan population projections to be exceeded . . ."

If the project is within a city, he continued, a similar certificate will be required showing compliance with the city's general plan population projections.

One of several possibilities, Thorner said, would be to limit the number of hookups to a set amount on a quarterly or yearly basis "if the city and county planners fail to implement the countywide general plan population goals."

His letter was circulated, but not discussed, as directors of both the Marin Municipal and North Marin County Water districts outlined future water project plans to county supervisors.

The Civic Center meeting originally was called to discuss the impact of recently imposed water connection moratoriums on the countywide plan.

Time ran out before that discussion, however, and another meeting was set for next Wednesday at 8 p.m. at Civic Center.

Thorner opined in the letter that once a new water supply is created by the district "the district can adopt reasonable means to ensure that (the) water supply project lasts for the entire period for which it is planned and built."

"In order for water planners to select a project which will supply the reasonable needs of the district on a continuous basis and which will be economically sound, it is necessary that they have assurance that the water supply for 1980 will not be used up in 1975 or 1976 thus resulting in a new moratorium and substantially increased planning, financing and construction costs," he said.

"From the above it is clear that there are sound water supply planning considerations, entirely apart from any wish to control or limit growth which may exist, for limiting connections so that they last over the period of time for which the particular water supply is planned."

He said the countywide plan, which seeks to stage growth over a 20-year period, should be used as the basis for deciding when and where water connections are allowed.

Yesterday's joint meeting was devoted to staff presentations on proposed future water projects and a brief discussion on waste water reclamation.

William R. Seeger, general manager of the Marin Municipal District, said his board still has not decided whether to base its November bond election on financing an aquaduct to the Russian River or on a dam on Walker Creek in West Marin.

The board is leaning toward the Russian River project and a decision is expected by the end of August, he said.

Dr. Martin Griffin, chairman of the Marin municipal board, told supervisors he and his colleagues "are not against growth . . . but for controlled and regulated growth."

He urged creation of growth controls "with teeth." He was supported by William Wright Sr., chairman of the North Marin board.

Plans Set For Budget On Sewage

The Southern Marin Subregional Sewerage Agency Board has decided to set up a budget for the agency for another full fiscal year.

The vote on the measure was 7-1, Wednesday, with John N. Radovich from the Richardson Bay Sanitary District voting no.

According to John T. Schulte, agency administrative officer, the agency may complete the development of plans for a combined waste treatment system before the fiscal year ends.

"If at a later date, it decides not to take that long, it will disband and reimburse individual members for their expense," Schulte said.

The agency, including representatives of nine southern Marin sewerage agencies, has not adopted a budget yet. Schulte said, however, that board members have agreed on possible spending of about $75,000 for 1973-74.

Schulte said that $66,708 of that amount will be funded from tax revenues. Individual sewerage districts will contribute money to make up the rest of the budget.

The agency board also voted to hire a law firm, Wilson-Jones-Morton-Lynch of San Mateo at $150 per month."

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Amebiasis Can Occur Without Diarrhea, Good Diet Is Cause

Amebiasis no longer is called amebic dysentery, because too few of the victims develop diarrhea. "Loose bowels" do occur, but when the condition was labelled a dysentery, the diagnosis was missed or not even considered unless dysentery was present. We know now that the majority of amebic infections acquired in the United States do not cause symptoms. Credit belongs to the American diet. Apparently, the causative parasites happily feeding on the intestinal contents see no need to invade the wall. Travel, fatigue, stress, and pregnancy aggravate involvement and often bring on abdominal distress.

What is amebiasis? It is an intestinal infection caused by the single-celled parasite, Entamoeba histolytica. Man becomes infected by ingesting food or water contaminated with fecal material containing the cysts of the ameba. The cysts pass thru the lower bowel where they get into the wall and set up housekeeping. The end result is a form of ameba that is easily passed to the outside to repeat the cycle. Others multiply within the intestine causing a gastrointestinal illness lasting from three hours to 30 years. As a rule, the amebas dig into the intestinal wall producing shallow ulcers.

DIAGNOSIS is made via a microscopic study of a fresh stool specimen. A blood test also ia available.

Amebiasis is generally considered to be a tropical disease, but it is not necessary to travel to exotic places to develop the condition. Actually, five per cent of the people who harbor the parasites have never traveled far from home. Yet, amebiasis is a possibility when a person who has been in Mexico or Viet Nam develops diarrhea.

OCCASIONALLY, the amebas escape from the intestinal wall and land in the liver via the bloodstream. The outcome is hepatitis or liver abscess. The diagnosis of these conditions is not always easy to make, but treatment with emetine is in order when they are suspected or the abscess can be demonstrated with a liver scan. Emetine controls the symptoms of amebiasis, but is not as successful as Diodoquin, tetracycline, or chloroquine in the elimination of the ameba. A new synthetic compound, dehydroemetine, and Flagyl also are promising remedies.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to Dr. Van Dellen, c/o the Independent-Journal, P.O. Box 330, San Rafael Ca. 94902.

PROLONGED FATIGUE

H. F. Writes: Is it natural to feel tired all the time for a year after a heart attack?

REPLY

No. Feelings of fatigue may stem from the medication or from an associated nervous disorder. Depression may be responsible, especially if the individual has been told to quit work and lead the life of a vegetable. After a heart attack, some people are afraid to be up and about and their minds play convenient tricks by making them want to sleep most of the time.

NO SUGAR

B. D. writes: Is it wise never to use sugar?

REPLY

One can live without it but there is no harm in the use of reasonable amounts if you like certain foods and beverages sweetened.

Man Found; Gets Sent To Vacaville

A Marin City man who failed to keep a court date to be sentenced for concealing stolen property was sent yesterday to the state medical facility at Vacaville for evaluation.

Judge Henry J. Broderick of Marin Superior Court ordered the evaluation of Kenny Ray White, 21, to help decide White's sentence.

White failed to appear last month to be sentenced by Broderick and a bench warrant was issued for his arrest. San Rafael police, acting on a tip, went to 12 Ross Street Wednesday and found White hiding under a bed.

The charge of concealing stolen property resulted Jan. 19 when sheriff's deputies, guided to a Marin City apartment by a series of anonymous telephone calls, found a safe cut open and empty on a patio and saw two men fleeing.

White was arrested later that day while trying to pass $1,000 bills at a Marin City coffee shop.

According to Deputy Dist. Atty. Raymond E. Gilbert, White was busy during the time he was sought for sentencing, committing a burglary, a credit card offense and several traffic violations in Marin.

CATCH AS CATCH CAN

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Amebiasis no longer is called amebic dysentery, because too few of the victims develop diarrhea. "Loose bowels" do occur, but when the condition was labelled a dysentery, the diagnosis was missed or not even considered unless dysentery was present. We know now that the majority of amebic infections acquired in the United States do not cause symptoms. Credit belongs to the American diet. Apparently, the causative parasites happily feeding on the intestinal contents see no need to invade the wall. Travel, fatigue, stress, and pregnancy aggravate involvement and often bring on abdominal distress.

What is amebiasis? It is an intestinal infection caused by the single-celled parasite, Entamoeba histolytica. Man becomes infected by ingesting food or water contaminated with fecal material containing the cysts of the ameba. The cysts pass thru the lower bowel where they get into the wall and set up housekeeping. The end result is a form of ameba that is easily passed to the outside to repeat the cycle. Others multiply within the intestine causing a gastrointestinal illness lasting from three hours to 30 years. As a rule, the amebas dig into the intestinal wall producing shallow ulcers.

DIAGNOSIS is made via a microscopic study of a fresh stool specimen. A blood test also ia available.

Amebiasis is generally considered to be a tropical disease, but it is not necessary to travel to exotic places to develop the condition. Actually, five per cent of the people who harbor the parasites have never traveled far from home. Yet, amebiasis is a possibility when a person who has been in Mexico or Viet Nam develops diarrhea.

OCCASIONALLY, the amebas escape from the intestinal wall and land in the liver via the bloodstream. The outcome is hepatitis or liver abscess. The diagnosis of these conditions is not always easy to make, but treatment with emetine is in order when they are suspected or the abscess can be demonstrated with a liver scan. Emetine controls the symptoms of amebiasis, but is not as successful as Diodoquin, tetracycline, or chloroquine in the elimination of the ameba. A new synthetic compound, dehydroemetine, and Flagyl also are promising remedies.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to Dr. Van Dellen, c/o the Independent-Journal, P.O. Box 330, San Rafael Ca. 94902.

PROLONGED FATIGUE

H. F. Writes: Is it natural to feel tired all the time for a year after a heart attack?

REPLY

No. Feelings of fatigue may stem from the medication or from an associated nervous disorder. Depression may be responsible, especially if the individual has been told to quit work and lead the life of a vegetable. After a heart attack, some people are afraid to be up and about and their minds play convenient tricks by making them want to sleep most of the time.

NO SUGAR

B. D. writes: Is it wise never to use sugar?

REPLY

One can live without it but there is no harm in the use of reasonable amounts if you like certain foods and beverages sweetened.

Water Limits Urged Via Countywide Plan

By ERIK M. INGRAM

The attorney for the Marin Municipal Water District proposed yesterday that population growth guidelines in the countywide general plan be followed in limiting future water connections.

In a letter circulated yesterday, attorney Tom Thorner recommended the action because it places "the entire planning burden where it belongs — on the county and the respective cities."

His proposal, if adopted, would "require any applicant for water to present a certificate from the county that the project for which he is requesting water . . . will not cause the countywide general plan population projections to be exceeded . . ."

If the project is within a city, he continued, a similar certificate will be required showing compliance with the city's general plan population projections.

One of several possibilities, Thorner said, would be to limit the number of hookups to a set amount on a quarterly or yearly basis "if the city and county planners fail to implement the countywide general plan population goals."

His letter was circulated, but not discussed, as directors of both the Marin Municipal and North Marin County Water districts outlined future water project plans to county supervisors.

The Civic Center meeting originally was called to discuss the impact of recently imposed water connection moratoriums on the countywide plan.

Time ran out before that discussion, however, and another meeting was set for next Wednesday at 8 p.m. at Civic Center.

Thorner opined in the letter that once a new water supply is created by the district "the district can adopt reasonable means to ensure that (the) water supply project lasts for the entire period for which it is planned and built."

"In order for water planners to select a project which will supply the reasonable needs of the district on a continuous basis and which will be economically sound, it is necessary that they have assurance that the water supply for 1980 will not be used up in 1975 or 1976 thus resulting in a new moratorium and substantially increased planning, financing and construction costs," he said.

"From the above it is clear that there are sound water supply planning considerations, entirely apart from any wish to control or limit growth which may exist, for limiting connections so that they last over the period of time for which the particular water supply is planned."

He said the countywide plan, which seeks to stage growth over a 20-year period, should be used as the basis for deciding when and where water connections are allowed.

Yesterday's joint meeting was devoted to staff presentations on proposed future water projects and a brief discussion on waste water reclamation.

William R. Seeger, general manager of the Marin Municipal District, said his board still has not decided whether to base its November bond election on financing an aquaduct to the Russian River or on a dam on Walker Creek in West Marin.

The board is leaning toward the Russian River project and a decision is expected by the end of August, he said.

Dr. Martin Griffin, chairman of the Marin municipal board, told supervisors he and his colleagues "are not against growth . . . but for controlled and regulated growth."

He urged creation of growth controls "with teeth." He was supported by William Wright Sr., chairman of the North Marin board.

Plans Set For Budget On Sewage

The Southern Marin Subregional Sewerage Agency Board has decided to set up a budget for the agency for another full fiscal year.

The vote on the measure was 7-1, Wednesday, with John N. Radovich from the Richardson Bay Sanitary District voting no.

According to John T. Schulte, agency administrative officer, the agency may complete the development of plans for a combined waste treatment system before the fiscal year ends.

"If at a later date, it decides not to take that long, it will disband and reimburse individual members for their expense," Schulte said.

The agency, including representatives of nine southern Marin sewerage agencies, has not adopted a budget yet. Schulte said, however, that board members have agreed on possible spending of about $75,000 for 1973-74.

Schulte said that $66,708 of that amount will be funded from tax revenues. Individual sewerage districts will contribute money to make up the rest of the budget.

The agency board also voted to hire a law firm, Wilson-Jones-Morton-Lynch of San Mateo at $150 per month."

Man Found; Gets Sent To Vacaville

A Marin City man who failed to keep a court date to be sentenced for concealing stolen property was sent yesterday to the state medical facility at Vacaville for evaluation.

Judge Henry J. Broderick of Marin Superior Court ordered the evaluation of Kenny Ray White, 21, to help decide White's sentence.

White failed to appear last month to be sentenced by Broderick and a bench warrant was issued for his arrest. San Rafael police, acting on a tip, went to 12 Ross Street Wednesday and found White hiding under a bed.

The charge of concealing stolen property resulted Jan. 19 when sheriff's deputies, guided to a Marin City apartment by a series of anonymous telephone calls, found a safe cut open and empty on a patio and saw two men fleeing.

White was arrested later that day while trying to pass $1,000 bills at a Marin City coffee shop.

According to Deputy Dist. Atty. Raymond E. Gilbert, White was busy during the time he was sought for sentencing, committing a burglary, a credit card offense and several traffic violations in Marin.

A Christian Science radio series

Will baseball stay No. 1?

From early spring through the summer, that North Marin City is the scene of scores of ball games involving hundreds of youngsters of all ages and into the adult semi-professional ranks. Lew Coddington of the Independent-Journal sports staff writes about Novato as one of the nation's hot-spots for youth baseball in this week's I-J MARIN LIVING Section. You'll learn how and why, in at least one Marin community, baseball is more firmly entrenched than ever as the No. 1 sport.

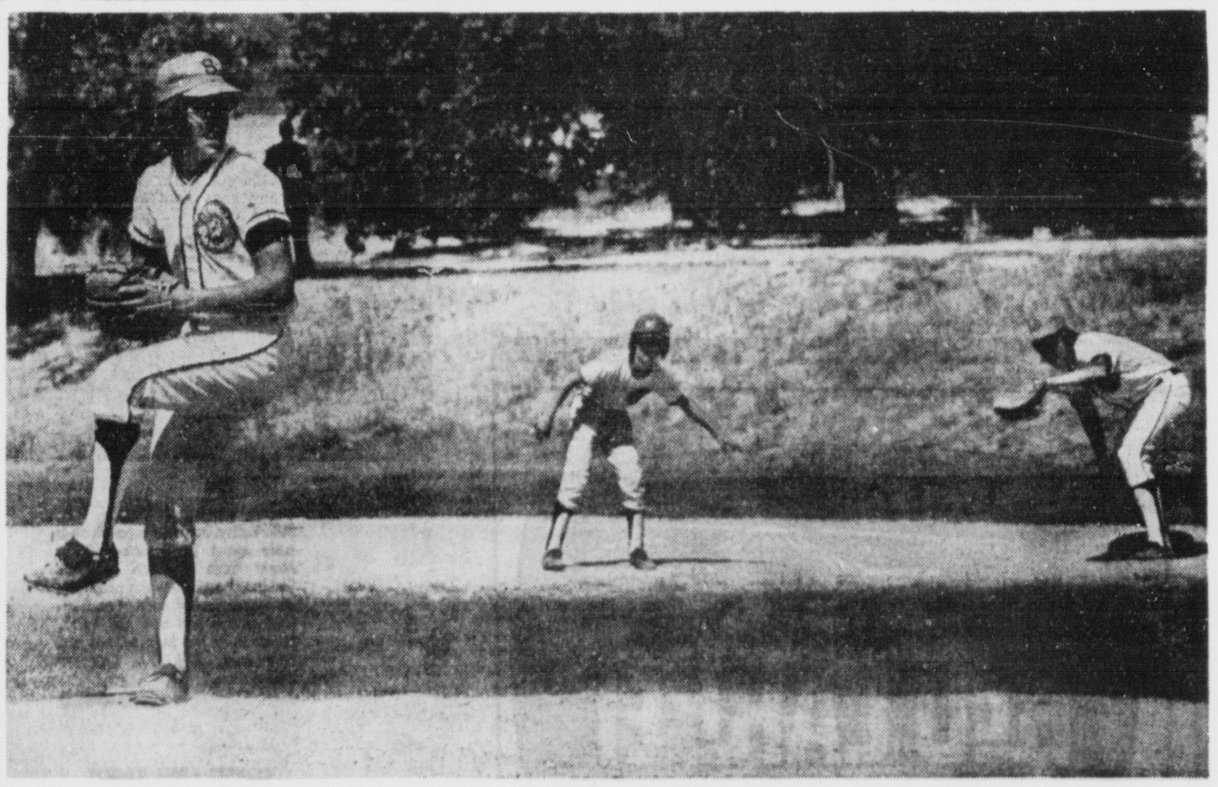
A Christian Science radio series



Will baseball stay No. 1?

Some people would have you believe that baseball is on its way out as the national sport. But you will never convince Novato residents of that. From early spring through the summer, that North Marin City is the scene of scores of ball games involving hundreds of youngsters of all ages and into the adult semi-professional ranks. Lew Coddington of the Independent-Journal sports staff writes about Novato as one of the nation's hot-spots for youth baseball in this week's I-J MARIN LIVING Section. You'll learn how and why, in at least one Marin community, baseball is more firmly entrenched than ever as the No. 1 sport.

Virginia City Saved From Brush Fire

VIRGINIA CITY, Nev. (UPI) — A fast-moving range fire came within about a mile of this historic mining town yesterday, but the liquor and gambling chips kept flowing.

The state Division of Forestry said citizens were warned of the danger and "were told they could leave voluntarily." Few, if any, did.

The blaze was contained by late evening.

"The booze was still flowing and the music was still playing," said Jim Malley, bartender at the Bucket of Blood saloon.

"Nobody closed and that includes all 23 bars," Malley said.

Business was quiet, however, because roads were closed and tourists were kept out.

The flames came within about a mile of the town of 600 people where hand-crank telephones are still used. The Old West town with many of its wooden buildings dating back to the early 1800s is a major tourist attraction, as are nearby landmarks like the fabled Comstock Lode.

"Nearly everybody in town—man, woman and child—battled that fire," said a Storey County sheriff's deputy. "We weren't going to leave until it was at our doorsteps. We're not cowards."

Firefighters reported that flames got to within about a half mile of the old mining town of Silver City, just to the south of Virginia City.

Silver City was ravaged by a fire about 20 years ago.

Flames had blackened more than 3,500 acres of brush land and fire fighters were hampered by winds of up to 20 miles an hour.

Virginia City boomed in the 1860s with the discovery of the Comstock Lode, one of the richest deposits of gold and silver, much of which was shipped to President Lincoln to bolster the credit and buying power of the Union Army.

Mark Twain and Bret Hart were reporters on the city's newspaper, the Territorial Enterprise.

Credit Check Or Coroner Report?

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (UPI) — The Cameron County clerk received a request from a national credit card company yesterday asking him to check probate records of "the late J. H. Diltz who died on or about June 30."

The Cameron County clerk is J. H. Diltz.

He said he plans to see a doctor for a physical checkup.

Netherlands Prince Injured In Crash

PORTO ERCOLE, Italy (UPI) — Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands was involved in a car accident yesterday and suffered bruises, police said.

Bernard's Ferrari and a car driven by Roberto Presenti, 21, collided on the road from Porto Ercole to Orbetello. Presenti was seriously injured.

Prices Soar; Food Shoppers Glum

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The impact of the Phase Four price hikes hovered somewhere between the wholesaler and the retailer today. Only the mechanics of marketing and the speed of the mails stopped immediate increases in the price of food in many cities, a UPI survey showed.

"Take a good look at that meat," said a supermarket meat manager in Birmingham, Ala. "You'll never see it at those prices again."

"I've never seen prices go up this fast," said David Traver, president of East Tennessee Packing Co. of Knoxville, who announced a $4 per hundredweight increase in the price of hogs. Illinois livetock markets reported all-time high prices for pork, which is currently in short supply, with hikes of between $4 and $5.50 per hundredweight.

The view from the other side of the counter was morose. In New York, Alice Monroe, a shopper at a Bohack supermarket, said, "Really, I don't know what I will do. The prices will get higher and my monthly income will stay the same. I'm worried sick about it."

"Right now we have to see where we stand," said a spokesman for the Publix grocery chain in Miami. "We have to get the guidelines first. Hopefully they will arrive by Monday." Other food retailers also said they would have to wait for details of the new program to be sent to them. Many said they would wait for wholesale prices to change before they posted new prices.

Under the new economic program announced this week, only the food and health industries are allowed to raise prices now. Other portions of the economy will have to wait until Aug. 12.

"It is going to have to be on a dollar-for-dollar basis," said Rendall Ayers, spokesman for Safeway's Denver division, which includes Colorado, Wyoming and parts of neighboring states. "We couldn't increase any price arbitrarily until we had the wholesale cost to us from our supplier. Then all we can pass along to the consumer is the amount of the increase."

In Texas, prices of pork, eggs and other foods jumped sharply yesterday according to the state agriculture department. Wholesale egg prices were already on the rise and expected to increase 10 cents a dozen in the next week on the retail level, making them about 85 cents for grade a large eggs.

Associated Milk Producers, Inc., the nation's largest milk marketing cooperative, said it will increase its prices as much as 10 per cent in 20 states from Texas to Illinois.

In Seattle, the wholesale price of eggs immediately jumped five cents a dozen. The wholesale price for AA large eggs there is now 60 cents. Other sudden jumps were expected in cereals, dog food and products using soybean oil.

In Philadelphia, a spokesman for Acme Markets said his chain's 600 stores in seven Eastern states would begin raising prices in the "near future," primarily on produce, poultry and other perishable items.

A supermarket manager in Jackson, Miss., said prices went up Thursday morning on 200-300 so-called "dry" grocery items, including dog foods, flour and meal.

One effect of Phase Four is that operators of feed lots for cattle will now be allowed to pass on their higher costs to meat packers, according to Cal Santare, a spokesman for the Western States Meat Packers Association. "Their cattle is now beyond our reach," he said, "yet we must buy it at their increased prices and sell it at a frozen ceiling price. It's such a stupid thing, I can't believe it." He predicted a beef shortage within a short time.

In the nation's commodity markets, news of the new program created a demand for farm commodities. Cash and futures prices moved up in eggs, hogs, broilers and grains, with many futures contracts gaining the maximum amount permitted in single day's trading.

In San Francisco, Del Monte Corp., the world's largest canner of fruits and vegetables, said higher costs of raw agricultural products will increase the price of the average can of fruit or vegetables less than half a cent per can.

Potato-chip addicts were worried by bad news from Maine, where the director of the state potato commission said the output of spuds was so small that there might be a shortage of the salty snack.

Ryan, Mays Late Additions To All-Star Teams

NEW YORK (UPI) — The National and American Leagues, with an assist from Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, gave the 44th All-Star game back to America's baseball fans today in moves that overrode the naivete of the managers of the two squads.

Yes, fans in Kansas City's new stadium and on the TV tube, July 24, are likely to see Willie Mays, perhaps the most exciting player of the last 25 years, perform for the Nationals and Nolan "Double and Near Triple No-Hit" Ryan make an appearance for the Americans.

Mays and Ryan were added to the respective squads Thursday after Kuhn granted the two leagues permission to increase their squads by one man apiece. The moves by baseball's three top executives came after the rival managers —Sparky Anderson of the Cincinnati Reds and Dick Williams of the Oakland A's— had failed to include Mays or Ryan on their squads.

Anderson and Williams, making their selections on the basis of current professional excellence, concluded that the 42-year old Mays of the New York Mets and the brilliant but erratic 26- year old Ryan of the California Angels did not measure up to those standards.

What they overlooked-and what Kuhn, National League President Charles Feeney and American League President Joe Cronin realized—is that the All Star game is one of the game's showcase events and has been popularized over the years since 1933 as "the fans' game" The desire of the fans to see old favorites as opposed to young players having better seasons has been evident in nationwide balloting which has consistently resulted in aging stars like Hank Aaron, Billy Williams and Harmon Killebrew winning over newer stars.

Mays' presence on the NL squad is a concession that the fans want to see No. 24 take one more turn around—perhaps his last—with the greats of the game even though his skills may be diminishing. Ryan's presence on the AL squad is an acknowledgement that the same fans want to see a pitcher who has pitched two-no-hitters and come within an inning of another in the last two months face the cream of the NL's hitters.

Other players named to the NL squad by Anderson are infielders Nate Colbert of San Diego, Dave Concepcion of Cincinnati, Darrell Evans and Dave Johnson of Atlanta, Joe Torre of St. Louis and infielder-outfielder Willie Stargell of Pittsburgh, catcher Ted Simmons of St. Louis, and outfielder Bobby Bonds of San Francisco, Willie Davis and Manny Mota of Los Angeles, Ron Fairly of Montreal and Bob Watson of Houston.

Those added to the AL squad by Williams are infielders Pat Kelly of Chicago, John Mayberry of Kansas City, Carl Yastrzemski of Boston, Cookie Rojas of Kansas City, Dave Nelson of Texas, Rod Carew of Minnesota, Eddie Brinkman of Detroit, Bert Campaneris and Sal Bando of Oakland and Buddy Bell of Cleveland, catchers Thurman Munson of New York and Bill Freehan of Detroit and outfielders Willie Horton of Detroit, Paul Blair of Baltimore and Dave May of Milwaukee.

They're all going to be there —the cream of the current stars in accordance with the thinking of Anderson and Williams—but don't bet that the most spine-tingling moments of the 44th All-Star game won't be when Mays drags his aching body onto the field for the Nationals and when Ryan goes out to throw his smoke for the Americans.

GUMBALL PITCHER — The California Angels' Nolan Ryan mopped his brow, blew bubbles and otherwise battled tension last night in Anaheim as he tried to pitch his second consecutive no-hitter and third of the season. He got as far as the eighth inning, but Baltimore's Mark Belanger spoiled the effort with a leadoff single and the Orioles went on to win in 11 innings, 3-1.

Football, TV Near Agreement

NEW YORK (UPI) — The three major television networks are close to reaching a new contract agreement for the next four seasons with the National Football League, an NFL spokesman said Thursday night.

The league's current contracts with the Columbia Broadcasting System (CBS), the National Broadcasting Company (NBC) and the American Broadcasting Company (ABC) expire at the end of this season. The new pact will run through the 1977 season.

The NFL spokesman confirmed as "accurate" a New York Times report that Pete Rozelle, commissioner of the league, said, "we've reached some accord with the networks but we still have some things to work out."

Rozelle had previously announced that the three networks would be given the option to continue the coverage they now have. That means that CBS will continue to show mainly NFC Action with NBC televising AFC games and ABC showing the Monday night game.

A's Williams Doing 'Well' In Hospital

May Not Manage All-Stars

OAKLAND (AP) — Manager Dick Williams of the Oakland Athletics was "doing very, very well" at Merritt Hospital here today after an emergency appendectomy, but it was uncertain he would recover fast enough to manage the American Leaguers in baseball's All-Star Game Tuesday in Kansas City.

A head nurse said Williams' 45-minute operation Thursday "went smoothly" and that he was "doing very, very well."

The A's team physician, Dr. Charles Hudson, performed the operation and said he would not make an estimate when Williams could return to his baseball duties until after examining him today.

In Boston Joe Cronin, American League president, said he would talk with Williams today before taking any steps to replace the 44-year-old pilot of the world champions for the All-Star game.

Cronin said Thursday night, "Chuck Tanner is a coach and I'll suggest to Dick that we have Tanner as manager of the game." Tanner is manager of the Chicago White Sox.

Williams' son, Mark, 16, said his father started feeling some pains in his side during Wednesday night's game here with Baltimore. He went to the hospital about 1:30 p.m. Wednesday for a checkup and was admitted for the operation.

Rah-Rah 'Skins Get Dour Duane

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Will Duane Thomas give three cheers for the Redskins?

That's what Washington Coach George Allen will be looking to find out when and if the sullen and controversial running back reports to the Skins following his trade Thursday from the San Diego Chargers.

Allen prides himself on instilling a near college spirit in his club despite its comparative advanced age. He leads the team in cheers after victories, gives out ice cream as rewards and is a believer in the rahrah school of coaching.

Now along comes Thomas, with a reputation as a vastly talented but uncommunicative and unresponsive athlete. And Allen, who also fancies himself as a saviour of lost souls in pro football, may be undertaking his biggest task.

Thomas led the Dallas Cowboys in rushing in 1970 and 1971 and helped the club win the Super Bowl in 1971 despite the fact that he turned many of his own teammates sour with his attitude. Following a number of squabbles with Head Coach Tom Landry, Thomas was traded last season to New England, returned by the Patriots and subsequently dealt to San Diego for wide receiver Billy Parks and running back Mike Montgomery. However, he never came to terms and didn't play.

He seemed to want to play again this season but showed up

TOUGH LUCK LOSS

A Near-Miss For Ryan

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Good Grief, Nolan Ryan lost the game, too.

It was frustrating enough that he came within six outs of becoming the first pitcher ever to throw three no-hitters in one season and the first since 1938 to throw consecutive no-hitters.

But the California Angels' right-hander, who pitched a nohitter in Detroit Sunday, was eventually charged with the loss as the Baltimore Orioles squeezed out a 3-1 triumph in 11 innings.

Good Grief.

A wild pitch and a fluke hit cost him the spot in the history books. But as Ryan said after it was over, "personally I think I have another shot if I keep my stuff and my luck stays with me."

Ryan, who was named to the All-Star team by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn Thursday in an unusual move when the squad was increased from 28 to 29 men, didn't give up a hit until Mark Belanger singled with none out in the eighth.

He tried to bunt on the first pitch and Ryan expected another bunt attempt on the next pitch when Belanger blooped it for a hit.

"It was a fast ball in," Ryan said, "I took a chance he was bunting and he pushed it over the infield. They gambled and it paid off. If I had my choice, I'd rather lose it on a sharp hit ball than something just over the infield. I went into the game giving it my best shot. I don't get that chance very often and you might as well give it your best shot."

Belanger said, "I know he thought I was going to bunt again. I knew I was going to get the high heater and I was just looking fastball. Ken Berry was shading me to right and wasn't too deep. If he plays me straight away, he catches it easy."

Belanger's hit was the only

Giants, Cubs Lurch Into 3-Game Series

CHICAGO (UPI) — Two clubs who got off to hot starts but are now faltering open a three-game set today when San Francisco calls on the Chicago Cubs.

Giants Manager Charlie Fox has named Juan Marichal (7-5), who looked like the Marichal of old in his last outing, to go against Rich Reuschel (10-6) of the Cubs in today's opener.

Chicago seemed to be breezing to the Eastern Division title but slumped while St. Louis has come roaring from the cellar to climb within a game of the Cubs.

San Francisco once led the Western Division but then sagged as Los Angeles has rolled to an 8 ½ game lead over the Giants.

Each club goes into today's series with an all-star infielder on the sidelines. Cubs' third sacker Ron Santo has a muscle pull and Giants shortstop Chris Spier has a shoulder problem.

The Giants were idle Thursday.

Beard Doesn't Pass His Physical Exam

SANTA BARBARA, (AP) — Middle linebacker Ed Beard, who underwent knee surgery last winter, has failed to pass the San Francisco 49ers' physical examination and will be put on a special rehabilitative program until the knee recovers, Coach Dick Nolan says.

Frank Nunley, who was forced out of the middle linebacker post early last season by injuries, has mended and will take over again.

All veterans except Beard passed physical examinations and took the 1¾-mile run Thursday. For the first time, all the backs completed it in the required time on their first attempt. Quarterback John Brodie finished last, coming in just 30 seconds ahead of the time deadline.

"They all finished with time to spare which proves they're in good condition now," Nolan said.

Center Forrest Blue had the best time for linemen and John Isenbarger led the backs and receivers.

A knee injury in practice Wednesday is expected to sideline rookie linebacker Mike Fulk of Indiana for two weeks. He was sent to San Francisco Thursday for an examination.

Raiders' Keating Wants Out

SANTA ROSA (AP) — Oakland Raiders Coach John Madden has confirmed reports he is trying to meet veteran tackle Tom Keating's request to be traded.

Keating is not in camp and was told Thursday by Madden: "Don't come in until Saturday. We'll try to work something out."

After an all-pro 1970 season, Keating, 31, suffered a broken leg early in 1971 and then lost his starting job to Otis Sistrunk last year.

Also failing to report to training camp here by the Tuesday deadline were wide receiver Fred Biletnikoff and defensive starting back Nemiah Wilson. Apparently both are holdouts, although Madden would only say, "I'm only concerned with the players who are here."

Marinwood In Senior Division Tourney Win

Marinwood scored two runs in the bottom of the fifth inning last night to take a 3-2 victory over San Rafael in the Senior Little League tournament at Hamilton Field.

Marinwood, now 1-1 in the double-elimination tourney, will face Fairfax today at 6 o'clock. San Rafael was eliminated with the loss.

Marinwood scored their two fifth inning runs on singles by Jim Wright and Kenneth Bolt and an error on Brad Lucchi's grounder. Chuck Walters pitched four innings of one-hit relief for Marinwood.

Ryan, Mays Late Additions To All-Star Teams

NEW YORK (UPI) — The National and American Leagues, with an assist from Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, gave the 44th All-Star game back to America's baseball fans today in moves that overrode the naivete of the managers of the two squads.

Yes, fans in Kansas City's new stadium and on the TV tube, July 24, are likely to see Willie Mays, perhaps the most exciting player of the last 25 years, perform for the Nationals and Nolan "Double and Near Triple No-Hit" Ryan make an appearance for the Americans.

Mays and Ryan were added to the respective squads Thursday after Kuhn granted the two leagues permission to increase their squads by one man apiece. The moves by baseball's three top executives came after the rival managers —Sparky Anderson of the Cincinnati Reds and Dick Williams of the Oakland A's— had failed to include Mays or Ryan on their squads.

Anderson and Williams, making their selections on the basis of current professional excellence, concluded that the 42-year old Mays of the New York Mets and the brilliant but erratic 26- year old Ryan of the California Angels did not measure up to those standards.

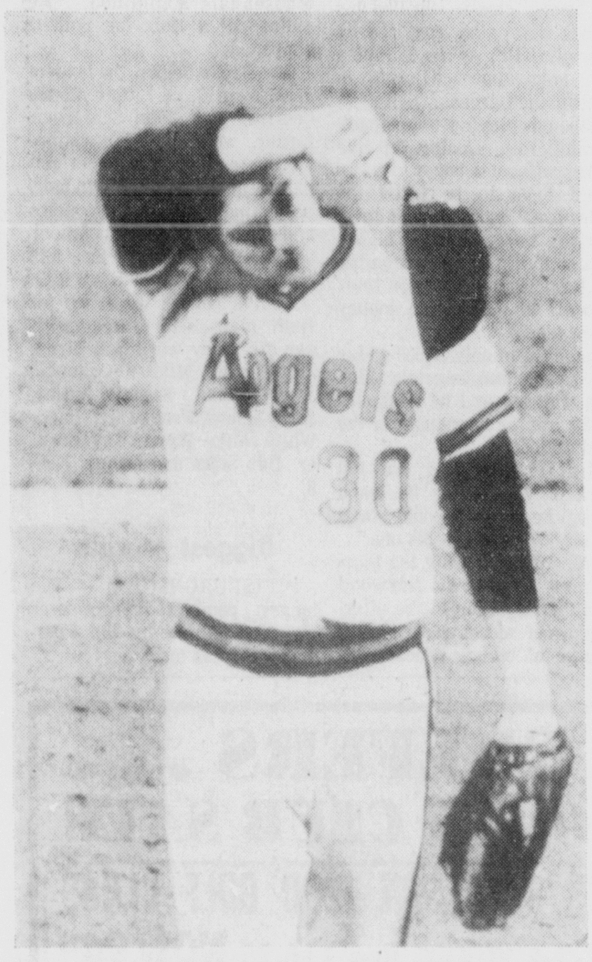
What they overlooked-and what Kuhn, National League President Charles Feeney and American League President Joe Cronin realized—is that the All Star game is one of the game's showcase events and has been popularized over the years since 1933 as "the fans' game" The desire of the fans to see old favorites as opposed to young players having better seasons has been evident in nationwide balloting which has consistently resulted in aging stars like Hank Aaron, Billy Williams and Harmon Killebrew winning over newer stars.

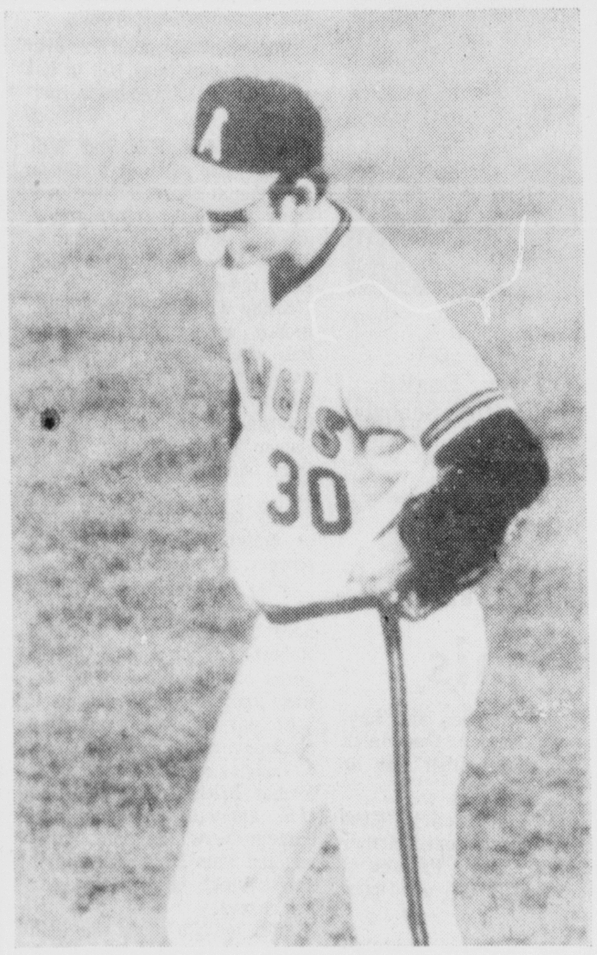
Mays' presence on the NL squad is a concession that the fans want to see No. 24 take one more turn around—perhaps his last—with the greats of the game even though his skills may be diminishing. Ryan's presence on the AL squad is an acknowledgement that the same fans want to see a pitcher who has pitched two-no-hitters and come within an inning of another in the last two months face the cream of the NL's hitters.

Other players named to the NL squad by Anderson are infielders Nate Colbert of San Diego, Dave Concepcion of Cincinnati, Darrell Evans and Dave Johnson of Atlanta, Joe Torre of St. Louis and infielder-outfielder Willie Stargell of Pittsburgh, catcher Ted Simmons of St. Louis, and outfielder Bobby Bonds of San Francisco, Willie Davis and Manny Mota of Los Angeles, Ron Fairly of Montreal and Bob Watson of Houston.

Those added to the AL squad by Williams are infielders Pat Kelly of Chicago, John Mayberry of Kansas City, Carl Yastrzemski of Boston, Cookie Rojas of Kansas City, Dave Nelson of Texas, Rod Carew of Minnesota, Eddie Brinkman of Detroit, Bert Campaneris and Sal Bando of Oakland and Buddy Bell of Cleveland, catchers Thurman Munson of New York and Bill Freehan of Detroit and outfielders Willie Horton of Detroit, Paul Blair of Baltimore and Dave May of Milwaukee.

They're all going to be there —the cream of the current stars in accordance with the thinking of Anderson and Williams—but don't bet that the most spine-tingling moments of the 44th All-Star game won't be when Mays drags his aching body onto the field for the Nationals and when Ryan goes out to throw his smoke for the Americans.





GUMBALL PITCHER — The California Angels' Nolan Ryan mopped his brow, blew bubbles and otherwise battled tension last night in Anaheim as he tried to pitch his second consecutive no-hitter and third of the season. He got as far as the eighth inning, but Baltimore's Mark Belanger spoiled the effort with a leadoff single and the Orioles went on to win in 11 innings, 3-1.

Football, TV Near Agreement

NEW YORK (UPI) — The three major television networks are close to reaching a new contract agreement for the next four seasons with the National Football League, an NFL spokesman said Thursday night.

The league's current contracts with the Columbia Broadcasting System (CBS), the National Broadcasting Company (NBC) and the American Broadcasting Company (ABC) expire at the end of this season. The new pact will run through the 1977 season.

The NFL spokesman confirmed as "accurate" a New York Times report that Pete Rozelle, commissioner of the league, said; "we've reached some accord with the networks but we still have some things to work out."

Rozelle had previously announced that the three networks would be given the option to continue the coverage they now have. That means that CBS will continue to show mainly NFC Action with NBC televising AFC games and ABC showing the Monday night game.

According to the Times report, the four-year pact would cost almost $200 million, an increase of almost $10 million a year.

The four-year contract that is now expiring cost in the neighborhood of $164 million.

A's Williams Doing 'Well' In Hospital

May Not Manage All-Stars

OAKLAND (AP) — Manager Dick Williams of the Oakland Athletics was "doing very, very well" at Merritt Hospital here today after an emergency appendectomy, but it was uncertain he would recover fast enough to manage the American Leaguers in baseball's All-Star Game Tuesday in Kansas City.

A head nurse said Williams' 45-minute operation Thursday "went smoothly" and that he was "doing very, very well."

The A's team physician, Dr. Charles Hudson, performed the operation and said he would not make an estimate when Williams could return to his baseball duties until after examining him today.

In Boston Joe Cronin, American League president, said he would talk with Williams today before taking any steps to replace the 44-year-old pilot of the world champions for the All-Star game.

Cronin said Thursday night, "Chuck Tanner is a coach and I'll suggest to Dick that we have Tanner as manager of the game." Tanner is manager of the Chicago White Sox.

"It was real sudden and took everybody by surprise," said A's public relations director Bob Fulton.

Williams' son, Mark, 16, said his father started feeling some pains in his side during Wednesday night's game here with Baltimore. He went to the hospital about 1:30 p.m. Wednesday for a checkup and was admitted for the operation.

Rah-Rah 'Skins Get Dour Duane

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Will Duane Thomas give three cheers for the Redskins?

That's what Washington Coach George Allen will be looking to find out when and if the sullen and controversial running back reports to the Skins following his trade Thursday from the San Diego Chargers.

Allen prides himself on instilling a near college spirit in his club despite its comparative advanced age. He leads the team in cheers after victories, gives out ice cream as rewards and is a believer in the rahrah school of coaching.

Now along comes Thomas, with a reputation as a vastly talented but uncommunicative and unresponsive athlete. And Allen, who also fancies himself as a saviour of lost souls in pro football, may be undertaking his biggest task.

Thomas led the Dallas Cowboys in rushing in 1970 and 1971 and helped the club win the Super Bowl in 1971 despite the fact that he turned many of his own teammates sour with his attitude. Following a number of squabbles with Head Coach Tom Landry, Thomas was traded last season to New England, returned by the Patriots and subsequently dealt to San Diego for wide receiver Billy Parks and running back Mike Montgomery. However, he never came to terms and didn't play.

He seemed to want to play again this season but showed up

TOUGH LUCK LOSS

A Near-Miss For Ryan

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Good Grief, Nolan Ryan lost the game, too.

It was frustrating enough that he came within six outs of becoming the first pitcher ever to throw three no-hitters in one season and the first since 1938 to throw consecutive no-hitters.

But the California Angels' right-hander, who pitched a nohitter in Detroit Sunday, was eventually charged with the loss as the Baltimore Orioles squeezed out a 3-1 triumph in 11 innings.

Good Grief.

A wild pitch and a fluke hit cost him the spot in the history books. But as Ryan said after it was over, "personally I think I have another shot if I keep my stuff and my luck stays with me."

Ryan, who was named to the All-Star team by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn Thursday in an unusual move when the squad was increased from 28 to 29 men, didn't give up a hit until Mark Belanger singled with none out in the eighth.

He tried to bunt on the first pitch and Ryan expected another bunt attempt on the next pitch when Belanger blooped it for a hit.

"It was a fast ball in," Ryan said, "I took a chance he was bunting and he pushed it over the infield. They gambled and it paid off. If I had my choice, I'd rather lose it on a sharp hit ball than something just over the infield. I went into the game giving it my best shot. I don't get that chance very often and you might as well give it your best shot."

Belanger said, "I know he thought I was going to bunt again. I knew I was going to get the high heater and I was just looking fastball. Ken Berry was shading me to right and wasn't too deep. If he plays me straight away, he catches it easy."

Belanger's hit was the only

Giants, Cubs Lurch Into 3-Game Series

CHICAGO (UPI) — Two clubs who got off to hot starts but are now faltering open a three-game set today when San Francisco calls on the Chicago Cubs.

Giants Manager Charlie Fox has named Juan Marichal (7-5), who looked like the Marichal of old in his last outing, to go against Rich Reuschel (10-6) of the Cubs in today's opener.

Chicago seemed to be breezing to the Eastern Division title but slumped while St. Louis has come roaring from the cellar to climb within a game of the Cubs.

San Francisco once led the Western Division but then sagged as Los Angeles has rolled to an 8 ½ game lead over the Giants.

Each club goes into today's series with an all-star infielder on the sidelines. Cubs' third sacker Ron Santo has a muscle pull and Giants shortstop Chris Spier has a shoulder problem.

The Giants were idle Thursday.

Beard Doesn't Pass His Physical Exam

SANTA BARBARA, (AP) — Middle linebacker Ed Beard, who underwent knee surgery last winter, has failed to pass the San Francisco 49ers' physical examination and will be put on a special rehabilitative program until the knee recovers, Coach Dick Nolan says.

Frank Nunley, who was forced out of the middle linebacker post early last season by injuries, has mended and will take over again.

All veterans except Beard passed physical examinations and took the 1¾-mile run Thursday. For the first time, all the backs completed it in the required time on their first attempt. Quarterback John Brodie finished last, coming in just 30 seconds ahead of the time deadline.

"They all finished with time to spare which proves they're in good condition now," Nolan said.

Center Forrest Blue had the best time for linemen and John Isenbarger led the backs and receivers.

A knee injury in practice Wednesday is expected to sideline rookie linebacker Mike Fulk of Indiana for two weeks. He was sent to San Francisco Thursday for an examination.

Raiders' Keating Wants Out

SANTA ROSA (AP) — Oakland Raiders Coach John Madden has confirmed reports he is trying to meet veteran tackle Tom Keating's request to be traded.

Keating is not in camp and was told Thursday by Madden: "Don't come in until Saturday. We'll try to work something out."

After an all-pro 1970 season, Keating, 31, suffered a broken leg early in 1971 and then lost his starting job to Otis Sistrunk last year.

Also failing to report to training camp here by the Tuesday deadline were wide receiver Fred Biletnikoff and defensive starting back Nemiah Wilson. Apparently both are holdouts, although Madden would only say, "I'm only concerned with the players who are here."

Marinwood In Senior Division Tourney Win

Marinwood scored two runs in the bottom of the fifth inning last night to take a 3-2 victory over San Rafael in the Senior Little League tournament at Hamilton Field.

Marinwood, now 1-1 in the double-elimination tourney, will face Fairfax today at 6 o'clock. San Rafael was eliminated with the loss.

Marinwood scored their two fifth inning runs on singles by Jim Wright and Kenneth Bolt and an error on Brad Lucchi's grounder. Chuck Walters pitched four innings of one-hit relief for Marinwood.

COMMEMORATING A SOD OCCASION

Amateur Day In Gal's Golf

Cynthia Hill, a 25-year-old amateur from Colorado Springs, Colo., shot a first-round 68, a women's record on the 6,120-yard Country Club of Rochester course, for a two-stroke lead over Barbara Boddie, a premier amateur who just turned pro last month.

"It's the best round I've ever played," said Miss Hill of her seven-birdie, three-bogie performance.

While Miss Hill and Mrs. Boddie, who says she's still an amateur at heart, bubbled over their sub-par performances, most of the game's top names did a slow burn when their clubs turned cold.

Kathy Whitworth, the leading money winner on the LPGA tour who has won every major title except this one, was among 18 golfers at 78, as was two-time Open winner Donna Caponi Young. Another former Open winner, Carol Mann, had a 79.

Only seven players shot par or better and of the 14 low scorers, six were amateurs.

Betsy Rawls, who won the second of her four Open titles here 20 years ago, and Sue Roberts, a non-winner in five years on the ladies PGA tour, were another stroke back at 71.

At par 72 were defending champion Susie Berning, Mrs. J. Douglas Streit of Ontario, the former British, Australian and U.S. amateur champion and current Canadian amateur titleist, and Pam Higgins, who has one triumph in her five-year pro career.

After today's round, the field of 141 will be cut to the 50 low scores and ties for the final two days of play Saturday and Sunday.

Two-Way Tie In St. Louis Golf

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — While the heat and humidity had caddies bickering, young Rik Massengale kept his cool to claim a share of the lead with veteran Bob Goalby going into today's second round of the $210,000 St. Louis Golf Classic.

Looking like a model for golfing wear, the 26-year-old Texan fired a five-below-par 65 Thursday to keep up with local favorite Goalby.

Goalby, who finished third in last year's classic, thrilled his friends who came from nearby Belleville, Ill., as he gambled with long approach shots to rain-softened greens.

Although playing in a steady morning rain, Goalby hit five birdies without a bogey.

"I'd have to be rated the underdog," said Massengale, who has never finished higher than sixth in three years on the pro tour. Goalby has won tournaments and he's won money every year.

Having won only $9,529 so far this year, Massengale's blue eyes widened and he flashed a toothy grin as he thought of the possibilities.

"I'm right below the 100 mark on the money list each week," he said. "I could stand the $42,000 prize for this one."

Massengale, touring the tournament course at Norwood Hills Country Club in the afternoon when scores were higher because of bumpy greens, finished with five birdies and no bogeys.

"This is the steadiest round of golf I've ever played," he said. "I don't play too many rounds without a bogey."

Massengale continued his consistent play despite a hassle between his caddy and Don Iverson's caddy at the 15th hole.

"My caddy walked in front of Don while he was making a shot and his caddy got mad," Massengale explained. "He pulled out a club, but nothing happened,"

One stroke behind the leaders at 66 were Gene Littler, Chuck Courtney and John Schroeder. Littler, who missed a chance for the lead when a 15-foot putt pulled up short on the 17th hole, complained of stomach pains and went to a doctor immediately after leaving the 18th green.

Twelve golfers were tied for sixth place with three-under-par 67s. They were Bob Wynn, Jim Ferriell, Mike McCullough, J. C. Snead, Kermit Zarley, Jerry Heard, Fred Marti, Larry White, Mike Wynn, Gay Brewer, Dan Sikes and Dwight Nevil.

Biggest Margin

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The biggest pennant margin ever was 27½ games by the Pittsburgh Pirates in 1902.

The grand prize will be a round trip for two, donated by Pacific Southwest Airlines, plus two nights stay at either the Queen Mary in Long Beach or the Islandia in San Diego. A buffet luncheon at 11:30 a.m. precedes the 1:30 p.m. starting time.

at training camp a day late and was sent home by Coach Harland Svare. A meeting brought Thomas back to the Chargers' Irvine, Calif., training site but Svare and Thomas clashed again and the bruising running back was headed to Washington.

"He wasn't warming up," Svare explained. "He had his own special way of doing things. I asked him about it this afternoon and he didn't give me an answer. I don't want that kind of team. At that moment, I made the decision. I called George Allen and he was on his way.

"It's like an interception thrown or a missed tackle. There'a another down coming up. You have to learn to put these things behind you and I'm putting this situation behind me now."

Thomas has given no indication whether he'll report to the Skins or not but National Football League defenses already are shuddering with just the thought of Thomas and Larry Brown, the NFC Player of the Year last season, in the same backfield.

Elsewhere in the camps, All Star defensive tackle Bob Lilly, threatening retirement earlier in the week, relented and reported to the Dallas Cowboys' training base.

"I talked to Tex (General Manager Tex Schramm) until 2 a.m.," Lilly said. "That's when I decided to come back and see the situation here for myself."

Quarterback Craig Morton, who walked out of camp recently over contract problems, is still no closer to settling.

The World Champion Miami Dolphins cut their holdout list to one with the signing of tight end Marv Fleming. Only safety Jake Scott has not come to terms.

one off Ryan for the first nine innings. But the score was still tied 1-1 after nine because Rich Coggins walked, stole second, went to third on Ryan's wild pitch in the first inning, and scored on Tommy Davis' groundout.

That wild pitch and Belanger's bloop were the difference between a 1-0 no-hit victory and the 3-1 defeat.

Belanger singled again in the 10th for the second Baltimore hit and Davis hit a one-out double in the 11th off him.

"I had lost it," Ryan said. "I didn't have any more. The arm was tired."

The Angels brought on Dave Sells, who got Paul Blair to ground out but walked Ellie Hendricks before Terry Crowley doubled in the two runs that decided the game.

And pinned the loss on Ryan. He's 11-12 now.

Angel Manager Bobby Winkles said, "He was very tired. He pitched some sort of game. That guy pitches in the toughest luck" as he noted Ryan has been a shutout victim four times.

In the other two American League games, Minnesota topped Boston 6-2 and Milwaukee beat Texas 4-1. In the National League action, Cincinnati beat Montreal 3-2, Chicago routed San Diego 12-5 and Los Angeles topped St. Louis 3-2.

Darrell Porter, who collected three hits including two doubles and a triple, drove in two runs to pace Milwaukee over Texas. Skip Lockwood got the win with relief help from Eduardo Rodriguez.

Jim Brewer retired Bernie Carbo on a groundout with the bases loaded and two out in the ninth to preserve Los Angeles' win over St. Louis. Al Downing had a two-hitter going into the ninth before getting in trouble.

Twins' Decker Halts Red Sox

BOSTON (UPI) — Petaluma's Joe Decker pitched a five-hitter last night to lead the Minnesota Twins to a 6-2 American League win over the Red Sox.

With the victory, Decker raised his 1973 record to 4-5. He allowed just one earned run, a homer to right in the first inning by Reggie Smith.

Connors Triumphs In U.S. Pro Tennis

BROOKLINE, Mass. (UPI) — Young Jimmy Connors says he's looking no further than tonight's match, when he meets sixth-seeded Dick Stockton.

Connors, a 20-year-old from Bellville, Ill., smashed his way to another win Thursday when he defeated South Africa's Ray Moore, 6-1, 2-6, 6-3, in the second round of the U.S. Professional Tennis Tournament at Longwood Cricket Club here.

Connors, who upset topseeded Stan Smith earlier in the week, will meet Stockton in the quarterfinal round of the $60,000 tournament tonight.

"I'm not looking ahead in this tournament beyond Stockton," said the left-handed Connors. "We have played each other since I was 10. We've played all the junior matches and anything can happen. One break and you could either lose or win."

A crowd of nearly 5,000 watched second-seeded Arthur Ashe whip Charlie Pasarell of Santurce, P.R., 6-3, 6-1 Thursday night.

In the doubles matches Thursday, Riessen and Ismail El Shafei of Egypt defeated Doug Crawford of Weston, Mass., and John Fort of Great Britain, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3.

Alexander and Phil Dent of Australia beat Paul Sullivan of Wayland, Mass., and Keith Jennings of Weston, Mass.; Smith and Eric van Dillen of San Mateo, Calif., won their game with Jaime Fillol of Chile and Moore, 3-6, 6-2, 6-2; Nikki Pilic of Yugoslavia and Bob Carmichael of France defeated Britain's Graham Stilwell and Gerald Battrick, 6-3, 6-2.

Riessen and El Shafei went on to upset the top-seeded team of Ashe and Tanner 7-6, 6-3.

In the quarterfinal doubles matches, Mike Estep of Dallas and Paul Gerkin of East Norwalk, Conn., rallied to defeat the team of Jeff Borowiak of Tiburon, Calif., and Pakistan's Haroon Rahim, 1-6, 6-3, 7-6. Alexander and Dent defeated Pilic and Carmichael, 5-7, 7-6, 6-3.

Belvedere's Machette Triumphs In Tacoma

TACOMA, Wash. (UPI) — Mike Machette of Belvedere, seeded eighth in the 82nd annual Pacific Northwest Tennis Championships, Thursday defeated Paul Sidone of Pebble Beach in a men's singles match, 6-4, 6-4.

All other seeded players won except for No. 5, Steve Dooherty of Australia, who was ousted by David Bryant of Amarillo, Tex., 7-6, 4-6, 6-4.

COMMEMORATING A SOD OCCASION

Amateur Day In Gal's Golf

Cynthia Hill, a 25-year-old amateur from Colorado Springs, Colo., shot a first-round 68, a women's record on the 6,120-yard Country Club of Rochester course, for a two-stroke lead over Barbara Boddie, a premier amateur who just turned pro last month.

"It's the best round I've ever played," said Miss Hill of her seven-birdie, three-bogie performance.

While Miss Hill and Mrs. Boddie, who says she's still an amateur at heart, bubbled over their sub-par performances, most of the game's top names did a slow burn when their clubs turned cold.

Kathy Whitworth, the leading money winner on the LPGA tour who has won every major title except this one, was among 18 golfers at 78, as was two-time Open winner Donna Caponi Young. Another former Open winner, Carol Mann, had a 79.

Only seven players shot par or better and of the 14 low scorers, six were amateurs.

Betsy Rawls, who won the second of her four Open titles here 20 years ago, and Sue Roberts, a non-winner in five years on the ladies PGA tour, were another stroke back at 71.

At par 72 were defending champion Susie Berning, Mrs. J. Douglas Streit of Ontario, the former British, Australian and U.S. amateur champion and current Canadian amateur titleist, and Pam Higgins, who has one triumph in her five-year pro career.

After today's round, the field of 141 will be cut to the 50 low scores and ties for the final two days of play Saturday and Sunday.

Two-Way Tie In St. Louis Golf

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — While the heat and humidity had caddies bickering, young Rik Massengale kept his cool to claim a share of the lead with veteran Bob Goalby going into today's second round of the $210,000 St. Louis Golf Classic.

Looking Like a model for golfing wear, the 26-year-old Texan fired a five-below-par 65 Thursday to keep up with local favorite Goalby.

Goalby, who finished third in last year's classic, thrilled his friends who came from nearby Belleville, Ill., as he gambled with long approach shots to rain-softened greens.

Although playing in a steady morning rain, Goalby hit five birdies without a bogey.

"I'd have to be rated the underdog," said Massengale, who has never finished higher than sixth in three years on the pro tour. Goalby has won tournaments and he's won money every year.

Having won only $9,529 so far this year, Massengale's blue eyes widened and he flashed a toothy grin as he thought of the possibilities.

"I'm right below the 100 mark on the money list each week," he said. "I could stand the $42,000 prize for this one."

Massengale, touring the tournament course at Norwood Hills Country Club in the afternoon when scores were higher because of bumpy greens, finished with five birdies and no bogeys.

"This is the steadiest round of golf I've ever played," he said. "I don't play too many rounds without a bogey."

"My caddy walked in front of Don while he was making a shot and his caddy got mad," Massengale explained. "He pulled out a club, but nothing happened."

One stroke behind the leaders at 66 were Gene Littler, Chuck Courtney and John Schroeder. Littler, who missed a chance for the lead when a 15-foot putt pulled up short on the 17th hole, complained of stomach pains and went to a doctor immediately after leaving the 18th green.

Twelve golfers were tied for sixth place with three-under-par 67s. They were Bob Wynn, Jim Ferriell, Mike McCullough, J. C. Snead, Kermit Zarley, Jerry Heard, Fred Marti, Larry White, Mike Wynn, Gay Brewer, Dan Sikes and Dwight Nevil.

Biggest Margin

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The biggest pennant margin ever was 27½ games by the Pittsburgh Pirates in 1902.

THOMAS

at training camp a day late and was sent home by Coach Harland Svare. A meeting brought Thomas back to the Chargers' Irvine, Calif., training site but Svare and Thomas clashed again and the bruising running back was headed to Washington.

"He wasn't warming up," Svare explained. "He had his own special way of doing things. I asked him about it this afternoon and he didn't give me an answer. I don't want that kind of team. At that moment, I made the decision. I called George Allen and he was on his way.

"It's like an interception thrown or a missed tackle. There'a another down coming up. You have to learn to put these things behind you and I'm putting this situation behind me now."

Thomas has given no indication whether he'll report to the Skins or not but National Football League defenses already are shuddering with just the thought of Thomas and Larry Brown, the NFC Player of the Year last season, in the same backfield.

Elsewhere in the camps, All Star defensive tackle Bob Lilly, threatening retirement earlier in the week, relented and reported to the Dallas Cowboys' training base.

"I talked to Tex (General Manager Tex Schramm) until 2 a.m.," Lilly said. "That's when I decided to come back and see the situation here for myself."

Quarterback Craig Morton, who walked out of camp recently over contract problems, is still no closer to settling.

The World Champion Miami Dolphins cut their holdout list to one with the signing of tight end Marv Fleming. Only safety Jake Scott has not come to terms.

The Baltimore Colts dealt tight end John Mosier to Buffalo for a draft choice.

MAJORS

one off Ryan for the first nine innings. But the score was still tied 1-1 after nine because Rich Coggins walked, stole second, went to third on Ryan's wild pitch in the first inning, and scored on Tommy Davis' groundout.

That wild pitch and Belanger's bloop were the difference between a 1-0 no-hit victory and the 3-1 defeat.

Belanger singled again in the 10th for the second Baltimore hit and Davis hit a one-out double in the 11th off him.

"I had lost it," Ryan said. "I didn't have any more. The arm was tired."

The Angels brought on Dave Sells, who got Paul Blair to ground out but walked Ellie Hendricks before Terry Crowley doubled in the two runs that decided the game.

And pinned the loss on Ryan. He's 11-12 now.

Angel Manager Bobby Winkles said, "He was very tired. He pitched some sort of game. That guy pitches in the toughest luck" as he noted Ryan has been a shutout victim four times.

In the other two American League games, Minnesota topped Boston 6-2 and Milwaukee beat Texas 4-1. In the National League action, Cincinnati beat Montreal 3-2, Chicago routed San Diego 12-5 and Los Angeles topped St. Louis 3-2.

Darrell Porter, who collected three hits including two doubles and a triple, drove in two runs to pace Milwaukee over Texas. Skip Lockwood got the win with relief help from Eduardo Rodriguez.

Jim Brewer retired Bernie Carbo on a groundout with the bases loaded and two out in the ninth to preserve Los Angeles' win over St. Louis. Al Downing had a two-hitter going into the ninth before getting in trouble.

Connors Triumphs In U.S. Pro Tennis

BROOKLINE, Mass. (UPI) — Young Jimmy Connors says he's looking no further than tonight's match, when he meets sixth-seeded Dick Stockton.

Connors, a 20-year-old from Bellville, Ill., smashed his way to another win Thursday when he defeated South Africa's Ray Moore, 6-1, 2-6, 6-3, in the second round of the U.S. Professional Tennis Tournament at Longwood Cricket Club here.

Connors, who upset topseeded Stan Smith earlier in the week, will meet Stockton in the quarterfinal round of the $60,000 tournament tonight.

"I'm not looking ahead in this tournament beyond Stockton," said the left-handed Connors. "We have played each other since I was 10. We've played all the junior matches and anything can happen. One break and you could either lose or win."

A crowd of nearly 5,000 watched second-seeded Arthur Ashe whip Charlie Pasarell of Santurce, P.R., 6-3, 6-1 Thursday night.

In the doubles matches Thursday, Riessen and Ismail El Shafei of Egypt defeated Doug Crawford of Weston, Mass., and John Fort of Great Britain, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3.

Alexander and Phil Dent of Australia beat Paul Sullivan of Wayland, Mass., and Keith Jennings of Weston, Mass.; Smith and Eric van Dillen of San Mateo, Calif., won their game with Jaime Fillol of Chile and Moore, 3-6, 6-2, 6-2; Nikki Pilic of Yugoslavia and Bob Carmichael of France defeated Britain's Graham Stilwell and Gerald Battrick, 6-3, 6-2.

Riessen and El Shafei went on to upset the top-seeded team of Ashe and Tanner 7-6, 6-3.

In the quarterfinal doubles matches, Mike Estep of Dallas and Paul Gerkin of East Norwalk, Conn., rallied to defeat the team of Jeff Borowiak of Tiburon, Calif., and Pakistan's Haroon Rahim, 1-6, 6-3, 7-6. Alexander and Dent defeated Pilic and Carmichael, 5-7, 7-6, 6-3.

Belvedere's Machette Triumphs In Tacoma

TACOMA, Wash. (UPI) — Mike Machette of Belvedere, seeded eighth in the 82nd annual Pacific Northwest Tennis Championships, Thursday defeated Paul Sidone of Pebble Beach in a men's singles match, 6-4, 6-4.

All other seeded players won except for No. 5, Steve Dooherty of Australia, who was ousted by David Bryant of Amarillo, Tex., 7-6, 4-6, 6-4.

Twins' Decker Halts Red Sox

BOSTON (UPI) — Petaluma's Joe Decker pitched a five-hitter last night to lead the Minnesota Twins to a 6-2 American League win over the Red Sox.

With the victory, Decker raised his 1973 record to 4-5. He allowed just one earned run, a homer to right in the first inning by Reggie Smith.

After Boston took a 2-1 lead on George Mitterwald's throwing error, Decker went through the middle five innings without yielding a hit.

Upcoming Hunting Seasons Reviewed

California's early archery deer hunting season, which opened July 7 in the coastal area, will close Sunday. The bag limit is two bucks, forked horn or better.

About 26,000 archers hunted deer in California last year. Together they bagged 343 bucks. The top early season producer was Mendocino County where 33 bucks were reported taken by bow and arrow.

If you are planning to be on hand for the opening of the waterfowl hunting season at the Tule Lake or Lower Klamath National Wildlife Refuge you must call for your entry permit early, the U.S. Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife recently announced.

IF YOU ARE 16 or older, hunting or not, you will need an entry permit for either of the first two weekends.

One thousand permits for each area will be issued in advance for Tule Lake and Lower Klamath-White Lake.

The two-day entry permit will authorize you to hunt both Saturday and Sunday, but you may receive a permit for only one of the first two weekends. You will not be required to have a permit for other days during the season.

Beginning at 6 p.m. on Aug. 1, entry permits will be available on a first-call, first-served basis by telephoning the fishery office in Sacramento.

YOU MUST PROVIDE the telephone contact with your name, address and 1973 hunting license number. You can arrange for up to four permits with a single telephone call by giving the name, address and license number for each member in the party. You must pay for the telephone call but the permits are free.

You will have your choice of a permit for hunting on the Tule Lake Marsh, Tule Lake field or Lower Klamath hunting unit. You will not need a permit for hunting on Sheepy Ridge or the Sheepy West area.

Remember also that camping sites will not be available on the refuge this year. You should make arrangements to camp at one of the private campgrounds in or around Tulelake.

The California Fish and Game Commission recently announced the tentative selection of a split 46-day statewide dove hunting season and separate 30-day straight band-tailed pigeon seasons for the northern and southern areas for 1973-74.

Season and limits would be substantially the same as those for last year, with a dove limit of 10 per day, 20 in possession after opening day, and a band-tail limit of eight per day, eight in possession.

The dove season would open statewide Saturday, Sept. 1 — the earliest date allowed by treaties and the migratory bird framework — and continue through Sunday, Sept. 30. The season would reopen statewide Saturday, Nov. 24 and run through Sunday, Dec. 9.

White-winged doves would be allowed in the bag only in Imperial, Riverside and San Bernardino counties. The bag and possession limit would apply to the aggregate of species where white-wings are allowed.

The band-tailed pigeon season would be Saturday, Sept. 29, through Sunday, Oct. 28, in the counties of Butte, Del Norte, Glenn, Humboldt, Lassen, Mendocino, Modoc, Plumas, Shasta, Sierra, Siskiyou, Tehama and Trinity; and Saturday, Dec. 15, through Sunday, Jan. 13, 1974, in the balance of the state.

Shooting hours for both doves and pigeons would be one-half hour before sunrise to sunset.

APPLICATION CARDS for the 1973 antelope hunt in Modoc, Lassen, Shasta and Siskiyou counties Aug. 25 - Sept. 3 may be obtained from license agents and Department of Fish and Game offices throughout the state. The deadline for submitting applications to the Department of Fish and Game license office, 1416 Ninth Street, Sacramento, is 5 p.m. July 31.

A public drawing for the 385 permits for buck antelope will be held Aug. 2 in the Fish and Game office on the 12th floor of the Resources Building in Sacramento.

Persons wishing to apply for the hunt are urged to carefully read the information sheet, which is also available at Fish and Game offices and from license agents, before completing applications.

Paradise Pharmacy Wins In Drake Cage

Paradise Pharmacy, led by Dave Lee's 23 points, romped to an 83-50 victory over Henry Hicks Realtor last night in a Drake Summer League adult division basketball game at the San Anselmo high school.

In other games, Fruit City Produce deflated Cain's Tires, 69-61, and Buresh, Vallarino, Costamagna and Claxon chewed up Perry's Poorboys, 59-53.

Popular Fishing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Fishing license sales increased to a record 26 million in 1972, says the Interior Department's Fish and Wildlife Service. Fishermen paid more than $107 million for licenses, an increase of $7 million over 1971.

Equal Pay In Tennis For 'Open'

NEW YORK (UPI) — Women's tennis, which lost one round to Bobby Riggs, has won an even more important battle in its quest for equality.

The winner of the women's round in the U.S. Open championships at Forest Hills will receive a payoff of $25,000, the same sum the men's champion will earn. This will mark the first time in a major tournament that men and women will be rewarded financially on the same basis.

The parity of payoffs was made possible by a $55,000 grant from the Ban Line division of Bristol Myers.

Billie Jean King, who earned $10,000 as the U.S. Open champion last year while the men's titlist, Ilie Nastase, earned $25,000, is credited with spearheading the campaign for equal money. Billie Jean even talked of a boycott of the recent Wimbledon championship if the women's purse wasn't increased, and it's just as well she didn't go through with it since she captured three titles.

"I'm very happy about it all," said Chris Evert, when informed of the development by telephone from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., by Bill Talbert, the U.S. Open director and chairman. "We all have to thank Billie Jean."

Auto Racing

ATLANTA — Richard Petty of Randleman, N.C., broke the Atlanta Internationai Raceway record Thursday to win the pole position in Sunday's Dixie 500 but Buddy Baker stole part of the show by not even showing up.

Petty, driving the only Dodge to qualify among the first 12 spots, won the first spot by averaging 167.163 miles per hour for two trips around the 1# mile track.

Baker, of Charlotte, N.C., has been in a running fight with NASCAR officials on carburetor restrictions placed on his Dodge and was not seen at trackside.

Yachting

Eagle, skippered by Larry Shorett and flying the colors of the Corinthian Yacht Club of Seattle, Wash., ran aground near the Hilton Hawaiian Village Hotel pier after finishing the 2,225-mile voyage from Los Angeles to Diamond Head.

The vessel apparently tore a hole in her bottom and when she was pulled free, she turned over and sank with part of her hull sticking out of the water.

Upcoming Hunting Seasons Reviewed

California's early archery deer hunting season, which opened July 7 in the coastal area, will close Sunday. The bag limit is two bucks, forked horn or better.

About 26,000 archers hunted deer in California last year. Together they bagged 343 bucks. The top early season producer was Mendocino County where 33 bucks were reported taken by bow and arrow.

If you are planning to be on hand for the opening of the waterfowl hunting season at the Tule Lake or Lower Klamath National Wildlife Refuge you must call for your entry permit early, the U.S. Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife recently announced.

IF YOU ARE 16 or older, hunting or not, you will need an entry permit for either of the first two weekends.

One thousand permits for each area will be issued in advance for Tule Lake and Lower Klamath-White Lake.

The two-day entry permit will authorize you to hunt both Saturday and Sunday, but you may receive a permit for only one of the first two weekends. You will not be required to have a permit for other days during the season.

Beginning at 6 p.m. on Aug. 1, entry permits will be available on a first-call, first-served basis by telephoning the fishery office in Sacramento.

YOU MUST PROVIDE the telephone contact with your name, address and 1973 hunting license number. You can arrange for up to four permits with a single telephone call by giving the name, address and license number for each member in the party. You must pay for the telephone call but the permits are free.

You will have your choice of a permit for hunting on the Tule Lake Marsh, Tule Lake field or Lower Klamath hunting unit. You will not need a permit for hunting on Sheepy Ridge or the Sheepy West area.

Remember also that camping sites will not be available on the refuge this year. You should make arrangements to camp at one of the private campgrounds in or around Tulelake.

The California Fish and Game Commission recently announced the tentative selection of a split 46-day statewide dove hunting season and separate 30-day straight band-tailed pigeon seasons for the northern and southern areas for 1973-74.

Season and limits would be substantially the same as those for last year, with a dove limit of 10 per day, 20 in possession after opening day, and a band-tail limit of eight per day, eight in possession.

The dove season would open statewide Saturday, Sept. 1 — the earliest date allowed by treaties and the migratory bird framework — and continue through Sunday, Sept. 30. The season would reopen statewide Saturday, Nov. 24 and run through Sunday, Dec. 9.

White-winged doves would be allowed in the bag only in Imperial, Riverside and San Bernardino counties. The bag and possession limit would apply to the aggregate of species where white-wings are allowed.

The band-tailed pigeon season would be Saturday, Sept. 29, through Sunday, Oct. 28, in the counties of Butte, Del Norte, Glenn, Humboldt, Lassen, Mendocino, Modoc, Plumas, Shasta, Sierra, Siskiyou, Tehama and Trinity; and Saturday, Dec. 15, through Sunday, Jan. 13, 1974, in the balance of the state.

Shooting hours for both doves and pigeons would be one-half hour before sunrise to sunset.

APPLICATION CARDS for the 1973 antelope hunt in Modoc, Lassen, Shasta and Siskiyou counties Aug. 25 - Sept. 3 may be obtained from license agents and Department of Fish and Game offices throughout the state. The deadline for submitting applications to the Department of Fish and Game license office, 1416 Ninth Street, Sacramento, is 5 p.m. July 31.

A public drawing for the 385 permits for buck antelope will be held Aug. 2 in the Fish and Game office on the 12th floor of the Resources Building in Sacramento.

Persons wishing to apply for the hunt are urged to carefully read the information sheet, which is also available at Fish and Game offices and from license agents, before completing applications.

Paradise Pharmacy Wins In Drake Cage

Paradise Pharmacy, led by Dave Lee's 23 points, romped to an 83-50 victory over Henry Hicks Realtor last night in a Drake Summer League adult division basketball game at the San Anselmo high school.

In other games, Fruit City Produce deflated Cain's Tires, 69-61, and Buresh, Vallarino, Costamagna and Claxon chewed up Perry's Poorboys, 59-53.

Popular Fishing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Fishing license sales increased to a record 26 million in 1972, says the Interior Department's Fish and Wildlife Service. Fishermen paid more than $107 million for licenses, an increase of $7 million over 1971.

Equal Pay In Tennis For 'Open'

NEW YORK (UPI) — Women's tennis, which lost one round to Bobby Riggs, has won an even more important battle in its quest for equality.

The winner of the women's round in the U.S. Open championships at Forest Hills will receive a payoff of $25,000, the same sum the men's champion will earn. This will mark the first time in a major tournament that men and women will be rewarded financially on the same basis.

The parity of payoffs was made possible by a $55,000 grant from the Ban Line division of Bristol Myers.

Billie Jean King, who earned $10,000 as the U.S. Open champion last year while the men's titlist, Ilie Nastase, earned $25,000, is credited with spearheading the campaign for equal money. Billie Jean even talked of a boycott of the recent Wimbledon championship if the women's purse wasn't increased, and it's just as well she didn't go through with it since she captured three titles.

"I'm very happy about it all," said Chris Evert, when informed of the development by telephone from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., by Bill Talbert, the U.S. Open director and chairman. "We all have to thank Billie Jean."

STOCKHOLM — Kel Nagle carded a five-under-par 67 and took the first-round lead in the $60,000 Scandinavian Open Golf Championship.

HOUSTON — Mike Killian fashioned a four-under-par 67 and grabbed the second round lead in the 67th Southern Amateur Golf Championship.

GALVESTON, Tex. — Galveston Ball High School football coach Joe Woolley, explaining he has been "barbecued enough," has announced he will hold a news conference this afternoon to give his side of a controversial transcript incident involving two players.

At the same time, school superintendent Eli Douglas called a school board meeting for 2:30 p.m. (PDT) this afternoon to announce what action he will take.

Football

Auto Racing

ATLANTA — Richard Petty of Randleman, N.C., broke the Atlanta Internationai Raceway record Thursday to win the pole position in Sunday's Dixie 500 but Buddy Baker stole part of the show by not even showing up.

Petty, driving the only Dodge to qualify among the first 12 spots, won the first spot by averaging 167.163 miles per hour for two trips around the 1# mile track.

Baker, of Charlotte, N.C., has been in a running fight with NASCAR officials on carburetor restrictions placed on his Dodge and was not seen at trackside.

Yachting

Eagle, skippered by Larry Shorett and flying the colors of the Corinthian Yacht Club of Seattle, Wash., ran aground near the Hilton Hawaiian Village Hotel pier after finishing the 2,225-mile voyage from Los Angeles to Diamond Head.

The vessel apparently tore a hole in her bottom and when she was pulled free, she turned over and sank with part of her hull sticking out of the water.

Minimum Wage Hike Passes Senate, House

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House and Senate have agreed in separate bills to raise the $1.60 an hour minimum wage to $2.20, but Senate GOP leader Hugh Scott says he is afraid President Nixon will veto the measure.

"In the present Senate form I would be fearful he would veto it," Scott said yesterday. He added, "I would not expect or urge him to do so."

The measure will go to the President after the House and Senate iron out a few minor differences in their versions.

The Senate passed its measure yesterday on a 64-33 vote. The House approved its version June 6 on a 287-130 vote without repealing certain overtime pay exemptions now in the law, creating the main differences in the two bills.

Both measures would raise the minimum for non-farm workers to $2.00 two months after enactment and $2.20 a year later, while the $1.30 farm minimum would go to $2.20 over three years, marking the first time the agriculture minimum would equal the nonfarm minimum wage.

Both would also expand coverage of the law to federal, state and local government workers and to domestic household workers, a provision the White House has opposed.

The main administration objection, however, is expected to be the lack of a youth wage differential which was included in a GOP substitute defeated in both the Senate and House.

The Republicans proposed permitting employers to pay youths under 18 either $1.60 an hour or 85 per cent of the minimum wage, whichever is higher, for the first six months of work.

Sen. James Buckley, R-N.Y., whose youth differential amendment was rejected yesterday by a voice vote, said that unless a sub-minimum wage is permitted, employers will not hire young persons and will replace those they presently employ with older workers.

Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J., manager of the Senate measure, said the bill retains present provisions in law to allow paying the subminimum to teen-agers who have been unemployed and part time students under 20 if the employer first certifies to the government that the youth is not displacing an adult in the job.

Sanity Hearing In Arson Case

A sanity report on Stephen Eugene Arnold, accused of setting fire to a San Rafael house, will be before Judge Gary W. Thomas when Arnold appears in Marin Municipal Court Aug. 2.

Thomas ordered the report last week and promised to set a date for a preliminary hearing when Arnold appears.

Peron Ailing As Takeover Time Nears

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — A cabinet minister said yesterday that former President Juan D. Peron is ill, a statement that could shake Argentine politics because he was expected to assume power again after forthcoming new elections.

President Hector J. Campora resigned last Friday, paving the way for Peron to take power once again 18 years after he was ousted by a military coup and sent into an exile that ended only last month.

Peron chose Campora to run for the presidency earlier this year. Campora, who won by a landslide, said if elected he would give Peron real power.

Despite earlier reports that Peron, 77, was "in perfect health," Social Welfare Minister Jose Lopez Rega said last night that Peron had not made a public appearance recently because his doctors opposed it.

Peron has not left his suburban home in the last 24 days. A heart specialist has visited him daily. But there was no official confirmation that he was ill.

"If God gives me health and permits me, I will spend the last energies of my life to complete the mission that falls to me," Peron said in a speech from his nome after Campora's resignation.

Previously, the only public acknowledgement of Peron being ill was what was described as a bout of "flu virus" June 25, five days after he arrived back in Argentina.

"Everything is going fine," Lastiri said after the meeting. Lopez Rega said the meeting was on "important themes," especially economic matters.

The cabinet was expected to meet today to set a date for the new election and government sources said they expect ministers to make it Sept. 2.

The cabinet also will discuss constitutional questions, such as the electoral methods and the length of term for the new president. Military officers who ruled Argentina before Campora shortened the presidential term from six years, as outlined in the constitution, to four years.

In another development, police said four men in a car opened fired early today on another car carrying Congressman Armando Croatto, a pro Peron politician. He escaped unhurt.

Wage Talks

The Mill Valley City Council will hold a closed meeting tonight to discuss with its negotiators the ongoing wage discussions with city employees, according to City Mgr. William H. Cunningham. The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. at city hall.
